

16. Q. Why can't I give my contribution as a special gift for a special purpose, so that my name will be perpetuated?
- A. You can give a gift for a special purpose if you wish. It will be received with gratitude by the University, but the greatest need of the University now is a general fund for increasing salaries, providing additional teachers, class-rooms to teach in and dormitories for the students. One interested in Dalhousie should consider just how he may serve her best. It is much more important to have free money to raise teachers salaries, than to receive new memorial scholarships, etc. Meet Dalhousie's keenest needs first.
17. Q. Will all my money go to the Fund?
- A. Every cent collected will go to the Fund. The cost of raising the Fund and all expenses of the Committee will be met from other sources.
18. Q. Why doesn't Dalhousie secure all its funds from its own wealthy alumni?
- A. Dalhousie's alumni are not wealthy. Dalhousie does not believe that it is the institution of any class or group of men. Its services are Dominion wide. It does not wish to rely for support on a few rich men, but on men who have the interest of education at heart. A gift of money to Dalhousie is an endorsement of its work—and Dalhousie wants to feel that its efforts to train Canadian men have met with general approval.
19. Q. I am particularly interested in the Law School. Why can't I contribute directly to it?
- A. You can do that of course, if you desire to. But a contribution to the fund will directly benefit the Law School. It will go towards
