United Church Ministerial Alliance Appoints Committee To Investigate Plan.

PROBING SHOWS

Report Assets Book Market in London Is Clean.

Steps were taken by the London United Church Ministerial association at its regular meeting at Metropolitan hall yesterday afternoon to co-operate with the United church council in working out a plan for church advertising in the local newspapers.

The committee appointed yesterday includes: Rev. Col. Wm. Beattie, D.D., C.M.G., Rev. Major J. B. Hunter, B.D., M.C., and Rev. Capt. E. W. Edwards, M.C., while the layman's committee, appointed several days ago, includes Henry Pocock, W. T. Wrighton and J. Stritvert. This joint committee will seek to work out "an improved and uniform method" for the United churches of the city to advertise their Sunday services in the press.

A United church service will be held for the United churches of the city in First church, Christmas day at 10 a.m., with Dr. Beattie, president of the association, in charge. A grand rally of the Sunday schools of the United churches of the city will be held in Metropolitan church on New Year's day at 10 a.m., at which the address will be given by Rev. J. M. Finlay, field secretary of Ontario boys' work.

On the suggestion of Rev. D. N. McManus the association decided to send out "a strong, fervent, evangelical message" to all the United churches of the city at the close of the current year. This message, which will be of official character, is to be drafted by the following committee: Dr. Beattie, Rev. J. F. Chapman, B.A., secretary of the association, Rev. A. E. M. Thomson, M.A., B.D., president of the London United church conference, and Rev. W. R. McIntosh, D.D., chairman of the Middlesex United church presbytery.

The schedule drawn up by the executive committee of the association for ministers' services at the Aged People's home, Victoria home for incurables and Victoria hospital certain Sundays of each month for the ensuing year was adopted as read, with one or two changes.

Rev. G. K. Bradshaw, Hyatt avenue church, chairman of the committee on the investigation relative to burlesque shows reported "progress." The committee includes also Rev. Geo. Gilmore and Rev. H. B. Storey.

It was reported that the special thanksgiving service held in the Metropolitan church on Thanksgiving Day, with Rev. A. S. Orton, B.A., Chatham, as the speaker, had been quite successful, and that the collection for the funds of the association had amounted to $181.10, which will be used at the discretion of the organization for relief purposes.

Rev. Mr. McLeod of the special committee appointed to inquire into the kind of books and magazines sold in London read his report. Mr. McLeod's report was cordially received, particularly since it informed the association "that London's book market is clean."

Rev. B. H. Robinson, M.A., assistant pastor of Metropolitan church, gave an interesting paper on "Holy Days in Ecclesiastical History." Mr. Robinson described the origin of each of the days. Dr. Beattie gave a brief address on "The Cradle Roll," and pointed out how the roll could be made to be of the very best value in the life of the congregation. Dr. Beattie stated that the superintendency of the roll could be placed in the hands of the minister's wife with great success for all concerned.

RAIL ACCESSORY THEFTS ON L. P. S. WILL BE PROBED

The theft of the 300 or more copper bonds which were stolen from the London & Port Stanley lines, in some time last week, has been placed in the hands of the London and St. Thomas police, as well as the county police.

Copper bonds are fastened at the points where the sections of rail join to carry the current. They were found to be removed from one rail for a distance of almost two miles.

"Had they been taken from both sides the entire system would have been tied up," stated J. E. Richards, manager of the road.

"I can see no reason why it would profit anyone to take these bonds," he continued. "At the very outside their scrap value would not amount to more than 25c. The loss to us, however, means between $700 and $800 when we consider the replacing of the bonds and the workmanship which will be required in so doing."

"We finished a complete survey of the rails on November 20, and at that time none of the bonds were missing. They were evidently stolen within the past week, or else we would have experienced difficulty in operating the trains. On following up the loss, it was also found that several of the bonds had been taken from the rails between steps 6 and 8. We were first aware of the loss on Friday."

According to Mr. Richards, the bonds will be replaced immediately.

H. A. SECORD AGAIN HEADS CADETS IN CITY SCHOOLS

At a meeting of the cadet instructors of the city at the Alexandra school yesterday afternoon, H. A. Secord, instructor at the Simcoe street school, was appointed brigadier of cadets for the third time.

The meeting was called with the express purpose of appointing a new brigadier, but no one was nominated to fill Mr. Secord's position and he was again appointed.

The question of distribution of the Strand street fund money was brought up, and it was decided to divide it equally among the public school cadet corps, regardless of size. The amount will reach about $75 or $80.

AT THE THEATRES

LOEW'S THEATRE

Winds of Chance.

Presenting an accurate, virile and colorful romance of the north at the time of the Great Klondike gold rush, Frank Lloyd's Winds of Chance, opened a three-day run at Loew's yesterday, and sent the most critical film fan away lauding the film. While it is undoubtedly the best picture of its type yet screened, it in no way outshone the vaudeville bill, which comprised three excellent acts, headed by the Butterfly Kiddies in a song and dance revue. Newton's Models, an act of beauty, incorporating a series of poses with really artistic value, and Lewis and Lavarre, a couple of real fun-makers, also won the plaudits of the house. An old-time one-reel comedy, "Whistling Lions," provides an interesting study in the advancement of the movie art, since it was produced by a cast that can truthfully be termed all-star. Anna Nilsson, Viola Dana, Ben Lyon and Victor McLaglen are the featured players. Mr. McLaglen's work is the outstanding bit of the picture.

The picture gets away from the hack, ney northern setting and conventional drama, and is unusual in both of these things. One really interested in the movies cannot afford to miss it. The Butterfly Kiddies, seven talented girls and one boy, have a repertoire which is to say the least varied. Every number is good, and the audience yesterday clapped them to the echo. The setting is beautiful, and the closing scene is particularly meritorious. On the whole it is the best bill Loew's have presented in some time.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Harold Lloyd.

Capacity crowds greeted Harold Lloyd in his latest contribution to the art of screen fun in The Freshman, at the Capitol Theatre yesterday. It is a truly refreshing comedy, chucked full of laughter, and containing thrills that make the onlooker sit tensely on the edge of his seat.

The Freshman is Lloyd's greatest hit, and it is a hilarious comedy, at times throwing the audience into hysterical laughter. This picture may be easily classed as a comedy drama instead of a straight comedy, for it has more than the usual quota of heart throbs and human interest. The story is that of a freshman seeking the laurels of popularity and athletics, taking his tips of college life from catalogues and motion pictures. He is made the college joke, but later finds out his truth as to his college status, and later achieves his ideal. The college dance provides much laughter, but the football game supplies the picture with the climax that is about the funniest, and where there is up the most exciting thing ever screened.

Harold is a lowly water boy for the team, and is thrown into the game by the dying moments, when there is up one left to go on the field. He runs with the ball for 90 yards or a touch-down, which won the game, and he is acclaimed a hero.

A splendid two-reel western picture, The Best Man, and the Capitol kilograms complete the bill.

Dandurand Stresses Status of Canada As Nation In League

Canadian Press Despatch. Toronto, Dec. 7.—That his relationship to the two great countries, Great Britain and France, was probably the determining factor in his selection as president of the sixth assembly of the League of Nations was the statement of Senator Raoul Dandurand in the course of an address to the Canadian club here today.

President Dandurand of France, who welcomed Senator Dandurand to the chair, had not yet been reconciled to the fact that Britain had six votes with her dominions, while France had only one, said the senator, and "it was a unique opportunity to tell the world what was Canada's international status."

"History has never hitherto shown an example of six countries, equal among themselves, having autonomous political institutions, each through their respective governments advancing one and the same kind, in whose name they speak and act both at home and abroad," Senator Dandurand continued.

The League convention gave the first ray of hope for disarmament, the Liberal leader in the senate declared. They were the object of the protocol, the rejection of which by the sixth assembly had caused considerable sorrow in Europe.

President Dandurand stressed the fact that Canada desired to shorten the five-year period.

W. G. A. Ormsby-Gore, under-secretary for the dominions, replied that legislation would be introduced in any dominion which desired to adopt the change suggested, following legislation by the imperial parliament after consultation between the dominion governments. The government was aware, Mr. Ormsby-Gore said, that the question had been discussed in the Canadian house of commons, but no indication had been received as to whether the government at Ottawa desired to have the five-year period of residence shortened.

Associated Press Despatch. London, Dec. 7.—A. A. Somerville, Conservative M.P., at question time in the house of commons today asked the secretary of state for the dominions whether the department would approach Canada with a view to the shortening of the period of five years' residence in Canada now necessary—according to the agreement of 1914 between the British and Canadian governments—for Canadians who had become naturalized in the United States, but afterwards returned to Canada, to become British subjects again. He also asked whether the secretary of the dominions was aware that Canada desired to shorten the five-year period.

Under the London agreement the Ulster boundary remains as it is at present, and the Free State is relieved from a proportionate share in the British national debt which the Anglo-Irish treaty provided for.

The Dail Eireann was crowded for the important debate, many northern Nationalists having come here for the discussion which so intimately concerns them. The United States and various other consuls were seated in the galleries, as was also Mrs. Disraeli, sister of the late Michael Collins.

President O'Connell's hope to have the bill pass its second reading today was frustrated by the obstructive tactics of Laborite Tom Johnson.

Special to The Advertiser. Toronto, Dec. 7.—The convention of the Ontario Conservative association, which was postponed owing to the inability of Right Hon. Arthur Meighen to be present, has not yet been called, but it is expected that it will take place shortly.

Already strange rumblings are being heard of a storm which threatens to break out at the meeting. Mr. J. R. MacNicol, who contested the convention in Northwest Toronto, is president of the Ontario association, which position he has occupied two years out of a two-year term. It is rumored that a move is on foot to cut the term off short, dislodge Mr. MacNicol and replace him by some other member of the party. The proposal is to reduce the term of office of president from three years to one.

Special to The Advertiser. Toronto, Dec. 7.—The city council tonight adopted the recommendation of the committee of the whole that the request of the board of education for $240,000 debenture issue, covering the erection of a building for secondary education be not yet be called, but it is expected that it will take place shortly.

The vote of the council was 5 to 5 against granting the request.

It was decided to submit a bylaw at the January elections for a debenture issue of $15,000 for the erection of a comfort station.
