

LIFE MEMBERSHIP FOR V.C. HEROES

Central Branch G. W. V. A.
Honors Winners of the Coveted Distinction.

Eleven life memberships in the Central branch, G.W.V.A., and six life memberships in the ladies' auxiliary, were presented at the club rooms on Tuesday afternoon to visiting Victoria Cross men and their next of kin. The presentation was the culminating feature of a reception which the branch tendered the visitors and which was characterized by the informality and comradely spirit which prevailed.

Vice-President Rawlinson, in declaring the wish of the branch to be thus honored, paid high tribute to the V. C. as the most coveted decoration in the world, one which even "no king has ever worn."

"We accept willingly and feel highly honored," declared Captain Bellows, V.C., of the Yukon, who, as a V.C. present, spoke on behalf of the visitors. He referred in a few words to the tremendous success of Veterans' Day at the exhibition, and the fact that he and his comrades were experiencing during their visit.

John G. Kent, who, with a Victoria Cross man and his wife, to whom he is acting as host, was present, was asked to speak and declared that he felt himself to be voicing for the sentiments of the exhibition directors when he suggested that Veterans' Day should be an annual event. It would, as an annual gathering, be of incalculable value, he believed, in enabling service men to renew old associations and in enabling the various veteran bodies to meet and mingle together.

The exhibition, he promised, would learn diligently from experience and become a better host with each succeeding year.

Adequate Compensation. Provincial Secretary Turley, in a brief greeting, expressed the appreciation which the organization felt at their visitors' finding the opportunity of attending their function, in spite of the many which had been tendered them.

"We are able to offer you only," he declared, "the homage of people who stood on the fringe of the deeds by which you won your honors." He continued by pointing out that the G.W.V.A. had as its own platform that the government should make adequate compensation to those who had sacrificed and suffered in the great war.

And while this remains our platform," he declared, "we deserve the support of every citizen."

The recipients of the life memberships were: Mrs. Janet Robertson, Mrs. Patterson, Mrs. J. K. Saylor, Mrs. James Cork, Mrs. Jean Combe, Mrs. J. Miner, A. M. Robertson, brother of Comrade J. P. Robertson, V.C.; G. H. Minin, V.C.; Hanna, V.C.; John Miner, father of Comrade J. G. Miner, V.C.; J. Croak, father of Comrade J. P. Croak, V.C.; N. F. Greig, V.C.; R. Shambler, V.C.; D.C.M.; N. Cairns, brother of Comrade H. Cairns, V.C.; C. J. Kinross, V.C.; J. Stinson, father of Comrade C. W. Stinson, V.C.; David Richardson, father of Comrade James Richardson, V.C.

JEWISH ORPHANS
Toronto Hebrews Consider Bringing Friendless Children to Canada—Committee Selected.

That the Jews of Toronto are anxious to do anything in their power in order to alleviate the sufferings of their co-religionists in the European countries, was evident yesterday, when, under the auspices of the Canadian Jewish Congress, a meeting of representatives of the local Jewish relief organizations was held at the Zionist Institute, under the chairmanship of Maurice Goldstein, in order to consider the advisability of bringing over several thousand orphans into Canada.

All present were very enthusiastic over this undertaking in rescuing from the clutches of Bolshevism in Europe a number of the orphans and bringing them to Canada, where they will be adopted in Jewish homes and have the privilege of being brought up in a purely Canadian Jewish atmosphere.

A committee of five, consisting of Mr. S. Eisen, Joseph Boehneck and Mrs. R. H. Kammerer, was appointed to do the temporary organization work. It was decided to hold a mass meeting of prominent local Jews on Sunday evening, Sept. 5, at 399 Spadina avenue, when Prof. Chelitzky of Ukraine and Mrs. A. J. Freeman of Ottawa will be the speakers of the evening.

MANY ATTEND FUNERAL OF LATE DANIEL LAMB

Many representative citizens gathered at No. 158 Winchester street Saturday afternoon to pay tribute to the late Daniel Lamb. Many floral offerings came from friends, including a wreath from the mayor and corporation of Toronto, from the Unitarian Church, from Sir Edward Kemp, and from the four little grandchildren, Margaret, Dora, Jim and Danany, were two beautiful wreaths.

Rev. James Hodgins of the Unitarian Church conducted the services, and the pallbearers, all close friends of Mr. Lamb, were: Mr. J. W. Crawford, Wm. Crocker, Jas. Haywood, Joseph L. O'Malley, Alex. Wheeler and W. A. Strowger. Interment took place at Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

Rev. James Hodgins of the Unitarian Church conducted the services, and the pallbearers, all close friends of Mr. Lamb, were: Mr. J. W. Crawford, Wm. Crocker, Jas. Haywood, Joseph L. O'Malley, Alex. Wheeler and W. A. Strowger. Interment took place at Mount Pleasant Cemetery.
