Ben Johnson Sued.

Ben Johnson, president of the American League, is being sued for $20,000 damages for remarks he is alleged to have made against John M. Ward, the old-time pitcher and now New York Yankee, when the latter ran for the presidency of the National League against John Heydler last year.

At the time it was stated in some of the papers that Ben Johnson renounced upon hearing of Ward's candidacy that he would not serve on the same commission with him, meaning the National Baseball Commission, which is composed of the presidents of the National and American Leagues and one other.

Johnson was served with papers by Lawyer Simpson, counsel for Ward, as soon as he arrived in town.

Johnson engaged any lawyer, but when asked regarding the charges said he wasn't responsible for many of the remarks attributed to him.

RESIGNS AS PRESIDENT OF WELLESLEY COLLEGE

Miss Caroline Hazard Gives up the Position After 11 Years of Faithful Service

Wellesley, July 21.—At a recent meeting of the trustees of Wellesley college the resignation of Miss Caroline Hazard, who for the past eleven years has been the president of the college, and who is one of the most widely-known women educators of this country, was received and read.

In a letter of resignation President Hazard said: "No office can offer a woman greater opportunities. While at times they are overwhelming, yet their inspiration is such that ordinary measurement is impossible. It is because I appreciate the greatness of the office that I am forced to lay it down."

The administration of Miss Hazard at Wellesley college has been the longest in the history of the famed institution of learning. Under her it has grown from a small school of students in equipment and especially in prestige. As the trustees, like the student and graduate body, believe Miss Hazard has been largely responsible for this splendid growth it was with regret that the board accepted her resignation.

Ill-Health Primary Cause.

Miss Hazard is at present at Sugar Hill, N. H., in the White Mountains. Her health for some time past has been impaired, a fact which caused her to be greatly hampered in her work at the college. She was given a year's leave of absence and returned in improved health, but not so robust as her friends had hoped. Her poor health has been largely responsible for the step which she has taken.

The trustees of Wellesley college have named a sub-committee to prepare resolutions to suitably express their deep regret at the decision of Miss Hazard to sever her connection with the institution and those resolutions will be acted upon at a later meeting of the board.

A number of the trustees are abroad at present, it is more than probable that no step to secure a successor to Miss Hazard will be taken for some time to come.

Famous Educator.

Miss Hazard was born in Peace Dale, R. I., on June 10, 1836, the daughter of Thomas and Margaret (Rood) Hazard. She was educated by a governess and tutors and at Miss Mary A. Shaw's school in Michigan; in the same year with L. D. Brown from Brown university, and in 1855 with L. D. from Tufts college.

She is a member of many widely known organizations, such as the Rhode Island Historical Society, American Academy of Political and Social Science, American Historical Association, American Political Science Association, American Social Science Association, Archaeological Institute of America, New England Historic Genealogical Society, Religious Education Association, Colonial Dames of Rhode Island, and was a former member of the state board of education.

She has written several books, some of which are very well known, and she has for years contributed reviews, essays and poems to standard magazines. She has also edited several works, among them "Some Ideals in the Education of Women."

The Canadian Woman

(From the London Times.)

Boating, swimming and camping in summer; skating, skiing and snow-shovelling in winter touch the cheek of the Canadian girl with a glow like the sunset. She is frank and simple, high-spirited and a good comrade, yet sufficiently a woman to possess the charm of mystery and unexpectedness. In all likelihood she may be the grand-grandchild of some strong hearted English or Highland woman who came to Canada for generations ago and carried with her own hands the wool to make her sons' homespun clothes. If the girl is a University graduate or rich enough to drive her own motor, or a happy wife in a beautiful Canadian home, she is no less a Canadian woman. She shows very well that she owes much of all that to the pioneer women, the women who left the home of her heart and came across the sea to Canada. And she is a Canadian woman, for she is a Canadian woman, for she is a Canadian woman.

AN INTERESTING PROHIBITION CASE AT CHARLOTTETOWN

The Steward of the Charlottetown Club Charged With the Illegal Sale of Liquor to Members—Argument of Counsel

Charlottetown, P. E. I., July 20.—Much interest is manifested in this province in prohibition case against the steward of the Charlottetown Club, which has been tried before the stipendiary magistrate. The argument has been finished and the judgment is now being anxiously waited.

Mr. McLeod, K.C., one of the counsel for the defendants, contended that before a sale could be proved, it would have to be shown that the club was organized or existed for the purpose of evading the prohibition act. The authorities in England and Canada, he claimed, have held that the distribution of liquor or other property to the members of a bona fide club through its steward, does not mean a sale, the club members being already joint owners of the property. He cited cases tried during the past 40 years and as recently as 1909, in support of his contention, showing that where such a distribution or delivery of liquor to the members of a club had been held to amount to a sale, it had been first decided that the club was a sham, organized to evade the law.

It had been brought out in the evidence that the club room was expensively and handsomely fitted up, comparing more favorably with other clubs east of Toronto. There were therefore, he said, no signs of being a bona fide club. He pointed out that three years ago an amendment to the constitution of the club was passed, which made it a condition that no member should be admitted who was not a resident of the province. The amendment was passed, he said, in order to make it a condition that no member should be admitted who was not a resident of the province. The amendment was passed, he said, in order to make it a condition that no member should be admitted who was not a resident of the province.

SOCIETY GIRLS IN SWIMMING RACE

Boston and New York Young Ladies Will Have a Water Contest at Newport

Boston, July 21.—Miss Eleanor Sears of Boston is to swim a championship race with Miss Constance Warren of New York.

The match is to take place at Newport, where it was recently arranged by the mutual friends of these two leading society exponents of the country, for the first act. The contest is not to be of the kind of old rivalry. Miss Sears is known from one end of the country to the other as a sportswoman of the most thoroughbred type.

She plays golf, tennis and polo as well as swimming. There is no form of outdoor sport that women have ever entered in which Miss Sears does not excel. Moreover, she utterly ignores the frivolities and seduction of fashion, choosing always to live the simple life of a sportswoman.

Miss Sears is a Boston girl. She has thousands of friends in all the centres of fashion throughout the country, for she comes of a very distinguished old New England family, which has always possessed plenty of money, good health and the rule, and a wholesome standard of living.

On the other hand Miss Constance Warren belongs to an old New York family. She is of the Knickerbocker type, and her performance as an athlete has been, with Miss Sears, regarded as a considerable discussion in Newport by the ladies of the city.

There is no form of outdoor sport that women have ever entered in which Miss Sears does not excel. Moreover, she utterly ignores the frivolities and seduction of fashion, choosing always to live the simple life of a sportswoman.

AFRAID OF GHOSTS

Many people are afraid of ghosts. Few people are more so than the Germans. The germ is a fact. If the germ could be magnified to a size equal to its terror it would appear more terrible than any fire-breathing dragon. Germs can't be avoided. They are in the air we breathe, the water we drink, the food we eat, the clothes we wear, the furniture we sit on, the walls we live in, the ground we walk on, the sky we fly in, the sea we swim in,
