

The Port Williams Acadian

PORT WILLIAMS AND VICINITY

Miss Frisilla Gaudett returned to her home at Church Pt., Digby Co., to attend the funeral of her father, last week.

Mrs. Elias Curry, of Main Street, Wolfville, spent Tuesday and Wednesday with her friend, Mrs. O. G. Cogswell, Belcher Street.

A great number from here attended the circus at Kentville, July 11th, enjoying the parade and the numerous other attractions.

The annual Garden Party of St. John's church was held on the rectory grounds, Wednesday, July 16th.

Mrs. Ralph Regan, who has been very ill, is slowly improving.

Miss Frances Hiltz, of Kentville, spent last week with her cousin, Miss Lucy Cogswell.

The monthly meeting of the Women's Institute was held on the lawn at the home of Mrs. George Starr. The meeting was in charge of the agricultural committee. After an interesting programme ice-cream and cake were served.

Mr. A. B. Rand and wife motored to Bridgetown last week.

The monthly meeting of the Women's Aid Society was held at the Baptist church. At this meeting the mite boxes were opened, and the new officers were elected for the ensuing year.

The many friends of Mr. Fred Balcom will be glad to know he is slowly but steadily improving.

Mrs. Oscar Chase and her daughter, Susie, have returned from Toronto, where they have been the guest of Mrs. Chase's mother, Mrs. Little.

Miss Annie Freeman, of Wolfville, is spending a few days with Miss Ellen Rand.

Miss Dorothy MacKinnon has gone to Truro to attend summer school for four weeks.

Mr. Fred Vaughan motored to Yarmouth on Wednesday.

Miss Irene Gates and Miss Lulu Kinsman are spending their vacation on a motor trip around the south shore. While in Granville Perry they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mills.

GREENWICH

The tennis court has been put in good condition and is being enjoyed by a number of the young people afternoons and evenings. A good healthful exercise.

Mrs. Brenton L. Merry and two children returned home to Bear River the first of last week from a visit of over a week at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Pearson.

Miss Lillian Bishop was hostess to a few of the young people last Wednesday evening, ice-cream being served and a pleasant time enjoyed.

A few from here enjoyed the parade of the circus in Kentville last Friday morning.

Mr. B. L. Bishop and Mr. B. L. Cox, with their automobile parties, arrived home last Friday evening, returning by Chester and Windsor. Their five days outing was much enjoyed and "first class" weather obtained throughout the trip.

Mrs. Tufts, of Kingston, is a guest at the home of her brother, Mr. T. A. Pearson.

Mrs. McConnell is a guest at the home of her brother, Mr. T. J. Borden, for a time.

Mr. Fred Cox, who has been a guest at the home of his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Pearson, returned to his home in Truro last Tuesday.

Miss Leah Forsythe, of St. John, who visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Forsythe, a week as a part of her vacation, returned to her position last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Forsythe and two children, of Middleton, motored through and spent Sunday at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Forsythe.

Misses Esther and Annie Pearson were guests at the Regan-Christie wedding in Wolfville last Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. I. Banks and child visited Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Bishop on Sunday, having motored through from their home in Kingston.

Messrs. Philip and Robert Bishop, accompanied by their aunt, Miss Lillian Bishop, motored to Bedford on Sunday. Miss Bishop remained and is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Cobb.

Mr. T. A. Pearson's family motored to Evangeline Beach last Sunday afternoon, where they enjoyed a few hours of salt breezes.

Dr. T. DeWolfe, of Acadia Seminary, was the speaker at our church here on Sunday afternoon and those absent missed a very fine sermon, the first time Dr. DeWolfe occupied the pulpit here. A splendid solo by Mrs. Currie added its part to the service.

Miss Constance Bartheaux, Wolfville, spent Monday evening with friends here.

Well Drilling

Changes made in our well drilling equipment have cut our transportation and fuel costs to the extent that we can put down wells in this locality for

CANADIAN CHAMPION AGAIN

Frank Thompson, famous Canadian golfer from the Mississauga Club, Toronto, who won the Canadian Amateur Championship when he defeated Ross Somerville of the London Hunt Club, Thompson was amateur champion of Canada in 1921 and his brother, W. J. Thompson, was the champion in 1923. The games were played at the Rosedale course, Toronto. Upon, the Californian player, went into the semifinals, where he was defeated by Somerville.

Mr. Charles Oulton, of Port Elgin, N. B., was an over-night guest on Monday in this place. Mr. Oulton will be remembered by many as an assistant at the station several years ago.

The strawberry season is almost finished, and a few have commenced haying.

Work on the Main street through here is being pressed on. A bed of gravel is put on by teams, then well rolled and packed by the combination heavy road machine, the machine being capable of doing different kinds of work. We understand that in the near future the tar preparation is to be put on and we can expect a solid street.

KENTVILLE MINISTER REMEMBERED

THE ACADIAN some weeks ago made the announcement that Rev. R. B. Layton, who for several years back has been the popular minister of the Presbyterian church, Kentville, had accepted a call to a congregation in Alberta. Last week at the close of the Wednesday evening service, of the United Church, Rev. and Mrs. Layton were asked to remain. The presentation of a handsome gold wrist-watch was made to the latter, accompanied by an address read by Mrs. Dexter Collins, of Port Williams.

An address to Mr. Layton was read by Prof. W. S. Blair, accompanied by the presentation of a substantial purse.

Mrs. Layton responded before opening the box, but said that whatever it was she would value it. She spoke of the pleasant associations of their stay in Kentville, expressing the hope that they might some day return for a visit; and would always be interested in learning of the prosperity of their many friends.

Rev. Mr. Layton, in responding, said that while listening to the address read by Prof. Blair, he had hardly realized he was the man referred to as he felt he had failed to live up to his own ideal. He thought a minister should be more than a preacher; he should be a citizen; and so he himself had tried to stand for everything that was for the good of the town, and would do this also in his new field. Mr. Layton spoke of his enjoyment of his stay in Kentville; for though a minister, to a certain extent, led a lonely life, yet there had been many homes open to him, where he was always welcome. Since early boyhood, his had been more or less a roving life; and since their marriage, he and Mrs. Layton had never really had a home until they came to Kentville; and wherever they might go Kentville would be regarded as home. He, with Mrs. Layton, expressed the hope to return some day, and bespoke for his successor the same true hearted support that he had received.

Mr. Layton preached his farewell sermon on Sunday, leaving Monday with his family for Lacombe, Alberta.

Speed maniacs, displaying their wares under the wrong circumstances, are in many cases potential murderers. As for the man who speeds in city streets, in populated areas, near schoolhouses around curves or similar situations, give him the limit whenever you catch him. But the reckless driver is tenfold more a menace to public safety than the speeder, and the terms "speeder" and "reckless driver" are by no means synonymous. Should a "speeder" with a fast car hit up to 70 with a clear road in front of him and be caught, the papers would probably refer to him as a dangerous lunatic. And his fine would be in proportion. Yet the law-observing driver who holds his speed to 30 or thereabouts past an intersecting road where the vision on either side is not of the best is taking ten times more risk of hitting another car, vehicle or pedestrian than the speeder who knows he has a clear road ahead of him. The main point is that the speeder in the above instance runs the risk of where the life and property of others. Twenty miles an hour past a schoolhouse is a lot more risky to innocent citizens than 84 on a straight, clear stretch with nothing in the road ahead.

The fast driver in traffic is a menace. But here he becomes a reckless driver also. Using his speed under such conditions puts him in the reckless class. A driver who overtakes and passes another car in a "blind" curve or who does the same thing with a very slight margin to spare to clear a car coming in the opposite direction uses speed, but it isn't his speed that makes him unfit to be given a driver's license—it is his recklessness.

HARVEY'S Is the Place

Dangerous Parking.

Consider another class, the careless "parker". Many improved roads are only wide enough to permit orderly, two way traffic. Yet we all have seen, on a Sunday or holiday, dozens of cars parked in the worst possible places, on crests of hills, near curves or even in traffic, taking up one-half the road while traffic is halted in both directions and sudden stops made necessary. These fellows make as many hazards as the speeders, or more. Their action in monopolizing the highwais opens an opportunity for another menace—those who stop suddenly without signalling the man behind.

Still another class is made up of lazy, careless drivers who are slothful or too mechanically minded to keep their cars in proper position on the road. One headlight only light and worn out or poorly adjusted brakes all come among the members of this class. The man who parks an hour may be breaking the law, but the fellow who lines up entrance to a curve, taking up road, without a sign of a tail simply inviting as bad a smash as can be imagined. And bad brakes are responsible for more accidents than excessive speed, two to one.—B. McDowell in Motor.

No Red Hands with this washing machine

Do your hands get red from doing the washing? Red and chapped and rough, so that you are ashamed of them?

This is not necessary. Just because you do your own washing is no reason why your hands should bear the brand of drudgery. Get a Laun-Dry-Ette—keep your hands out of the water—cut out the drudgery!

Let the Laun-Dry-Ette do ALL the work for you—washing, rinsing, bluing and drying. The Laun-Dry-Ette has no wringer, and needs none. It wrings the clothes wringer-free without a wringer. You don't need to feed soggy, dripping pieces through a wringer; you don't even need to handle wet clothes.

Get the Laun-Dry-Ette, and keep your hands soft and white. Call or write. Let us give you a demonstration.

Requires no extra tub—can be used in kitchen or bathroom—ideal apartment use. Simple and easy to operate.

Approved by Good Housekeeping Institute. Thousands in use. Seventh successful year.
