

WILL HELP EXTENSION

Suburbs Seem Inclined to Assist Calgary in Making the Extensions Desired

HILLHURST WILL MEET CALGARY MONDAY

The Representatives From the Two Corporations Will Discuss Plans of Amalgamation

And now there is every probability of Calgary growing into Greater Calgary without the slightest difficulty at all. The city council for some reason got the opinion that there would be some difficulty about getting some of the suburbs in. And for some still more unaccountable reason they declined to make any effort to stretch out towards the north at all. For that reason both Hillhurst and Riverside were left out.

Then it was rumored abroad that there was no use in making any effort to get Hillhurst within the limits for the people in that district would not stand for it.

But things are pretty well on the right path now. As was reported in the Albertan a couple of days ago, the council did decide to make an effort to stretch itself north and to take in Riverside and Hillhurst.

There was never any doubt about about Riverside and the reason that it was not originally included in the limits was not because of any alarm lest the Riverside people would object.

It seems almost certain now that Hillhurst people will unite with the city in the effort to have the boundaries of the city extended across the Louisa bridge. Petitions and counter petitions have been in circulation for some time and it was seen that the majority of the property holders were sturdy annexationists.

The outcome has been that the Hillhurst people have asked to negotiate. This is the best sign yet. They have asked for a conference which will be held sometime next Monday.

At the same time the people of the thriving suburb of Banffview will confer with the city on the same evening.

It looks very much as though the residents of all the boroughs in the vicinity will unite with Calgary in asking for the extensions of the Greater Calgary.

THE EXTENT OF IRRIGATION PROJECT

(Continued From Page 1) where alfalfa has taken root on the bare prairie and lives through successive winters. Its ready adaptation to the climatic conditions of Alberta suggests the certainty that this crop will be the great mainstay of the irrigation block east of Calgary. Other forage crops grow equally profusely.

Before Alberta was known to the world as a farming country she had earned the reputation of being one of the greatest live stock producing districts on the continent. The climatic conditions of southern Alberta are such that no expensive stabling is necessary. Live stock thrives exceedingly well feeding on the open prairie or in sheds all the winter long. A very important saving is, therefore, effected in live stock husbandry in discarding expensive buildings and avoiding the handling of the stock daily, as is necessary elsewhere. There are absolutely no diseases peculiar to the country, the climate being particularly healthy and favorable to animal life and development.

Mutton is worth more at Calgary than at any point on the continent. Pork reached the highest price ever known in America at Winnipeg recently, and finished beef commands very nearly as good a value on this side of the line as in the United States. It has been clearly established in the foregoing that the most valuable crop that irrigated lands anywhere can produce is forage for the feeding and finishing of live stock. It has been demonstrated that the climatic and soil conditions of Alberta are peculiarly favorable to the highest development of alfalfa and other forage crops. It will also be readily admitted that by reason of a healthy invigorating climate, absence of disease and other favorable factors, Alberta has no peer in the production of live stock of all classes. The market conditions for finished live stock, on the whole, are very nearly as favorable as in the United States. In some respects more favorable. Such being the case, it is a fair deduction to declare that the irrigated portion of Alberta must be classed amongst the most valuable of any such land on the continent of America, acre for acre.

The agent added that the vessel "We are gradually resuming business and are continuing to supply provisions free on orders from the government. Order is being maintained. Kingston alone appears to have been affected. The prospects of victualling are reassuring."
