Story time over

Story Time is over for this season at the Streetsville Public Library. It will start again in the fall with weekly hour-long sessions and a more varied type of program.

The attendance this year ranged from 20 to 43 children. Mrs. H. Tier and Mrs. G. Hewson and their Girl Guide assistants are to be congratulated for the fine job they did.

Children of Ray Underhill and Vista schools visited the library and helped increase membership. The children's library now has 1,065 members, which is quite a amazing for a town Streetsville's size.

Mr. Inglis would like to wish all members a happy vacation and remind them that books are always a good choice when "there's nothing to do!"

New books in the children's library include a very interesting series of books about the children of other countries by Sonia and Tim Gial. These books not only tell of the customs, daily life and education of these countries but also about their industries, language and business. The story form makes them fun to read.

New fiction includes: Crimson Moccasins by Daughterty; Deerfold by Porter; Mitch and Amy by Cleary; Doctor's Boy by Anckarsvard; The Black Pearl by O'Dell and Gretchen of Grand Pre by Stirling, as well as others.

Adult section books worth special note include: Easy Ways to A Beautiful Garden by Canada's Own Gardening Guide; Peoples Of Kenya by Joy Adamson, author of Born Free. Also included are new arrivals in fiction.
