PRISONERS RISK ANY PUNISHMENT TO GET TOBACCO

Will Steal or Break Rules, Says Witness at Penitentiary Probe.

SOME ALSO USE DRUGS

Object to Wearing Striped Suits and Having Their Hair Cropped.

[Canadian Press.]

Kingston, Oct. 23. — Two ex-bankers and a former real estate agent at present doing time in the penitentiary were called by the royal commission yesterday with a view to getting the "pen" view on how conditions in the "pen" could be improved.

There was striking unanimity of opinion on the desirability of allowing the men to use a stipulated amount of tobacco under reasonable restrictions, although one of the witnesses does not use tobacco in any form.

There was also unanimous complaint of the needless humiliation involved in wearing the striped suit and wearing the hair closely cropped. One of the convicts put up a strong argument against cropping the hair closely, especially in winter, as he caught cold after a hair-cut.

Some Use Drugs. It appeared in the evidence of the former banker that it is impossible to prevent the convicts from getting tobacco. And some of them used drugs. They will steal anything, break any rule, and risk almost any punishment to get a chew of tobacco. In fact, he went so far as to say that it was impossible to get satisfactory work out of the inmates unless they got a little of the weed occasionally, and it was a common practice of the guards to give the convict a small amount in spite of the regulations.

May Be Too Strict. Commissioner Downey was apparently impressed with the severity of the rule against tobacco and expressed the opinion that it was too strict. One convict told of having seen a man strapped on the triangle and being whipped, but he did not think the punishment very severe, and he had been told, he said, by a convict who was so whipped that it did not hurt much.

Use the Hose. Asked about the use of the hose on convicts, he said he did not think it was ever used as a means of punishment, but might be utilized to compel a refractory inmate to come out of his cell. In answer to a question by Dr. Edwards, M. P. Witness "F. 123" surprised the commission by giving Deputy Warden O'Leary a splendid recommendation. He thought he was just the man for the job, combining "dignity, kindness and severity" when the latter was required.

Food Is All Right. The witnesses were all questioned closely as to the quality of food, but they had little complaint to make, although admitting it was much better "the last few months." The inference was made that the appointment of the commission had already borne some fruit. All of the witnesses favored the taking of their meals in their cells, rather than in a common dining-room, on account of the gross vulgarity of some of the other inmates.

Their evidence largely corroborated that of Lawyer Russell in regard to the nature of the conversation at the stone piles and its degrading effect on young offenders, also by the use of a common drinking cup, although one convict was said to be suffering from an incurable disease.

Decide on Changes. When the penitentiary commission resumed, Chairman McDonnell announced that the commission had already decided that no further evidence was necessary to change the following points:

(a) Unsuitability of hospital and asylum buildings.
(b) Lack of proper equipment.
(c) Lack of proper sanitary arrangements.

"We are satisfied," said Mr. McDonnell, "that radical changes are desirable."

Ex-Warden Dr. Platt made an interesting statement to the royal commission, touching the suggested school for training officers, and the desirability of removing all appointments to such institutions as penitentiaries and asylums from political influences.

Opposes Training. Dr. Platt is opposed to the training school idea, which he does not consider feasible.

"It would be very difficult to secure men really competent to train officers. A better idea would be to extend the present system of taking men on probation and make radical changes in the present system of making appointments."

He would have every applicant, before being put on the probation list, pass a satisfactory examination before the warden as to his education and fitness for a position. Having passed such an examination, he would have such applicants placed on the waiting list. They would be in the same position as those who pass the civil service examination. They are qualified, but have no special claim to any particular position at any particular time.

Board of Parole. A board of parole or advisory board to regulate prison matters could be desirable, said these examinations and make all the appointments. This would have the effect of eliminating all political interference in the management of the institution. He favored the idea of holding a meeting of keepers and guards once or twice a month to discuss matters pertaining to prison problems. It would be of immense value in discussing special cases, and tend to allay ill-feeling that sometimes arises among members of the staff under existing conditions. Very few applicants once they went on probation were rejected. He favored allowing the prisoners or their families a percentage of their earnings in the pen. The difficulty of adopting such a system at present was the lack of profitable employment in the institution.

Hospital Appointments. Dr. Platt was questioned closely about the appointment of the hospital overseer and his assistant, after the retirement of Overseer Gunn.

Without consulting him, the surgeon recommended that Begg be appointed overseer, and Guard Sullivan, assistant overseer, although such recommendations should be made by the warden. When the appointment was made Begg objected to assuming his duties unless a competent druggist was appointed to assist him. Sullivan came before the witness, and said he did not want to take the responsibility of making up prescriptions.

The communications went on to Ottawa, and the appointments were cancelled.

250 MINERS ENTOMBED FOURTEEN DEAD TAKEN OUT

Explosion Caused Cave-In of Shaft and Big Loss of Life Is Feared—Rescue Parties Unable to Get Far on Account of the Accumulation of Gas.

[Canadian Press.]

Dawson, N. M., Oct. 23. — Between 200 and 250 men were still entombed early today by the cave-in which followed the explosion yesterday in the No. 2 shaft of the Stag Canon coal mine.

During the night 14 dead and 22 injured men were taken from the mine. During the all-night fight with the debris, the rescuers penetrated to the fourteenth level, about a mile into the side of Black Mountain, and they were yet far from the more than 200 remaining victims. The 22 men who were rescued before daylight were picked up along the levels in ones and twos, and could only point the way onward to the depths for the rescuers to go on.

Rescue Train. The federal rescue train, which started from Denver, is due here at noon. Another is coming from Rock Springs, Wyo., and a third from Pittsburgh, Kas. Before they arrive, however, it is expected the volunteer rescuers organized here will have reached the entombed men.

Dr. James Douglas, of Douglas, Arizona, general manager of Phelps-Dodge & Co. of New York, owners of the mine, is reported from El Paso, Texas, to be coming here on a special train with a corps of physicians.

The Stag Canon mine was considered a model of coal mine engineering, and the disaster that befell it yesterday has staggered this town of 15,000, composed for the most part of Italian miners.

[Canadian Press.]

Lots of Assistance. The news of the explosion carried over the buttes and arroyos of the mountains gathered most of the settlers and ranchers within 50 miles, and when morning broke today thousands filled the town eager to help the 300 or more miners who had worked in the depths of the mountain in short shifts all night. From the hour of the explosion until nearly midnight gas filled the levels, making it sure death to enter without an oxygen helmet.

After midnight the air, which had been steadily forced into the mine, began to gain, and it was possible to increase the rescue force.

Found More Alive. Rescuers this morning reached the foot of the air shaft through which it had been hoped many miners might escape alive. Three living men and three dead were found at this point.

At 9 o'clock a total of 25 men had been rescued, two more than previously reported. Helmet men were still working in short shifts and it was believed every part of the mine would be explored before many hours. The ventilators were working well, driving fresh air into every part of the workings which could be reached. The work of forcing entrances into the mine was progressing rapidly.

Rescuers were working through the main shaft of mine No. 2 and also through tunnels which connect that mine with Nos. 3 and 5.

buried to the man's assistance, and a call was sent in for the ambulance. The new motor responded in record time, and the injured man was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital.

Arriving at that institution, a nasty scalp wound was found, which was quickly attended to. Later in the evening he returned to his home.

HISTORIAN IS DEAD.

Fell Off Steam Roller; Rushed to Hospital

Night Watchman Penwarden Received Nasty Scalp Wound While on Duty.

Falling from a steam roller left standing for the night at the corner of Cheapside and Colborne street, Mr. David Penwarden, night watchman, and residing at 716 Grey street, struck his head, inflicting a painful scalp wound. The ambulance was summoned, and he was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital. Later he was removed to his home.

It appears that at 6 o'clock the engineer banked the fire and left the roller close to the curb. A fine drizzle was falling, and for protection, Mr. Penwarden climbed into the cab. While there it is thought he was subjected to an attack of dizziness, and fell from the machine.

STRONG DEFENCE IN EATON MURDER CASE

Many Naval Officers Will Be Called in Poisoning Case.

[Canadian Press.]

Plymouth, Mass., Oct. 23. — Today marked the opening of the defence in the trial of Mrs. Jennie May Eaton for the murder of her husband, Rear Admiral Joseph G. Eaton.

For the first time since the trial started there was no forenoon session, court having adjourned yesterday until this afternoon in order to permit the lawyers for the defence to gather their witnesses. Wm. A. Morse, chief counsel for Mrs. Eaton, delegated to his assistant counsel, Francis J. Geoghan, the task of outlining to the jury the testimony which will be introduced in an effort to disprove the Government's contention that the admiral's death was due to poisoning of him by his wife.

It is expected that the defence will occupy about three days in the presentation of evidence. Several prominent naval officers, who were acquainted with Admiral Eaton during his active service, are expected to testify as to his habits while in the navy.

Counsel for the defence intimated that the naval men would be asked to tell what they knew about allegations that Rear Admiral Eaton had been accustomed to using drugs.

EXPEND $2,000,000 EXTENDING PHONES

Alberta Government To Go Ahead With Work Next Year.

[Canadian Press.]

Edmonton, Alta., Oct. 23. — Two million dollars will be expended by the Government in telephone extension work next year, according to the statement made public by the Premier.

Estimates provide for an expenditure of $1,000,000, chargeable to capital, but the Premier stated this amount would be practically expended in labor, there being a large amount of material on hand which would bring the total for material and labor used in construction to nearly two millions.

NERVOUS DYSPESIA, GAS OR INDIGESTION

"Pape's Diapepsin" Settles Sour, Upset Stomachs in Five Minutes.

Time it! Pape's Diapepsin will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, gassy or out-of-order stomach surely within five minutes.

If our meals don't fit comfortably, or what you eat lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion. Get from your pharmacist a fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take a dose just as soon as you eat. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, nausea, debilitating headaches, dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is waiting for you at any drug store. These large fifty-cent cases contain enough "Pape's Diapepsin" to keep the entire family free from stomach disorders and indigestion for many months. It belongs in your home.

Greater than Panama's Bridge of Water

The Panama Canal is the logical outcome of the trend of modern commerce—it is monumental evidence of the present-day need for shortening distance—for lessening time and for reducing cost of distribution between maker and consumer.

In point of distance, the Panama will bring the Pacific nearer to the Atlantic by 1,000 miles. In point of time, the sea voyage between Halifax and Vancouver will be shortened by 24 days. In point of cost, the canal will very materially lessen the expense of carrying freight between these places. But there is a stronger factor than even the Panama in shortening distances, lessening cost and saving time between manufacturer and user.

It is Advertising—

It is the quickest—
It is the most direct—
And it is the cheapest—means of communication between the maker and user of goods.

For instance, Advertising enabled a manufacturer in Nova Scotia to carry a demand for his product from his factory to the Pacific Coast

— in a few days
— at an insignificant cost compared with slower and more laborious selling methods.

In one week, thousands learned of his product where it would have taken years for the news to get around without advertising.

To the Manufacturers of Canada:

You will be alert to take advantage of the Panama route for the physical transportation of your goods. Have you considered how quickly, how far, and at what small cost the Advertising Trade Route will carry demand for those goods?

If you are doing a local business talk over your advertising problems with the Advertising Department of this newspaper.
If you are doing a provincial or national business it would be well for you to have the counsel and assistance of a good advertising agency. A list of these will be furnished, without cost or obligation, by the Secretary of Canadian Press Association, Room 303, Lumsden Building, Toronto.

SUNDAY FIELD DAY FOR THE FEDERATION

Services Arranged Are for the Various Churches on October 26.

Arrangements have been completed by the Men's Federation of London to hold their field day on Sunday, Oct. 26. On this occasion the pulpits of many of the city churches will be occupied by members of the federation, at both morning and evening services.

The object of the movement is twofold. To bring the work of the federation definitely to the attention of the men of the several churches of the city and also to increase the membership to the greatest extent possible. It is the aim of the federation to interest all the churchmen of the city in the movement, with the ultimate result of having a city-wide organization. Already over 300 members have been enrolled with every indication of many more in the near future. It is hoped that the 500 mark will be passed as a result of the field day movement, commencing next Sunday.

Following is a list of Sunday's program:

Morning Service.
First Presbyterian—Rev. Mr. Knox.
Central Methodist—Mr. Jeffrey.
Worley Road Baptist—Mr. H. W. Lyons.

Evening Service.
St. Andrew's Presbyterian—Prof. Patterson.
First Congregational—Mr. E. R. Wilson.
Southern Congregational—Mr. Daly.
Dundas Centre—Rev. Mr. Johnston.
Adelaide Street Baptist—Rev. Mr. Boyd.
Hamilton Road Presbyterian—Mr. McIntosh.
Kings Street Presbyterian—Mr. McFarlane.
Hyatt Avenue Methodist—Sheriff Cameron.
Memorial Methodist—Mr. Ashplant.
Ridout Street Methodist—Mr. Maine.
Colborne Street Methodist—Mr. H. W. Lyons.
Egerton Street Baptist—Mr. Ridell.

"The pen is mightier than the sword," said the ready-made philosopher, "I don't quite see how the adage applies to current conditions," commented the man with a practical mind. "It probably refers to the fact that the sword as now worn is entirely harmless, while a fountain pen can explode in a way that will ruin a $45 suit of clothes in five seconds!"—Washington Star.

"This story of yours is all right," said the editor, "but your description of the hero's automobile is simply impossible. If there was an automobile made as perfect as the one you describe I'd buy one tomorrow. Where in the world did you get your ideas?" "That was easy," replied the author. "I got my friend Hagley to describe his new car."—Judge.

JOHN ELLIS DENIES ALL PERJURY CHARGES

Does Not Want To Return to States and Face Abduction Charges.

[Canadian Press.]

Tokio, Oct. 23.—The case of John Ellis, business manager of the Japan Advertiser, arrested here on Oct. 12 on a requisition from the American ambassador on a charge of perjury, came into prominence again today when the accused issued an appeal from the prison where he is confined, asking the Japanese not to deliver him up to the United States, and stating that he desired to acquire Japanese citizenship.

Ellis, who is said to be wanted in Boston for the abduction of his daughter and for contempt of court, declares in his appeal that he is a victim of a conspiracy to obtain possession of his daughter, who was awarded by the Boston courts to his wife after their separation. He declares he has never committed perjury. The United States Government opposes the admission of Ellis to bail.

John Ellis was formerly a clergyman, a telegraph operator and a broker. After his separation from his wife, he took an office as a broker in a Back Bay Hotel at Boston. About a year ago he took his daughter out for a walk and disappeared. Mrs. Ellis in order to trace the couple resorted to the moving pictures and by their means located her daughter and husband in Japan.

NEARLY PERISHED

Many of Elphicke's Crew Came From Port Huron.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Sarnia, Oct. 23.—The vessel Elphicke, which went hard aground at Long Point, Lake Erie, was commanded by Capt. Alonzo Conings, of Port Huron. The engineer, Andrew Thompson, the wheelman, Churchill, and the cook, Richards, were also residents of the American city, and well known to mariners in Sarnia. The men were taken off by life savers after the vessel broke in two. Wheelman Churchill is said to be a native of Sarnia, and recently moved to Port Huron.
