The honorary governors who will visit the Toronto General Hospital during the week commencing on Sept. 17, are Messrs. Eugene O'Keefe and M. J. Saney.

Sues for Libel.
MONTREAL, Sept. 15.—The second trial of the election campaign was entered to-day by Mr. J. H. Rainville, Opposition candidate in Chambly, Quebec, who took suit against Mr. Alne Geoffrion, a merchant of St. Paul street, for $5,000, as a result of charges made by Mr. Geoffrion in a meeting in Longueuil yesterday afternoon. It is alleged by Mr. Rainville that Mr. Geoffrion accused him of having sold the contested provincial election case in Rouville in 1909, and that in doing so he had deceived his alleged client, Mr. George Ares.

To Widen Lawton Avenue.
Lawton avenue is to be widened from thirty feet to sixty-five feet at a cost of $12,000. The city is to pay one-fourth and the ratepayers the balance.

Birds Presented to City.
A fine collection of birds exhibited at the fair have been given to the city, and Park Commissioner Wilson has made application to the board of control for $800 to make the birds more comfortable during the winter.

Contractors' Little Clash.
Judgment to the extent of $30 was awarded to Wm. R. Phillips in the suit for damages instituted against David Heron.

Phillips had the contract for the erection of a building in East Toronto and sublet the contract for the masonry, amounting to $123, to Heron. During the work, Heron lost his temper and assaulted Phillips. As a result of the assault Phillips was under the doctor's care three days, and was unable to return to work for two weeks. Judgment was given for the plaintiff.

PUBLIC AMUSEMENTS

AT THE ROYAL ALEXANDRA.

Gertrude Elliott in "Rebellion." Miss Gertrude Elliott and a fine supporting cast, including among its members, A. Scott-Gatty, F. M. Mallin, Geo. Farren and many other well-known players will appear at the Royal Alexandra, on Monday evening, Sept. 18, for a week's engagement in Joseph Medill Patterson's new and powerful play of modern life, called "Rebellion." The characters in this living picture for divorce and remarriage are human, the situations are real, and the story is convincing.

The curtain rises on a homely scene in middle-class life in a Chicago flat. Jim Connor is a petty ward heeler, dissipated and shiftless, who has been idle for months, while his wife has been supporting him, as well as his mother, brother and herself. The wife, Georgia, enters with the news that she has had a raise in salary. She refuses Connor's demand for money for drink. The inevitable break, for which the wife speaks in a manner which is decidedly heretical to the mind of her mother, a devout, rather narrow-minded adherent to the Catholic faith, Georgia proposes a separation, to which the husband indignantly agrees. He leaves the home, taking with him the wife's pay envelope. Enter Mason Stevens of the insurance office where Georgia is stenographer under the name of Miss Connor. The love between the two is hinted at, but its developments are temporarily checked by her confession that she is a married woman. The discovery that Jim has stolen her money, breaks the last tie.

The second act occurs several months later. Connor has "broken up" and is working on a farm in Iowa, but the breach is as far as ever from being healed. The tender passion between Georgia and Stevens is relentlessly opposed, however, by the mother. One of the most effective characters of the play, the good Father Harvey, finally brings about a reconciliation between Connor and his wife. The third act takes place a year and a half later. In the interval a child is born and Jim has come back to his mother's ways, falling lower and lower, until the family is in almost destitute circumstances. The child inherits a weakness from the father to which it succumbs in a harrowing scene ending with the drunken husband and father reeling into the room of death. The first act witnesses the last revolt of Georgia against being robbed of her birthright of love and happiness, and despite the agonizing pleadings of the good priest she pledges her love to Stevens, declaring, even though the priest threatens refusal of absolution, that she will get a divorce and marry him. To all the arguments of religion, she replies: "God will understand everything."

Aborn English Grand Opera Company
The engagement of the Aborn English Grand Opera Company at the Royal Alexandra Theatre they will present, "Lucia di Lamermoor," "The Tales of Hoffman."

AT THE GRAND.
"The Virginian."
The wonderful popularity of "The Virginian" as a book, the exceptional success of the play, and the admirable portrayal of the name part by George Kelly will make the coming engagement at the Grand an event of more than pleasing interest. The main incidents of the transition from book to play, so that from the laughter of the christening to the tragic incident at Horse Thief Pass, the entire scene, where strict justice is meted out to Trampas by the "Virginian," the interest is continually maintained and the dramatic action is kept to the high tension so necessary to the success of a play of this nature.

The part of the Virginian, as played by George Kelly, is known to be a dramatic gem. He has abundantly proved his fitness for this character, his striking personality, intense dramatic force and personal magnetism have had much to do with the great popularity of the play.

The special features for the week will be Charles Leonard Fletcher in his comedy study, "Nerve," Harry Fox and the Millerside Sisters. Artistic Nonsense, and Johnnie Pons. Excellent Dancer. Other acts to be seen are Linden Beckwith, Sweet Singer of Sweet Songs, Hugh Lloyd, Selma and Grovins, and the Kinetograph.

The election returns will be read from the stage next Thursday night. Will J. White has been selected to read the election returns from the stage on Thursday night.

Mrs. Flora McDonald Denison has gone to New York on invitation of the National Black to meet the five governors of the five suffrage states.

Uses Only Cuticura Soap for Prize Baby

"I have always used Cuticura Soap and no other for my baby, and he has never had a sore of any kind. He does not even chafe as most babies do. I feel that it is all owing to Cuticura Soap for he is fine and healthy, and when five months old won a prize in a baby contest. It makes my heart ache to go into so many homes and see a sweet faced baby with the whole top of his head a solid mass of scurf, caused by the use of poor soap. I always recommend Cuticura, and nine times out of ten the next time I see the mother she says 'Oh I am so glad you told me of Cuticura.' (Signed) Mrs. O. A. Selby, Redondo Beach, Calif. Although Cuticura Soap is sold by druggists and dealers everywhere, a postal to Cuticura, Dept. 22, New York, will secure a liberal sample, with 32-cent book on the care of skin, scalp and hair."

AT THE PRINCESS.

"Thais."

"Thais," the drama, will be produced at the Princess Theatre on Monday and throughout the week with usual Wednesday and Saturday matinees. Joe H. Gates has engaged a particularly competent company to appear in Paul Winstanley's dramatization of "Thais," which the author has built who, so far, has vindicated every assertion made regarding her performance; Julian Lawrence, late leading man with Billie Burke, and whose ability is so well known that details are superfluous. All the minor roles are in capable hands and the rehearsals were under the able direction of Lawrence Marston, who was prominently connected with such great plays as "Ben Hur," "The Round Up," "Quo Vadis," and other gigantic attractions.

The company carries its own orchestra, in order that the most beautiful passages of Massenet's original score of the grand opera may be properly interpreted as incidental and extract music in the dramatic presentation. The use of the glorious Massenet music was made possible by Mr. Plante securing exclusive rights to use it in this form, by arrangement with the Society of Authors, Composers and Editors of Music, Inc., and which can be looked forward to by music lovers with measurable anticipation, as the large orchestra will make the orchestration one of the most attractive features of the play.

AT THE STAR.

"Star Show Girls."

John T. Baker and his Star Show Girls will be the offering at the Star during the coming week. Always a favorite in Toronto, this show is bigger and better than ever this season and presents many novelties. Two lively burlesques open and close the performance. The entire company takes part in them. A chorus of twenty young ladies take part in the big numbers. Among the well-known burlesquers with the show are John T. Baker, Louis Lynn, Helena Townsend, Aphie Giles, Martha Whelan, Mianie Whelan, Clarence Marks, Tom Burnett, Joe Whelan, Harry Harrigan, Al. Queer and Frank Quaint. Carmelo's Life Poses are an added act. A special wire direct to the stage will give the election returns Thursday night. There will be a midnight performance starting at 11 p.m.

AT THE GAYETY.

"Bovary Burlesques."

Those who appreciate hearty laughs, sweet music, gorgeous effects and charming women, will find them aplenty with the "Bovary Burlesques," who will come to the Gayety next week with a musical review, entitled "Too Much Laughs." As the name indicates, the principal part is that of a Hebrew. A clever story is told of the manipulation of a chorus girl hunting careless quality of spice and gravy. Thursday night two performances will be given. The first at 8 o'clock sharp and the second at 10 o'clock. The election returns will be announced at both performances.

"The East of Pawtucket."

If you want to enjoy an evening of delicious drollery and humor and see a comedy pure and simple in which all seriousness has been laid aside, you will enjoy "The East of Pawtucket," by Augustus Thomas, which John Cort has made an elaborate revival of this season, and is presenting Lawrence D'Orsay in his original role of Lord Cardington. The star will be supported by a merry company of players, including some of the original Madison Square Theatre Company, who were with Mr. D'Orsay when the comedy was first given in New York. The play comes to the Royal Alexandra the week of Sept. 25. Reservations can now be made by mail.

Not Politicians.
MONTREAL, Sept. 15.—A movement is on foot at the city hall to make Thursday, election day, a civic holiday. It is pointed out that many city employees are returning officers, and a number have to go out of town to vote, and as the polls are only open from 9 to 5, the city hall must give each employee two hours' leave to vote according to law. This will interfere with the business at the city hall, as the idea of promulgating a civic holiday is favored.

Court of Appeal Cases.
The following cases will be heard in the court of appeal, opening Monday morning at 11 o'clock: Dean v. Corby, Williams v. Barnden, Fisher v. Donnelly, D'Eve v. Toronto Railway, Williams v. Toronto Railway.
