

THE EIGHT-HOUR QUESTION.

It seems almost incredible that while periodical struggles about the eight-hour question are yearly going on between the employers and workmen in nearly all civilized nations of the world, and, further, that while the most acute minds in both hemispheres have been vainly striving how to adjust the vexed problem between capital and labour, the people of Australia should have been quietly and advantageously carrying out this very same system for the last sixteen years.

The sixteenth anniversary of the establishment of the eight-hour system in Victoria was celebrated on Monday by a procession of the trades through the city, and sports at the Friendly Societies' Grounds. The procession, when it got into Collins street, was fully a quarter of a mile long, and the numbers were estimated at from 1,800 to 2,000.

A BEAUTIFUL SMILE is to the female countenance what the sunbeam is to the landscape—it embellishes an inferior face and redeems an ugly one.

THE HAND.—Irish girls have the most beautiful hands. English girls have too fleshy and plump hands. The hands of the American girls are too long and narrow.
