ALASKA RAILWAY.

The promoters of the Alaska Central Railway, a company endeavoring to construct a railroad across Uncle Sam's big territory from the coast to the Yukon, are making all manner of claims as to the success which is attending their enterprise. An effort is being made to raise sufficient money on the coast to carry the road to a successful conclusion. A railroad which will penetrate the heart of Alaska, and give the camps already established along the Yukon river, ommunication with the coast, ought to be a paying enterprise from the follow that juries will always view through boats to be dispatched for King Edward will always have the satisfaction of knowing that the Boer war was brought to a termination before the coronation ceremony took place. It was the expressed desire of the king that peace should be restored in South Africa before he was to be crowned, and the British generals in the field and the ministers of the government have striven faithfully toward the accomplishment of his wishes. Nothing now remains to mar in any particular the festivities which will attend the coronation. The white dove of peace rules over all of his majesty's dominions and there is no reason to fear any rupture in existing tranquility.

The part which the Canadian and other colonial troops have played in the prosecution of the war in South Africa has accomplished wonders in cementing the bonds which hold together the various constituent elements of the empire. As one result, growing directly from the part the colonies have played in the war, a conference of premiers will be held in London during the coronation ceremonies. At this conference such matters as colonial representation in the imperial parliament and privy uncil will be brought forward, as also the question of a new scheme of probably be considered whereby in return for a voice in outlining imperial policies, the colonies will be nvited to contribute ships, men or money to the defense of the empire. It is not to be anticipated that any definite arrangements in a movement of such magnitude will be made at the coming conference. Too many important interests are involved and conflicting opinions are altogether too numerous to justify any immedinte action. The fact, however, that such matters are to be brought up for discussion is in itself an indication of the drift of public sentiment, which beyond question is moving in the direction of closer union between the various portions of the empire.

The return of Messrs. Wilson and Treadgold concession, has brought forward the suggestion that a public neeting be called to hear their remanfully, but there is a general wish to hear directly from the delegates his lordship said that he had no deexactly what happened after their ar- sire to appear revengeful.
