

The International Council held its second Quinquennial Session in London, June 26th to July 3rd, 1899, during the meetings of the International Congress. Each Federated National Council had the right to send three Delegates to take part in the deliberations, and the Delegates sent by the National Council of Women of Canada were:—

Mrs. Boomer, London, Ont., to represent the President; Mrs. Frank Gibbs, West Algoma; Mrs. Willoughby Cummings, Toronto.

The Committee of Arrangements was in the proud position, at the end of the Congress, of having a balance at hand. The receipts amounted to about $6,000, of which $5,000 was made by sale of tickets and literature, the rest was raised by donations. The heaviest items of expenditure were hire of halls, $2,000, and printing, $1,700; but the Committee were able to set aside $1,500 for the printing of the transactions, and still have a balance of nearly $600 to hand over to the next Quinquennial administration of the International Council.
