A great deal has yet to be done to render many of the public halls in the city reasonably safe. The long, is teep, narrow, funnel stairs that lead to several largely used and much frequented halls would be frightful death-traps in case of fire or panic. Every thoughtful person shudders as he ascends these deflies at the vision of such a contingency.

In one of these halls there is or was recently a door near the platform tabeled "emergency exit." It was locked and no one had a key. What use is such a provision? Toronto Club v. Imperial Bank—J. W.
Bain, K.C., for defendants, on motion for a better affidavit on production by plaintiff. W. E. Middleton, K.C., for plaintiffs, contra. Judgment (B.). The plaintiffs seem to have been perfectly willing to give all proper discovery in the action. It does not appear at present that there is any ground for a further affidavit, When the examination has been concluded the motion can be renewed if defendants so desire. If not renewed the costs of this motion will be in the cause.

Gillies v. Smith—C. A. Moss, for Alice A. Smith, applicant, on a motion to set aside a foreclosure. G. S. Hodgson, for plaintiff, contra. Judgment (B.). Alice A. Smith was made a party in the M.O. on a foreclosure, and consented to be foreclosed. This was under the idea that the defendant would not redeem and by arrangement with the plaintiff the applicant would have become owner. This mortgage was on three separate parcels, and on one of them with other land the applicant holds a second mortgage under a deed absolute in form, which is now being dealt with by the master at St. Catharines. The first mortgage was redeemed by the father of the defendant and the mortgage was accordingly directed to be assigned to him by defendants, but owing to applicant's clalm, this has not yet been done. The applicant was (and perhaps is) the wife of the defendant, tho they do not appear to be in friendly relations at present.

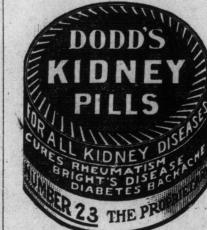

The applicant asks to set aside the foreclosure to be left in to redeem and
