- Harland, Henry. "My Friend Prospero." Toronto: William Briggs. 75c and $1.25.
- Hornung, Ernest W. "Denis Dent." Toronto: The Copp, Clark Co. Price, $1.50. Two or three of the descriptions in this book of adventure rank high as realistic portrayals of exciting events. A wreck on the Australian coast, with a daring rescue, the goldfields of Ballarat and the Crimean War are admirably handled. In addition there is a love story with plenty of intrigue and villainy, worked out in Hornung's best style.
- Johnston, Mary. "Sir Mortimer." Toronto: The Book Supply Co. $1.50.
- Johnston, J. W. "The Mystery of Miriam." Toronto: William Briggs.
- Lincoln, Joseph C. "Cap'n Err." New York: A. S. Barnes & Co. $1.50. Undoubtedly one of the books of the day. In sympathy, humor and freshness the peer of "David Harum." The scene is laid on the Cape Cod coast and the flavor of the sea is on every page. Captain Err is one of the most lovable characters in recent fiction and the other characters are equally interesting.
- Lorimer, G. H. "Old George Graham." Toronto: William Briggs.

Oppenheim, F. "Anna, the Adventuress." Toronto: The Copp, Clark Co.

Pemberton, Max. "Red Morn." Toronto: Copp, Clark Co. $1.50. A rousing story of shipwreck and adventure on the Atlantic, detailing the experiences of a young Englishman and an American girl, who are thrown unexpectedly together. Descriptions are graphic and the interest never fails from start to finish.

Phillipotts, Eden. "The American Prisoner." Toronto: Morang & Co. $1.50.

Rowland, Henry C. "To Windward." New York: A. S. Barnes & Co. $1.50. A tale of the struggles and ultimate successes of a splendid young man, who, beginning as a sailor and shipbuilder, became a famous surgeon. The book displays an intimate knowledge of the medical profession and should interest doctors and nurses. The love story which traverses its pages is told sympathetically.
