WICK

one of his medical appointments. In due course he will certainly get the senior appointment, but that will be much a case of promotion in the due course of time. And of course McNeil can look forward to it with confidence -

We have in Edinburgh, Dr. John Thomson one of the greatest authorities in Pediatrics in the world. Perhaps having known him has made our nature particular regarding his others. ~~But~~ Of course Thomson is now an old man, but I cannot see that McNeil will ever begin to compare with him.

Now, you will probably think I'm a bit reverting in my comments, but I am only giving you my present opinion. In a few weeks I hope to give you another and better opinion.

Let me know what you think about asking Johnstone's advice.

^{I remember} I don't want to sell you any thing but a first-class article.

I am just racing for the post so will only add that I saw Murphy in Aberdeen in just form, and our dinner to the room was an enormous success -
