A Good Show at the Rijou.

The bioscope war pictures satisfy a craving in the hungry heart. Flatow and Dunn, white cake walkers, are not bad; in fact, the male member does some clever tumbling. T. J. Farron has a very attractive Irish individuality, "The Rowleys," Emma and Fred, give some clicky banjo music. Fred sings, but he knows he can't, so he just hums along and doesn't pretend to do much, and is well received. Belle Emerson has much the pose of Patti, only her voice is not as good, especially in the upper registers, where Music's Charms at Guild Hall.

The Paul Hahn cello recital, under the patronage of Sir Oliver Mowat, was given before a fashionable audience at the Guild Hall last evening. The well-known cellist played "Reverle," Dunkler, with his usual dignified simplicity, and brought out the dreamy rhythm of the piece to the entire satisfaction of the house. The dainty fingers of Miss Keating, a slender, graceful woman, 'swept from the harp "Mazurka," Hasselmans. It was one of the hits of the evening. Signor Delasco was in capital form and received his usual reception in singing "Honor and Arms," Handel. Any reference to the good things of the evening would be incomplete without mention of the very pleasurable work of Mrs. Saunders, Miss Birnle and Mr. Drummond. Music's Charms at Guild Hall.

The Bicycle Club's Concert. The concert given last night by the Berkeley Epworth Bleycle Club in the ecture room of the Berkeley-street Church The program was well arranged and thoroughly enjoyed by those in attendance. Miss Edith Bonner, who is the possessor of a sweet soprano voice, received well-carned applause for the way in which she rendered her songs. Others who contributed were: Miss Westman, Mr. Bruce Bradley, Fred Whatmough, A. L. E. Davies, F. Skill, Miss Florence Brown, each in turn being liberally encored.

Success Follows Success

The fixed purpose of this store is to assemble under one roof trustworthy goods from the actual producers in all parts of the world and distribute them to your advantage. The larger the business the smaller the average profit. The more we grow the cheaper we can afford to sell. Faithful adherence to this principle is enlarging our constituency every day, while the trade increase continues constant and steady.

The best evidence of your appreciation is the new addition on Richmond-Street. It wouldn't be ours if you nadn't wished it. Shoppers have it largely in their power to make or unmake stores, and in proportion as we succeed we measure your goodwill. The Simpson name for years has been largely popular. We intend that the Simpson store shall deserve all the good you think of it.

That means we're reaching towards perfection in business methods-not expecting to reach the goal by chance, but by doing things in the proper way at the proper time. Success follows success every time. Watch us grow!

A wrangle in the Annette-street Methodist Church Choir has culminated in the resignation of Mr. Hoover as leader and the summan as organist. The whole trouble arose out of two ladies wanting the one seat, but it spread further than the ladies themselves, until two sides were formed, the weaker of which has gone down before the stronger. At a meeting of the Musical Committee, Mr. Hook of Toronto has been appointed leader, at a salary of $100, but he is not required to attend the services on Sunday. Mr. S. J. The Fatal Trelley.

Violet Medley, a pretty little girl of 19 months, who this morning was playful in her childish innocence, to-night lies dead, the victim of the fatal trolley. She and her sister were playing near the car tracks on the corner of May and Dundas-streets this morning, when the Lambton open car, known as No. 10, ran the child down. The steps evidently struck her head, and she was dragged a considerable distance. Deep flesh wounds, large bruises, a broken leg and a fractured skull constituted her injuries, and with them it is surprising she lived, as she did, for an hour after the accident.
