A Passion of....

(3 song demo)

From Calgary, A Passion of... follows the path of bands like Bauhaus and Joy Division. The band uses heavy drums and bass, sparse keyboards and guitar to create a bleak sounding dance beat. The vocals are reminiscent of Murphy/Bowie, with lyrics of alienation on "Never Look Up", social inequality on "Reaction to Action", and strangely enough backseat lust during a car wreck on "Crash"; probably the best song on the tape and receiving the most airplay on CHSR. Although I enjoy this type of music, I don't expect them to break any musical barriers. But nevertheless, A Passion of... is an accomplished group and will hopefully keep evolving.

Coughin' Nails

Coughin' Nails are pretty much a straight forward rock & roll band from Calgary. Simplistic riffs are cranked out on rhythm guitar set to an uptempo beat with lyrics that don't say anything worth listening to. Personally, this type of music bores me to death as it has been done for 25 years, but it might be fun to live where the music is loud and the draught is cheap (a species in danger of extinction - Ed)
