Banquet And Reception Held

Brotherhood of St. David's Last Evening Tendered Welcome to Pastor, Rev. J. A. MacKeigan, and Farewell to Rev. E. W. McKay.

At a banquet and reception held at St. David's Church last evening, the Brotherhood of St. David's tendered a welcome to their pastor the Rev. J. A. MacKeigan, recently returned from the Southern States where he was obliged to spend the winter owing to ill health, and a farewell to the Rev. E. W. McKay who ministered to the congregation of St. David's during their pastor's absence.

The occasion was a very happy one and the programme carried out to the conclusion of the luncheon was fully enjoyed by each and every one of the seventy-five members who attended. The address of welcome was made by the president of the brotherhood, E. H. Cairns, who voiced the pleasure afforded the congregation at their pastor's return as they trusted, restored to good health.

Rev. Mr. MacKeigan responded in a happy manner, and thanked the gathering for their expression of good will.

The message of farewell was presented by G. R. Ewing. He spoke of the firm hold Mr. MacKeigan had secured in the hearts of the people of St. David's during his short stay; these good wishes went with him on leaving.

Mr. MacKeigan replied to St. David's to continue, as in the past, to support their pastor, whose activities he thought should be somewhat curtailed, at the outset at least, until absolute good health was a certainty. He also urged a brotherhood which could embrace not only the one congregation but all the people of the city of St. John irrespective of denomination, creed, or race. The development of the port of St. John he considered of vital importance to the development of the nation as a whole. He thought that in the past the people of the city had been too prone to rest their hopes for its development on which every party they supported. He urged that there be a general gathering of all the citizens, that they leave the question of party aside and in the name of the people of the city of St. John that their port, the natural gateway of the Dominion, be no longer ignored, but rather that it be equipped and developed in a manner worthy of its position as the Winter Port of Canada.

Mr. MacKeigan's remarks were received with enthusiasm. They created a deep impression and called forth an spontaneous outburst of applause which continued for several minutes. Following Mr. MacKeigan's remarks, a song was sung by F. J. Punter. It was an original and clever parody on "Jack's Come Back." The song was much enjoyed by the gathering, who joined in the chorus. Songs were sung by Clarence Givran and Mr. Gelsner, who were both warmly applauded.

The gathering then resolved into a business meeting and the following were elected to office in the Brotherhood for the ensuing year: Honorary President, L. C. G. Corbett; President, W. A. Stewart; Vice President, J. R. McFarlane; Secretary, F. J. Punter; Treasurer, R. S. Lahey.

The committee appointed were: Publicity Committee: M. H. Dunlop, Alexander Cameron B. S. Robb, Fred Fowler.

Boys' Work: A. R. Cruikshank, S. L. Kerr, O. J. Fraser, Percy Long, F. J. Punter.

Personal Work: George R. Ewing, D. W. H. Magee, R. J. Jamieson, H. L. MacGowan.

At the request of the retiring President, Mr. Cruikshank explained the work and purpose of the boys' camp and urged its support by every member of the congregation.

The meeting was closed by all joining hands and singing "Auld Lang Syne."

The Pulp Wood Controversy

New Brunswick Not Unfriendly to America Interests—Offers Special Leases of Crown Lands to Encourage Pulp and Paper Manufacture—Large Export of Pulp Wood.

In regard to the pulpwood controversy and statements made by the American Paper Manufacturers' Association that the embargo on the export of pulpwood was an unfriendly act on the part of Canada, the Financial Post, of Toronto, discussing the matter from the standpoint of the situation in New Brunswick, says:—

"Only two Maine firms were affected to any extent by this act, one cutting on the St. Croix River on the boundary line, and the other on the Salmon River, emptying into the Bay of Fundy, about twenty miles east of St. John. These firms stated to the Government that they were cutting pulpwood in the course of their ordinary lumbering operations, and that as they had no markets for their pulpwood they would have to let the pulpwood trees run to waste if prohibited from exporting pulpwood to their Maine mills.

The Government laid the matter before the Legislature and the two companies almost unanimously were exempted from the operation of the act.

"Most of the pulpwood lands in easy reach of Maine are private property and of course there is no prohibition of export from them. Recently Maine firms have bought large areas of private lands in York and other counties and are cutting pulpwood on them for export to the Maine pulp mills.

"New Brunswick is anything but unfriendly to American interests. The Government and the people desire to develop pulp and paper making within the province, and an Act passed in 1913 offers American or other capitalists leases of Crown lands for the purpose of pulp and paper-making under conditions sufficiently reasonable. This Act provides for the leasing of two kinds of licenses to cut on Crown lands. Under a pulp and paper license, the lessee is required to erect a pulp mill within three years, and paper mill or mill which manufactures other products into which pulp largely enters within five years. The lessee is also required to utilize fifty per cent of the timber cut upon the leased lands for the manufacture of pulp and paper or other manufactures of pulp. The license is renewable for a term of thirty years, and is subject to extension for a further period of twenty years.

"At any time during the currency of a pulp and paper license the holder may surrender it and will be entitled to receive a saw mill license, and a saw mill license in any time convertible into a pulp and paper license.

Crown Land Area.

"For some years the Government has been conducting a survey and classification of the Crown lands, and today is in a position to tell approximately the amount of pulpwood or other timber available on a given area. The Crown lands cover about 7,000,000 acres, about one-quarter of the total area of the province. Besides these are extensive forest areas held by private individuals or companies; the land grants to railways amounted to one and a half million acres, most of which has been preserved as forests.

"The reason why New Brunswick has such large areas of public lands available with Nova Scotia, is found in an interesting bit of history. In the early days France and Britain looked to this province to supply masts and spars for their warships, and for many years the British Crown held large areas as reserves for supplying naval requirements. It was not till the year 1858 that the British Crown relinquished its control and turned the forest area over to the province.

"The Provincial Government was recently authorized to proceed with the development of four important water powers, and it is hoped these will lead to the establishment of pulp and paper enterprises. At present Fraser Bros. and the Bathurst Lumber Company are about the only local firms showing interest in the pulp and paper-making possibilities, but recently a number of American capitalists have been looking over the ground."

DRIVERS BEWARE.

The new traffic policeman at the corner of Simonds and Main streets has already secured in a couple of accidents, and one of his arms is badly bent. As he is only a poor "cent cop," no doubt incompetent drivers have the idea that they can bump and juggle him without fear of a come-back. Drivers of vehicles had better take care for the silent cop has the same authority as the live one.

A twelve year old boy, son of George Hay, of 285 Carmarthen street left home yesterday about 3.30 o'clock in the afternoon, and up till last midnight his parents had not heard of his whereabouts and are anxious. His hair was cut close and while the boy's parents have no reason for his absence they believe that he has run away from home and request any persons throughout the province who meet the boy to communicate with the parents at the address mentioned above.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

The anxiety war which the Scott Act inspector is waging against the sellers is gradually producing the results long wished for by the temperance people. Early Monday morning the proprietor of one of the saloons removed his stock in trade, and when the day had fairly begun, the shelves of his shop were empty and the premises vacated. Only one evidence of the work that had been carried on remained, and through the unshuttered window this could be seen lying against the counter. It was the effigy of a victim of drink, with inflated face and lacerated cheeks, supported a couple of gin bottles with a helpless
