THE SAN JOSE SCALE.

The action of the dominion parliament in interdicting the importation of young fruit trees from the United States and other countries where the San Jose scale is known to exist, has not been taken a moment too soon. Already the pest has found a foothold in the Niagara district and the southwestern district of Ontario, and at the last session of the legislature of that province an act to prevent the spread of the scale was placed upon the statute book.

Investigation has proved that the scale came originally from California, where, as far back as 1873 it was noticed in the San Jose Valley. It is believed to have been introduced into the east in 1887 by two New Jersey nurseries, which imported a variety of Japanese plum from the San Jose Valley, and since then its progress over the United States has been rapid. Ontario fruit growers hoped that it would not survive the cold winters of that province, but their hope was in vain. The insect possesses marvelous powers of reproduction. According to a special bulletin issued this month by the Ontario department of agriculture, a single female that has wintered over may be the progenitor of millions in a single season, and there may be four generations in a season.

The scale is readily introduced by nursery stock and fruit from infested trees. In the work of distribution the insect itself can do but little, as it is quite helpless to move from place to place, but it may get upon birds and such insects as ants and small beetles, and by them be carried to other trees. Indeed, it has been noticed that in infested districts the scale is more common near birds' nests.

The life history of the insect is interesting and is thus described in the bulletin above referred to:

The newly hatched insect passes the winter beneath a wax-like scale. About June the young begin to appear, as exceedingly minute, six-legged, yellowish insects, moving about. They creep about only for a few hours, at most a day or two, then settle into a position from which they do not move. They are then called "nymphs," and become attached to the spot from which the females never move. During their stay they beat the limbs of the peach, apple and other fruit trees with their feelers and legs, and have neither eyes nor wings. The males, however, have legs, feelers, eyes and wings in the adult condition. The scale of the female is circular, with a small nipple in the centre. This scale is from a twelfth to a sixteenth of an inch in diameter, and may be of a light or dark gray color, and usually is much the same color as the bark of the tree to which it is attached. The scale of the male is oval, with a small nipple near one end, and is thus easily distinguished from that of the female. The female brings forth living young, and does not lay eggs, as is usually the case with insects. She may bring into life from 100 to 200 young during the six weeks of her existence after reaching the tree to which she is attached.

The scale of these insects is formed from a waxy secretion which commences soon after they come into existence, and forms a protective covering as development proceeds. In the early stages of growth the scale presents a somewhat grayish-yellow color, and gradually becomes darker. The general appearance upon affected twigs is that of a grayish, slightly roughened spot. That it is the scale of the insect is easily ascertained by the fact that it will appear on the crushed soft yellow insects beneath the scale. During the summer, many young orange-colored larvae, snow-white young scales, mingled with old brown or blackened matured scales. This insect produces a peculiar reddening effect upon the skin of the fruit and of tender twigs. An annoying band of the scale is also seen around the margin of each fruit, discoloration very marked on the fruit of pears. The autumn layer of scale is usually deep red or purple. Where the scales are few the surface of the fruit is not so discolored.

The scale can be killed on nursery stock by treatment with hydrocyanic acid gas, but that is only possible in nurseries. Where trees in an orchard are badly infested the only safe course is to root them up and burn them. Even when the trees are only slightly infested the work of washing and spraying must be done with the utmost thoroughness, the insect multiplying so rapidly that all the labor expended is useless if but a single scale remains. The washing must be done with whale oil soap, two pounds to one gallon of water, and the spraying with pure kerosene, using great care to only moisten the bark. While every twig and branch must be washed, the oil should not be used so freely as to run down the stem and collect about the base of the trunk, as that is sure to damage the tree.

The farmers and orchardists of the maritime provinces would do wisely in refusing to buy nursery stock grown in the United States or in those parts of Ontario where the scale has already effected a settlement.

According to the Brantford, Ontario, Courier, the revised version among the grit hangers on is, "Has Tartie made you rich?"

HE IS EXCITED.

The Hon. David Mills, minister of justice, has been making some remarkable statements. He contends that the rejection of the Yukon bill by the senate would be a usurpation of executive authority, and an act hostile to the empire as well as to the Canadian government. He says the defeat of the measure will affect the trade of the country for the current year by at least $20,000,000, and will be an act unsurpassed in point of wickedness in the history of this continent. Such terms as "indecent," "scandalous," "disloyalty," and "folly" are used with great freedom in an interview given by Mr. Mills to the press.

All this is mere rubbish. The minister of justice knows very well that the power to discuss and endorse a measure in the senate involves also the power to reject the measure. To say that this Yukon contract is one "eminently connected with the exercise of executive authority," and that therefore its rejection by the senate would be a usurpation of authority is too absurd for discussion. The government, after waiting for months without doing anything, hastily concluded a contract with Mackenzie and Mann, just before parliament met. Theirs was the real usurpation. As to the loss of $20,000,000 of trade this year, the minister of justice is talking nonsense. The rejection of the Mackenzie-Mann contract will not stop the development of the Yukon. His implied threat that it must be this contract or none is unworthy of Mr. Mills, though perhaps not unsuited to the calibre of some of his associates in the ministry.

THE BOODLE BRIGADE.

The scalp hunters of the grit party are once more aggressive and threatening. Mr. Bruneau's triumph has given them great heart of hope. He wanted the spoils of war, and he got them. Then there is the object lesson presented by the Yukon deal. Mackenzie and Mann have been offered a kingdom. Mr. Greenshields also has been made happy and prosperous. Hon. Mr. Langille is a living illustration of the power of well directed pressure. And now the hungry horde have given tongue in the constituencies and in the caucus, and the old cry "to the victor belong the spoils" is heard all over the land. The pretence is offered that conservative influences are working injury to the good liberal cause. But the real source of the trouble is an innate yearning for boodle, that has been gaining strength for twenty years, and is now converted into a ravenous appetite by the spectacle of a favored few "whose eyes stick out with fatness."

THE FARMERS PROTESTING.

The farmers of the maritime provinces are not the only tillers of the soil in Canada who have failed to discover that prosperity which was to follow by leaps and bounds the advent of the liberal party to power. Instead of the promised era of economy and retrenchment, extravagance runs riot at Ottawa, and the public debt is climbing rapidly upwards. The farmers in the eastern townships of Quebec, in despair at the prospect before them, are forwarding petitions to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in which after showing that the agricultural industry is far from progressing, they declare:

That instead of, as we fondly hoped would be the case, the debt being reduced, or at least kept at a standstill, under your administration, it has risen from 225 million dollars to 340 millions;
 That, having regard to their own solvency and the future of their children, your petitioners regard it as imperatively necessary that there be no more loans;
 That, if it be used putting an end to borrowing would stop the development of Canada, we would remind you that no interests can be of more importance to the welfare of the dominion than those of its farmers, and that a suspension of subsidies to railways and the extension of public works would be less injurious to the general welfare than the continued decay of the farming industry;
 Therefore, we pray that no further additions be made to the debt of the dominion, and that money needed for extraordinary expenditures be found by reducing the public establishment to a standard in keeping with the means of its laboring classes, of which the farmers form the most important part.

The activity of warlike preparation in the United States indicates the gravity of the present situation, but it has another significance. The United States is not prepared for a war with any powerful nation. The present crisis has brought this fact home to the people with startling force, and the government has seized the opportunity afforded by the rising national enthusiasm to place the country on a better fighting basis. Government contractors will enjoy a profitable season of activity, whatever else happens.

BOSTON LETTER.

The Sportsmen's Fair a Success from Every Point of View.

Recent Deaths of Provincials—The Lunber and Fish Market Reports.

(From our own correspondent.)

BOSTON, March 30.—Everything has given way to the critical Cuban situation, and there is practically nothing else occupying the public mind. The preparations for war, which were begun last month, continue with greater vigor than ever, the country at present being practically on a war footing. Mayor Quincy is in Washington today to see what can be done by way of protecting Boston in case of the outbreak of hostilities. Many of the United States high government officials assert that war with Spain is inevitable, but President McKinley has stated that he will do everything in his power to avert it. Today the chances seemed about as favorable for peace as for a clash with the dons.

Most of the New Brunswick people who were up here to attend the fish and game show have returned well pleased with the display of their province. Surveyor General Dunn was one of the hardest workers in the entire exhibition, and was assisting in his efforts to spread the renown of the province. E. A. Charters of Sussex was also a busy man, most of his time being devoted to the distribution of literature. D. G. Smith, Game Commissioner, B. Knight, Walter Carrell, C. F. Chestnut and F. B. Edgecombe, the latter two of the Fredericton Tourist association, were also busy men. The address of Dr. Stockton on the evening of New Brunswick day was an admirable one. The hall, the largest in the New England states, was too big to enable all the speakers to be heard in all parts, but Dr. Stockton was equal to the occasion, and was warmly applauded. Phillip Sellick, the Irishman hunter, was of great value to the province during the show. He explained its advantages and the methods of capturing big game to the crowds that surrounded his moose yard. Sellick while out of the building one day became lost, and it was some time before he was able to determine where he was at. He thinks it is easier to get lost in a city than in the woods.

The Bram murder trial continues to drag along. The evidence this week is regarded as valuable to the defence. The Portland board of trade has adopted unanimously resolutions regarding the establishment of a reciprocity treaty with Canada. The Philadelphia Manufacturer editorially favors reciprocity. A large number of Nova Scotians are arriving here to join in a city fishing fleet, which is getting ready to start on their spring trip. There is a large string exodus of French-Canadians at Woonsocket, R. I. Most of them are dissatisfied with the large scale of wages paid in the mills, and are going back to Canada to work their farms.

Emma M. Osburn, formerly of St. John, a domestic at Malden, was arraigned in court today charged with stealing dresses belonging to her mistress. It was alleged that she set the house on fire sometime after a physician testified that the girl was not of sound mind, and on her promise that she would return home to St. John she was released. U. S. immigration Commissioner Billings performed a more meretricious a few days ago. A New Brunswick couple arrived here who did not appear to be possessed of any too great quantity of this world's goods, and the commissioner thought he would send the woman back to Canada. The woman claimed that they were married, but the woman finally admitted that the ceremony had not yet taken place. In order to remain here, the woman decided that she would marry her companion, and the commissioner officiated.

The theatres will present several notable attractions during the coming week. Miss Julia Arthur will appear in A Lady of Quality at the Hollis street theatre, the leading fashionable house in the city. The company is Miss Ethel K. Mollison, John Digby Bell will present the Hoosier Doctor, and the Murray-Lane Opera company will begin a long season at the Grand Opera House. J. K. Murray, Miss Clara Lane (Mrs. Murray) and a number of the old Castle Square company were associated with Mr. J. Jaxon and his wife, Miss Deane, during the long reign of opera at the Castle Square theatre.

Treasury Agent Converse J. Smith has begun another campaign against alleged smugglers. He says that he has evidence that large quantities of contraband goods are being smuggled from St. Pierre, Mig., by New England merchants, as well as from the provinces. Special Agent Jones, who is on Canadian soil, is at work on a number of cases.

The New Hampshire state board of agriculture is making arrangements to secure reliable data as to the results of agricultural investments and labor, and the prosperity of the farming population in that state. The officials are required to make returns of the number of pounds of butter, cheese and wool, and gallons of oil, produced; the number of silos in use; tons of ensilage fed, tons of fertilizers used; number of creameries, cash received from summer boarders, and owners of vacant farms.

Rev. W. H. Beckwith died in Needham on Thursday, aged 92 years. He was once pastor of the Baptist church at Fredericton.

George A. Plummer, a prominent Boston cloak merchant, died this week. He was 47 years old and a native of Upper Fredericton. Mrs. F. F. Richards of Fredericton is a sister. Mr. Plummer came to Boston when seventeen years old and worked his way up in the world with remarkable success.

G. K. Livermore, a member of the well known fish importing firm of Caswell, Livermore & Co., died suddenly March 24.

Mrs. Alexander Paul, formerly of the north end, St. John, died here March 22.

The following exports of flour, meal, etc., to the provinces are announced: 100 bbls. flour, to Lunenburg; per brig May; 450 bbls. flour, 245 bags flour, to Halifax, per str. Halifax; 725 bbls. cur. 50 hf bbls. flour, to St. John, per sch. Thomas B. Reed; 450 bbls. curmeal, 50 bags corn, 80 tons fertilizer, to Annapolis, per sch. V. T. H.; 300 bbls. flour, to Yarmouth, per str. Boston.

The lumber market is slightly firmer owing to the small quantity of logs being cut. Several dealers are asking $14 for ten inch spruce frames, but orders are being taken at $13.50 to spruce quoted nominally at $13.50 to $12.50. Hemlock and pine continue quiet. Clapboards are firm, and cedar singles quiet.

The first trade is very quiet at present. Lobsters are easier at 12 cents for live and 14 for boiled. Over 500 crates arrived on the Yarmouth steamer Boston, on her last trip. Sardines are firmer and canned lobsters continue high.

THE D. A. R.'S NEW STEAMERS.

(Yarmouth Times.)
 The Times is informed that the two steamers for the Dominion Atlantic railway company are being built on the Humber. They are the Prince George, which will reach this country about the middle of June, and the Prince Arthur, which will come a fortnight later.

Both steamers are identically alike. They are 390 feet long, 33 feet beam, 15 feet draught and 6,500 H. P. (The Prince Edward is 3,500 H. P.) They have a speed of 21-1/2 knots on the measured mile and are guaranteed 19 knots at sea in any weather. Each engine has four place of cranks instead of the usual three. All the heating will be done by electricity and they will have electric fans. All their machinery is of the latest pattern and very heavy. The Schlick, Yarrow, Tweedie system will be used, which, we are informed, has never been used on this side of the Atlantic.

The appointments will be similar to those of the Prince Edward. The boats will reach this side in June, and will, with the Prince Edward, perform a daily service between Yarmouth and Boston. The Prince Edward will, after the summer ends, become a spare boat, and will be used for relieving the Prince Rupert or either of the two new boats. We cannot obtain the names of any of the officers, but it is assumed that Captain Arthur McGraw will take charge of the Prince George, and his place on the Prince Edward will be filled by somebody at present on that steamer.

MONTREAL NEWS.

St. Lawrence Navigation Two Weeks Earlier Than Usual—Burned to Death.

La Patrie discusses William Redmond's proposition for a coalition between France and Ireland as follows: "We believe it to be our duty to put the newspapers in France on their guard against the Irish element and its tendencies, especially in the United States. The Irish in their clergy, as well as in their politics, are the worst enemies of the French language, and our national influence in the American republic, and it is probably the same elsewhere."

Lady Aberdeen announces the selection of the following nurses to be sent to the Klondike: Miss Powell, from Nova Scotia; Miss H. to act as district lady superintendent; Miss Payson, from New Brunswick; Miss Hannah, from Toronto, and Miss Scott, who came out from England some years ago, and who has since been nursing in or near Toronto.

DEATH OF A MINISTER.

The death occurred in Carleton on Friday afternoon of Rev. Edward Hickson. The deceased was born in Bathurst about seventy years ago, and when a young man entered the Baptist ministry. After his marriage he went to Acadia college, from which institution he graduated. He was pastor of the church at Newcastle for some time, and later was in charge of the Carleton Baptist church. He remained at active work in Carleton until a few years ago, when he retired and has lived quietly ever since. His illness has extended over some time, and his death was not unexpected. Rev. Mr. Hickson was well and favorably known and much respected in Carleton and throughout the province. His present wife was a Miss Hamm of South Bay.

The funeral of the late Rev. Edward Hickson took place from his residence, Watson street, Carleton, on Sunday afternoon. Services were conducted at the house and grave by Rev. Mr. Higgins of Carleton Baptist church, of which the deceased was formerly pastor. Rev. Dr. Fope and Rev. Messrs. Carey, Hartley and Fenna. At the house Rev. Messrs. Carey and Hartley spoke feelingly of their personal relations with and appreciation of the deceased. The choir of the church rendered appropriate music. The funeral procession was a very large one, and evidenced the respect in which Rev. Mr. Hickson was held by his co-religionists and classes in the community. The remains were interred in Cedar Hill cemetery.

"I am told," remarked Miss Cayenne, "that you said some clever things last evening." "Yes," replied Willie Washington; "it is very discouraging." "What is?" "The surprised manner in which everybody is talking about it."—Boston Globe.
