BAPTISTS IN SESSION AT THE ANNUAL MEETING

Church Workers of British Columbia and Adjacent States Discuss Issues of Vital Interest

The work of the Young People's Union was very ably treated in an address by Rev. J. W. Williams at the assumption of the proceedings of the Baptist convention today. The general work of the church being emphasized. The widespread influence of the society for good was dealt with graphically, and statistics replete with information. The serviceability of the Union paper also obtained attention. Discussion followed, and the work of the Triple Alliance next received recognition from Mr. A. Huggins of Vancouver. A lecture on Sunday School Work in all departments, by Rev. C. Burnett, profitably occupied the remainder of the morning. This afternoon the women's convention in session and this evening there will be reports from various committees. An address on African Missions, by Rev. Thomas Moody, and on "Busy Here and There," by Rev. H. F. Perry, B. D., will be features of the evening song service.

During the opening sessions Rev. D. E. Hart, the field superintendent, gave an instructive and interesting address on the Home Missions of B. C. Among the points he made was the fact that education and labor in the home missions ought to be combined. The one was necessary from a helpful standpoint to the other. Reference to the general board he referred to the Rev. W. T. Stackhouse having withdrawn from the position of general superintendent of the four western provinces to assume the leadership of the Dominion Laymen's missionary movement, leaving the reins in the hands of the Rev. D. B. Harkness of Winnipeg, with the assistance of the Rev. Mr. Jackson of Vancouver. Mr. Hart spoke of the fact that the climate of British Columbia brought the people from all parts of the world, and that the Baptists had an important work to carry out. He gave an account of the 31 churches in British Columbia, the 33 Sunday schools, and the 14 Baptist Young People's unions. He also drew attention to the past year's appointments. Among these was Dr. H. F. Perry formerly of Jarvis Street church, Toronto, who has now taken the pastorate of the First Baptist church in Vancouver. He expressed the hope that the future success which had attended Dr. Perry in the east would follow him in his new charge.

Need of Union. The Rev. D. B. Harkness, general superintendent of the Baptist Union of Western Canada, delivered an address on organization and ways and means of future aggressive work. He laid stress on the need of uniting all the forces in the four provinces. Baptists stood for independence and voluntarily cooperation. The church was the unit in the convention and the individual in the unit. The church, and thus it would be seen that individual effort was necessary. The larger work could only be done when each individual realized his or her responsibility. Missionary work might be summed up as home missions, foreign missions and the educational interests. The policy of the future would be to have one department having representatives on it from all four provinces, and one treasurer. He illustrated his point by saying that the convention was changed to a convention for the future, and that a chapel for him to preach in, and also a fund to support him. Thus it would be seen that there was a need for a large public treasury.

He pointed out that the two western colleges were at Okanagan and Brandon, and that two others were expected to be established before the west was fully equipped for complete service. The closing of the convention addressed the Rev. T. H. McKee, who proposed a resolution that the name of the convention be changed to the Baptist Union of Western Canada. The resolution carried unanimously. The convention sermon last evening was delivered by Rev. Mr. Frith Nelson, from the text: "Philippines, chapter 2, verse 10, dwelling on the words, 'Hitherto have I known thee as a servant, but now thou art my friend.' From this he brought out as one of the main points the act of the honor due to Christ. He devoted for marking, and why people should give to Him what He deserved and claimed. He showed that promotion was the result of service, and the secret of the greatness of God was in the name of Jesus. The motive for foreign and home missions was founded on the name of Jesus.

The Rev. C. Burnett introduced the Rev. W. C. Biddis of St. Paul, Minn., to the convention. The latter said that he was now being welcomed on the Pacific seaboard by Mr. Burnett, whom he had once welcomed in similar fashion on the Atlantic coast. He brought greetings from 3,000,000 of Baptists in the United States. He said that he was a Baptist all the way up, all the way down, all the way through, all the way round, from the sole of his foot to the hair of his crown. The Rev. Dr. T. Stackhouse spoke on the laymen's missionary movement of which he is the Canadian superintendent. He showed that this was an age of investigation. Today people were asking questions. In connection with the first question he pointed out that there was no salvation in any other but the name of Jesus, and to the second question he said that he should go into all the world and preach the gospel. "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved, and that he who believeth not shall be damned."

The laymen's missionary movement, he pointed out, gave every man and woman an opportunity to help in the work of the cause. The call came in four ways, by united action, by cooperative action, by consistent action, and by prompt action. If there was a united missionary movement of all denominations there would be no national conflicts. More missionaries, less Dreadnoughts. If the denominations were united the cause for Christ might win, but undivided they would fail. He was sick of hearing people sing "I sit and sing myself away to everlasting bliss," and no action followed after. When the collection plates

ROSSLAND MINER IS ROBBED IN SPOKANE

Joe Menard Had $1,000 Hard-Earned Dollars and Two Thugs Beat Him Senseless and Took Them

Spokane, July 8.—Taken to Manito Park in broad daylight, knocked unconscious and robbed of $1,000 in currency by two unknown thugs, was the fate that befell Joe Menard, who arrived in Spokane last Saturday on his way to Reno, Nevada. In the fight Menard's shirt was almost cut into ribbons by a scissor and he was terribly beaten. Menard had the cash in a belt inside his waist and it was not until he was laid senseless that the robbers were able to secure the money. When he regained consciousness shortly afterwards the thugs had departed.

Menard is a miner, aged 55 years, from Rossland, B. C., and tears streamed down his face as he related the story of the holdup to the police. The $1,000 which was taken represents months of savings at hard labor and the man is left stranded in a strange place with no money or friends.
