GODERICH, C. W., SEPT. 29, 1863.

DETERRED.—In consequence of the pressure of local and other interesting matter, we are under the necessity of deferring several editorial articles prepared for this issue.

THE WAR.

There is nothing new from the West beyond the fact that it is now clear Rosecrans was completely demoralized. The federalists lost 100,000 men and 50 cannon. A battle is expected between Meade and Lee. Charles ton affairs unchanged.

FAIR.—There will be a fair for the sale of cattle, Ac., in Westport on Wednesday, Oct. 21st. Buyers should remember it.

GRAND CONCERT.—The celebrated Tuscarora Indian Choir will give a concert in St. Paul's Church, Clifton, on Wednesday evening, October 7th, in aid of the building fund. The proceedings will doubtless be very interesting.

WE would invite attention to the card of Messrs. Kennedy & Hyndman.

See the Expansion advertisement. The stock just opened up by Messrs. J.V. DeLor & Son is a very large one, and they will doubtless have the usual amount of patronage.

CHOICES.—Farmers have succeeded in the Township of Hull in securing all their crops in first rate order. The weather has been very favorable, and prospects are bright in regard to a good yield at threshing time.

WE are pleased to observe that in the supplementary estimates a grant of $400 is proposed to be given to Widow McNah, whose son was lost in the winter of 1861 while endeavoring to carry the mail from this place to Kincardine.

WE have received from New York, by mail, in capital condition, three plants of the splendid new varieties of Strawberries sent out by the Tribune. If united to this climate, we will have pleasure in introducing them amongst our gardening friends.

THE Editor of the Signal tenders his sincere thanks to those members of the Co. Agricultural Society who sent him such generous presents of Prize Fruits, Flowers and vegetables shown at the late Exhibition. We assure our farming and horticultural friends that their kindness is appreciated.

GRAPES.—Friend Custard of the Goderich Nursery, has forwarded to our care a fine lot of splendid grapes, all carefully labelled, so that we might avoid the misadventure of gleaning of the young fellows who broke into the Nursery last Sunday. The varieties comprise the Clinton, Isabella, and Catawba, and with regard to adaptation to our climate, may be ranked in the order we have named them. Isabella is a good and well known variety, and the Catawba is the largest of all, although it will require greater skill in the cultivation. The vines of either variety may be purchased at the Goderich Nursery. We have carefully preserved the labels.

What they think of us. New HARBURG, Sept. 23, 1863. Mr. Editor.—Will you be kind enough to convey to the Valiant free and inhabitants generally of Goderich, our warmest thanks for the kind attention we received from all classes during the Review of the 21st inst. The whole affair was a success; the lunch was dinner provided for us was all that could be desired, and every man in my company expressed but one feeling, and that is grateful acknowledgement. Before closing allow me to remark that you have a beautiful town, and it is inhabited by many, kind-hearted people.

These the honor to be, Sir, Your ob'd serv't, KENNETH GOODM, Captain Commanding New Hamburg Infantry Company.

FALL ASSIZES.

These courts were opened at noon today before His Lordship Chief Justice Denyer. The attendance of witnesses, Jurymen, and persons interested was larger than usual. Around the barristers' table we noticed faces well known to our readers from Toronto, Hamilton, &c., together with the local members of the bar.

Amongst those from a distance we noticed Messrs. B. A. Harrison, C. Robinson, Hector Cameron, Jno. Raaf, Richard Shelling, of Toronto; Thos. Robertson, of Dundas; W. Fraser, of Walkerton; P. McKenzie, of London; A. Shaw, of Kincardine, G. A. Drew, of Elora, and others.

M. C. Cameron Esq., appeared as Crown Counsel, in connection with the County Attorney.

The following gentlemen were called and sworn in as Grand Jurors: Joseph Cook, Jas. Crawford, Jos. Clark, Robt. Doig, T. P. Day, Wm. Graham, Wm. Houston, Jno. Hawkins, Wm. Malloch, Chas. Mason, Alex. McAllister, Jno. Nafel, Jno. Patterson, P. Robertson, Adam Reid, Jas. Scott, Walter Trevelan, Jas. Wilkie—John Holmes, Esq., Foreman.

In Addressing the Grand Jury, His Lordship expressed regret that, although the number of prisoners to be tried was not large, the character of the offenses was serious. He found upon the calendar one case of murder, three of arson, and two of forgery. The first was a capital felony; the second was formerly capital, punishable, and, under some circumstances might be so still, while the third offence laid the guilty party out to heavy punishment.

His Lordship then proceeded to lay before the jury the principles of law governing each of these cases, illustrating with much force and lucidity what constituted the crimes of murder, arson, and forgery.

The civil business was then entered upon.

BRUCE COUNTY TOWN.

A meeting of the Bruce Provisional Council takes place in Southampton in a few days, at which the long agitated question of the County Town, it is expected, will be settled in favor of Walkerton. Mr. McLay announces his intention of recording his vote for the latter place previous to retiring from public life. Mr. Lumsden said his vote in the same way, and Mr. Sinclair, Deputy Reeve of Arran, has resigned his seat in favor of a man who can do the same thing. These votes, together with others who are now expected to give for immediate settlement, will give Walkerton a large majority. When in Walkerton we admitted that it was not, perhaps, the best place that could be selected for the county seat of Bruce, but we were confident that from the action of the Reeve, himself, and the fact that it had been proclaimed twice, there was really no other resource. Had the Reeves taken our advice at the time, the buildings would have been up ere this, and several thousands of dollars would have been saved to the County. It is certainly better for the ratepayers that the matter should be settled at once, after which their local affairs will settle down to a more satisfactory shape. A further postponement can only lead to fresh contention and waste of public money.

SHOOTING AFFRAY AT CARRONBROOK.

By telegraph we learn some of the particulars of a serious if not fatal affray which occurred at Carronbrook on Saturday last. It appears that a constable from Mitchell, named Black, had a warrant under which he was about to seize upon the property of a man living near Carronbrook, part of a being a woman, J. Nevins, tavern-keeper, of the latter place, had a claim against the said party, and had taken this wagon as part payment. Black came up to Nevins's tavern and demanded entrance into his driving-room to seize the wagon. Nevins refused, claiming it as his property, whereupon a scuffle took place. The constable then produced a pistol and threatened to fire if the other did not desist. Finding his threats of no avail, the

MR. CRESSWELL'S PAINTINGS.

We congratulate Mr. Cresswell—the compliment may be extended to the able and well merited success at our 'Provincial Exhibition, held at Kingston during the last week. He exhibited in all eleven pictures—seven in oil, and four in water colors. With the seven oil paintings he carried off six prizes, one of them having been pronounced to be the best picture at the Exhibition, and three others having taken first prizes. In water colors Mr. Cresswell was no less successful, each one bearing off a prize, which three were in the first class.

We had the privilege of a private inspection of these admirable pictures before they were sent down for exhibition; indeed we had the gratification of watching some of them in progress, and the evidence they presented of Mr. Cresswell's skill and finely cultivated taste, gave us the greatest confidence in anticipating the result now announced by the Prize List. The special correspondents of the Leader and Globe, and all of the Provincial Press, whose opinions in Art are of any value, vie with each other in their cordial expressions of Mr. Cresswell's superiority in art, and speak enthusiastically of the admiration universally felt by the visitors as they were attracted by the eclat of his beautiful paintings. For ourselves we have long regarded Mr. Cresswell as the best landscape painter in Canada, and our opinion has been amply sustained by the results of the late Exhibition, for there he threw all competition completely to the background.

The best painting on the walls was, by universal consent, Mr. Cresswell's fine agricultural subject of "A Farm-yard Scene," the figures in which is a husbandman about to yoke his oxen, one of them still recumbent, and the other in the act of rising at the call to labor. The subject was happily conceived and skilfully handled, and addressing itself directly to the sympathies, experience and taste of all the agricultural visitors, the natural expression of the animals, and the faithful representation of the scene, elicited the warmest commendations from the great number who crowded to see the picture. Although on this occasion Mr. Cresswell seems even to have surpassed himself, his treatment of animals is always exceedingly happy. There is a carelessness and accuracy in his drawing, and subdued power in the moderation yet effectiveness of his faithful representation of animal life that evince a perfect familiarity with their habits and instincts, and enable him to show a fine sentiment into the picture, without resorting to that exaggeration in drawing or action which characterizes the sensational style of some of our modern art.

In the paintings exhibited Mr. Cresswell did not neglect the County of Huron, and on this occasion he appears to have devoted his special attention to the beautiful scenery of Goderich and its environs. A scene on Spanish River, at the top of Lake Huron, was much admired, and several of his best landscapes were taken directly from our immediate neighborhood, appearing in no small measure to extend the reputation of the fine scenery in the vicinity of Goderich.

In particular the "Harbor of Goderich," although a small picture, is very skilfully handled. It ought to be purchased by the Corporation, and treasured, if only by way of solace for their loss of the reality.

Mr. Cresswell's gratifying success at the Exhibition, and the cordial approval by the visitors of the discrimination shown by the Judges in awarding so many prizes to him, may induce purchasers to prevent the return of many of these paintings to the County; but, if not too late, we suggest to the Mechanics' Institute for the propriety of having Mr. Cresswell exhibit them in a few days in their Hall, which is well fitted for such a purpose, and would afford much rational and really pleasing to the inhabitants. This would be quite within the purposes of the Institute, and besides being a well merited compliment to Mr. Cresswell, would be a source of high gratification to his numerous friends here as well as

JOINTING BY THE WAY.

On leaving Goderich on Thursday 17th Sept., 1863, on board the fine steamer Propeller Ontonagon, Capt. William Evans, bound for Chicago, with a stiff breeze blowing and both sails set, we scudded along in fine style. The ship rolled enough to create an unpleasant sensation, which seemed to pass us by as we passed on the water, and the fine spacious cabin into discount. After nearing the American shore, and changing our course, we got into smoother water, and passed quite a fleet of vessels off Point of Barque. The fine Propeller from City, said to be the fastest on the Lakes, passed us off Saginaw. On turning out next morning, I learned that we had been battling all night with head wind and foul weather. We were then heading into Thunder Bay, when we cast anchor about 7 a. m., and had the consolation to see that even the Iron City, which we passed us by so proudly on the previous evening along with a fleet of sail vessels, considered it the better part of valor to let anchor and take the benefit of the shelter of the Islands; but what a change from the last few days in Goderich, so airy and open, to the frequent showers of rain and snow. After lying thirty hours at anchor, we cheerfully bade good-bye to Thunder Bay, and made for Mackinac, reaching there on Sabbath morning early. Mackinac, judging from the appearance of some of the houses, is an old settlement, rocky and barren soil, situated in a juniper seem to be the principal natural production of the islands. Fishing and farming supplies for the steamer calling there, seem to be the chief employment of the inhabitants. There is a building there they call the Fort. At present it has not a very formidable appearance. This island, from its northern situation, and its beautiful picturesque scenery, makes it a great place of resort in the summer season, which is the season of its inhabitants' greatest source of subsistence, as they are, in a great measure, shut up and left to the freedom of their own wills in the winter season. I regret to have to say that I found it to be the exception, not the general rule, to have their places of business closed on the Sabbath. We left in the forenoon and reached Beaver Island in the evening, took in about sixty cords of wood, and having a fair wind the greater part of the way, reached Chicago about 7 a. m. Tuesday morning. Chicago, the great City of the West, with Lake Michigan and the beauties of the garden of the great west spread around it on the other, with thirteen railroads, pouring their immense freight into the City, and with such a good head breeze. As regards the growth of the City and its business, it may be said that it was said of the water falling over the precipice at Niagara, it could not be held back. After discharging a few hundred barrels of salt and taking on 4700 barrels of flour, we left about eight o'clock at night. What a contrast to the harbor of Goderich and its harbor, which is a most wretched and narrow strait, and where the water is so shallow that the assistance of a tug, unless they are drawing very little water, and not much sea running. With the exception of one night, which I expect will be remembered for some time to come, we had rather a pleasant trip on the passengers by Captain Evans and his officers, and the ample cabin accommodation of this fine steamer cannot fail to induce those who try that route to recommend it to others. But after all the sights, we are constrained to say that there is no place like home.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HURON SIGNAL.

Sir—Among the many fatalities attending in our world, there are none more worthy of our attention than the Temperance. The Temperance cause is one of humanity, and has for its object man's good and God's glory. This cause has its foundation deeper than any of the changing circumstances of human society. It is not an ephemeral spasmodic cause, but one of the moral condition of things to pass away with its temporary cause. On the other hand, it is one of the results of Christian development—Christ's victory over sin and Satan, and the consequent battle with wrong. It has pursued sin into all its hiding places, and has not only succeeded in passing away with its temporary cause, but has discovered intemperance in drink, a sin surrounded by respectabilities, and sustained by usage and venerable with age. It has not only succeeded in passing away with its temporary cause, but has discovered intemperance in drink, a sin surrounded by respectabilities, and sustained by usage and venerable with age. POLICE COURT.

FORNISHED FRUITS. Two lads named Wm. McLeod and Chas. Thomas were hauled up before His Worship the Mayor on Saturday, charged with having, in company with several other boys, entered the Goderich Nursery on Sunday last. The charge was fully borne out and the hopeful youths fined $2 each and costs. They had the pleasure of paying the meagre sum of about 50c apiece for their peaches!

THE RAILERS.

Four lads of SKYE men were brought up at the same time on a charge of having appropriated sundry rails from the fence of Robt. Gibbons, Esq. The theft was proven. The men pled that they "didn't ken it was any harm—they only wanted a few firesticks." 25cts fine and 25cts damages each, with costs.

PETTY TRIFLES.

The court was yesterday the scene of a tunny trial. Mrs. Tanner charged a Mrs. Chidley with having stolen a flannel petticoat.
