

"HELL GATE"—Anybody who has travelled by steamer from New York to Boston and other places north on the Atlantic seaboard, has to pass through "Hell Gate," a name given to a dangerous part of the Sound a few miles out of New York harbor. A New York City contemporary remarks:—"Hell Gate" is now being undermined with a view to its final removal. Quietly, but surely, the drill is at work day by day, far under the rocky gate, and gradually preparation is being made for a grand explosion. It will be a gun for the nation. And if the entire nation does not hear the report, if successful, will feel its influence in increased facilities for navigation. It is hoped the magazine will be ready to be fired next fourth of July morning, and the great sub-marine gun will form part of the exercises in the celebration of that day. It is almost a pity that it cannot be postponed till 1876, so as to aid in the great centennial jubilee in contemplation. But perhaps before then greater guns will be prepared. The mighty western mountains may be ready to give the grand signal of freedom's triumph before them. So let this gun be touched off, whenever ready; the "mighty Yankee nation" can prepare a greater one to honor its grand centennial birth-day. At any rate, every-body will desire the success of the experiment to undermine "Hell Gate," and pray that every little imp of darkness may be blown to the shades of darkness.

A letter from Japan states that the Government has just published three decrees, which are understood to be the precursors of other innovations so impatiently awaited by foreigners. The first is that the library of the ex-Tycoon, composed of 190,000 volumes, is open to the public without distinction of race or nationality. The second requires natives who have foreigners in their service to pay the wages in Japanese money and not in Mexican dollars, which would be a loss to the employer. The third authorizes the priests—1, to select what food they please for their nourishment; 2, to marry; 3, to dress themselves as they like.

In Boston, Mass., there are streets bearing the names of Homer, Milton, Wordsworth, Byron, Pope, Moore, Coleridge, Cowper, Addison, Chaucer, Reynolds, Kneller, Hogarth, Van Dyke, Swift, Prescott, Webster, Everett, and Sumner.

CAUTION.

The Cornwall Manufacturing Company have pleasure in intimating the complete restoration of their works at Cornwall which are now in full operation, producing large quantities of White and Grey Blankets, and Heavy Medium Class Tweeds.

They regret, however, having again to call attention of the public to the continuance of the disreputable practice of importing English Blankets and selling them as Canadian. These Blankets are made largely of Shoddy and Cotton Waste, with a small percentage of pure Wool, and though slightly in appearance, closely imitating the Cornwall Blankets, and ticketed "Canadian Manufacture," have neither warm nor wear, but can be sold at a lower price than the Cornwall Blankets (which are made of Pure Wool) can be produced for.

The public are cautioned against this attempted deception, and respectfully informed that the name of the CORNWALL MANUFACTURING COMPANY is printed on the ticket of every Blanket made by them.
