FORM OF BEQUEST.

A DESCRIPTION OF THE BIBLE.

It was never known who composed the following description of the Bible. It was found in Westminster Abbey, nameless and dateless:

A nation would be truly happy if it were governed by no other laws than those of the blessed Book.

It is so complete a system that nothing can be added to it.

It contains everything needful to be known or done.

It gives instructions to a senate, authority and direction to a magistrate.

It cautions a witness, requires an impartial verdict of a jury, and furnishes the judge with his sentence.

It sets a husband as a lord of the household and a wife as the mistress of the table, tells him how to rule and her how to manage.

It prescribes and limits the sway of the sovereign, the ruler, and the authority of the master, commands the subjects to honor, and the servant to obey, and promises the blessing and protection of the Almighty to all that work by its rules.

It promises food and raiment, and limits the use of both.

It points out a faithful and eternal guardian to the departing husband and father, tells him to whom to leave his fatherless children, and whom his widow is to trust, and promises a father to the former and a husband to the latter.

It teaches a man to keep his house in order and know his will, it appoints a dowry for his life, and entails the right of the first-born, and also shows how the young branches shall be kept.

It defends the rights of all, and reveals vengeance to every defaulter, overreacher, and trespasser.

It is the first book and the oldest book in the world.

It contains the choicest matter, gives the best instruction, affords the greatest pleasure and satisfaction that was ever enjoyed.

It contains the most ancient antiquities, strange events, wonderful occurrences, heroic deeds, and unparalleled wars.
