

SEVEN YEARS OF TORTURE

Headaches and Indigestion
Ended By "Fruit-a-lives"

The Marvellous Fruit Medicine

Like thousands and thousands of other sufferers, Mr. Albert Varner of Buckingham, P.Q., tried many remedies and went to doctors and specialists; but nothing did him any good.

Finally a friend advised him to try "Fruit-a-lives"—now he is well. As he says in a letter:

"For seven years, I suffered terribly from Headaches and Indigestion. I had belching gas, bitter stuff would come up my mouth, often vomiting, and was terribly constipated. I took Fruit-a-lives and this grand fruit medicine made me well."

Box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c.

New Richmond

A delightful afternoon was spent at "Shellknows" the home of Mr. and Mrs. William McWhirter (V. S.), on August 31st, the occasion being the twenty-fifth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. McWhirter.

The entertainment came as a complete surprise to the host and hostess when friends and neighbors trooped in with kind words of greeting and congratulations.

Mrs. Wesley McColm read the following address:

Dear Mr. and Mrs. McWhirter:

"It is twenty five years today since you were receiving congratulations and good wishes from your many friends on the beginning of your wedded life."

Now, today, we, your friends and neighbors are gathered here to congratulate you both upon having completed the "Silver Circle" and offer our best wishes that you may live together, and enjoy as much happiness in the future as you have in the past and while looking at the bright, pure surface of this little token, we now present to you to accept, may you see the fore-shadowing of a blessed future.

We are,

Your sincere friends,

New Richmond Centre, Que.

Aug. 31st, 1923.

Mrs. MacWhirter was presented with a gift of thirty dollars.

Mr. MacWhirter responded in a few appropriate words, being followed in well-chosen words by Rev. Alex. McKay.

Refreshments were served, and as the day was beautifully warm the company spent the time out of doors in the shade of the large tree beside the house.

The guests were Rev. Alex. McKay, Mesdames Mackay, Hay, MacWhirter, Thos. MacWhirter, J. A. Burton, Robert Hardy, Alex. Palmer, James Montgomery, Percy Montgomery, Robert C. Mrs. P. MacNichol who has been the guest of her daughter, Mrs. E. B. Reid, has returned to her home in Campbellton.

THE VALUE OF READING.

Hon. Augustine Birrell Gives Advice to Young Folk.

"I would urge upon my juniors in their leisure pursuit of pleasure, and with a view to the possible length of their days early to form the habit—and it is a habit as much as smoking a pipe—of reading all sorts of books, long books and short ones, poetry and prose, novels and as well as new, biographies, histories, science, what you will," says the Hon. Augustine Birrell in the "London Magazine."

"I say nothing against bridge or any other game of cards. Billiards is a noble pursuit. Before a chess-board I am one of the best players of royalty. To dominoes I was once much addicted, though now I play no more, death having robbed me of my rival. Whilst as for the sports of the field they need no advocacy. All these habits are easily formed and seldom willingly abandoned. It is scarcely so with the habit of reading, for, strange to say, even when one acquires it it is easily lost. How many men turn away from the thing that saved the newspaper? Once they may have had the habit, but it is so, they have lost it. What a melancholy picture is that of an aged and once literate statesman—on the retired list—drifting up and down his magnificent library muttering miserably to himself, 'I can no longer read.'"

"First, then, my advice is—form the habit of reading, and, having formed it, stick to it. All habits are not bad, and some are of the very salt of life. What a glimpse into the dark abyss of melancholia is afforded by that chance remark of Balzac in 'Le Cousin Pons.' 'Many a man on the brink of suicide has been plucked from the threshold of death by the thought of the café where he plays his nightly game of dominoes.' What a cheerful, friendly life-sustaining habit! How right I was to be fond of dominoes!"

"Regarding life as a whole, as something to be endured and if possible enjoyed, from its beginning to its end, my advice is—read. Read, read, read. Read the 'Three Musketeers,' 'War and Peace,' 'I am certain that there is no greater gift of fortune than to have acquired and retained the power to go back to one's book with eagerness and joy.'"

Shortage in Pencil Wood.

Manufacturers of lead pencils are having trouble in finding wood for their factories. The lowly lead pencil requires a special kind of wood and the supply of it is becoming remote and limited, according to the New York state college of forestry at Syracuse University.

A light, strong, smooth, soft-grained wood free from knots, a wood pliable to the knife and pencil sharpener is necessary. The red cedar of the south Atlantic states has supplied pencil wood for half a century and was so plentiful at one time that farmers built their fences of it. To-day this supply is exhausted and the red cedars are sold for pencil wood at a premium. Most of the wood from which pencils to-day are made is obtainable from the Pacific coast.

The California Home cedar is in great demand. Western juniper is also utilized for this purpose, but is knotty and a large portion of the tree has to be made into fence posts and sawed.

The importance of the supply of wood for lead pencils is better understood when it is known that about 1,000,000,000 pencils are manufactured from American woods every year.

Trapper Has New Methods.

A remarkable article illustrated with a unique photograph appeared in the Wide World Magazine under the caption of "Trapping Wild Animals Alive." It was written by Maj. Jack Allen and the facts he describes are calculated to make the ordinary big-game hunter blink with amazement.

"From first to last," says Maj. Allen, "I never use a gun except in case of self-defence."

The only equipment he uses consists of lassos, lengths of chain and bare hands. He has these bloodless instruments. Maj. Allen has captured jaguars, leopards and tigers. He has had many narrow escapes from death, and his experiences make thrilling reading.

Maj. Allen says the strength of the tiger is practically equal to that of the lion, while he has the reputation of being far more courageous. Therefore the prospect of capturing a tiger alive involves a considerable degree of risk but on no occasion has Maj. Allen met with a mishap.

Africa Stands High.

Geologists believe Africa to be a huge block of the earth's crust, thrust above the ocean level by some force from deep in the rocks, and held there almost since geological history began. Africa is a continent practically without harbors. The northern portion is generally low and has at different times been covered by the sea. But the southern peninsula, the "dark continent," is a high plateau. All around its coasts the shores rise steeply out of the water. Rivers pour down the slopes in rapids, or, in the case of Zambezi, the rapids are steep enough to have generated a waterfall.

The Polar Bear.

Nansen claims for the polar bear a farthest north of 84 degrees, says Nature Magazine. It seldom goes more than a day's journey inland, but it is an expert swimmer and will go forty miles from shore in the ice-packed seas with ease.

Both Knocked Out.

At a recent boxing match in England each contestant landed a heavy punch almost at the same instant. One received a blow on the jaw and the other in his solar plexus. They both went down, and both were knocked out.

Obituary.

John Hugh Robertson.

New Richmond, Que.—A large circle of relatives, friends and acquaintances were grieved to hear of the death of John Hugh Robertson, proprietor of the Caspasia House, New Richmond, on Sunday, Aug. 26th, after an illness of over a year and eight months.

Mr. Robertson was the youngest son

PREMIER HINTS AT N.B. ELECTION

Veniot Advises Party to Get Ready for Next Year.

St. Leonard, Aug. 31.—At the conclusion of the banquet which was tendered him at the Cyr Hotel last evening by the Liberal committee of St. Leonard, Premier Veniot advised his followers in the context of Madawaska and Victoria to get busy organizing, for it was quite possible the general provincial elections would be held next year. Asked after the banquet concerning this Premier Veniot said that he had nothing more definite to announce but it was quite within the range of possibility that the Government would decide to go to the country in 1924 instead of waiting to complete its full term. Other members of the Government when approached would say nothing definite but the general impression left with the meeting was that the Government had decided to bring on the elections

HAY

"Some shippers sell prices—not hay. There are plenty of buyers who don't buy hay. They buy prices."

Taking quality and service into consideration I believe I am in a better position to take care of your hay requirements than any other shipper.

Correspondence solicited.

HUGH M. SCOTT,

212 McGill Street, Montreal, Que.

of the late James Robertson, Esq., and his wife, Mary Murphy.

New Year's Day, 1922, he was stricken with the illness which resulted in his death, despite all that medical skill could do. He was for some time an inmate of the Hotel Dieu Hospital, Campbellton, and on two occasions of the Royal Victoria, Montreal. He was finally permitted to return home, where after a few weeks he gradually became weaker and weaker until death ensued.

He leaves to mourn his early death, his wife (nee Susie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Gilker) and two young children, Burns and Eva, his brothers James, Alexander, of the U. S. Army, and three sisters, Mrs. James Brown, and Mrs. John J. Fallow of New Richmond and Mrs. M. Robertson of New York, U. S. A., besides a very large number of relatives.

The funeral on Tuesday afternoon was one of the largest ever known in New Richmond. The service was held in St. Andrew's Church, New Richmond by the pastor, Rev. A. McKay, and fully six hundred persons were present.

The service opened with Psalm selection 19, reading of parts of Psalm 90, Psalm 103, Rom. 8:32 and 1 Cor. 15; Rev. 21, and singing of hymn 427, followed by an earnest prayer.

By special request the choir rendered "The House of Many Mansions."

The text was Amos 4:12 "Prepare to meet thy God." "The Prepared Life." After a slight historical review, Mr. McKay pointed out that we are here on our way to eternity and preparation for such is our true business. Death must be met; it must be left; judgment must be faced. God speaks to us in several ways—the still, small voice, by the providences of life, by Jesus' words, by trouble and death—all these command "Prepare to meet thy God."

There are three important questions belonging to this command, viz.—Why, how, can, and when should we prepare?

1st.—Why? All are sinners and must all appear before God; death is sure and comes to all. Change and decay are found everywhere. Everything in life speaks of decay, all things wither and fall, and speak of our passing on. It is strange that people live as though this life were all. In view of the fact that it is not, should not we prepare? Death doesn't end all, there is a life beyond, infinite in time, for which this life is only a preparation. Again there is the resurrection, where we shall be assembled to meet God in judgment, to give an account of the deeds done in the body. Life, the prepared life is the only worth while life.
