

astical) on part of the case which was brought under the notice of Mr. Justice Johnston, and therefore it is only one judge maintaining his own position and criticising the decision of another judge, which is no uncommon thing in the domain of both civil and ecclesiastical affairs.