Avonport Loses Another of its Hero Warriors

Word has been received at Avonport, of the death in action of William Hughes, early this month while in the great forward thrust of the Canadians. He has been Overseas for a long time and last year was reported missing and no word came from him for a long time.

He leaves a widow formerly Miss Susie Brooks, and one child also a father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Hughes and several sisters and brothers at Avonport.

Before enlistment Mr. Hughes, was in the employ of the D. A. R. and had charge of the electric bills on the crossings. He won recognition for bravery before he went Overseas having been decorated along with the late Charles Edward Fuller for rescuing sailors in the Avon River near his home. The community will be saddened at learning of his death.
