Do You Know the Frolasset Corset?

It is so comfortable and hygienic, and in it are various models adapted to the needs of different types of figures. Miss Watt of New York is now in the Corset Department in the special interests of the Frolasset. Make your appointments early.

E. A dear little blouse of flesh-colored Georgette, with such a pretty, flilly front, which the lady should hide behind her roses. The closely-pleated frills on collar, front and cuffs are edged with blue, and the infinitesimal tucks down the front are stitched with the same shade. The collar, by the way, is convertible, and very smart when worn high. Also available in white and flesh. Price, $7.50.

F. A demure-looking frock, this worn by little Miss Fourteen, and oh, so cool and summery! For it's made of Shanghai, fashioned in a mode that is very becoming to immature figures. Box pleats in long, straight lines, run from top to bottom in front, are held in position by a narrow sash, and the sailor collar is finished with a silk knot—green or blue to match the stitching on collar and pockets. The quaint button-trimmed panel at the back you may see in the sketch. Sizes 12 and 14. Price, $7.95.

G. The artistic simplicity, the rather quaint Victorian air in the crossover front of this pretty little dress will attract you if your inclinations turn towards simplicity. But you should see its charming coloring! It can be had in sunny, golden yellow, with big shawl collar of white organdy. This crosses over a round-necked front of tucked voile, trimmed with tiny pearl buttons. The giraffe falls in long knotted ends at the back, over the full skirt. Price, $10.00.

H. By way of contrast is this trim, smartly-cut dress of linen, its coat-like top opening over a little tucked vest, with the modish rounded neck. The wide belt, which gives it such a girlish look, is embroidered back and front. The basque slopes up towards the back, where it is very prettily piped, and makes more effective the descending line of the rounded collar. In white, rose and grey. Sizes 16 to 20 years. Price, $18.50.

I. 'Twould be a joy to any girl who wants a very practical frock that is at the same time smart and attractive in color—this little dress of natural colored crash. The wide white pique collar, cuffs and very quaint pockets are banded with blue, and the belt is laced with blue cord. The skirt, as you may see, is pleated. Sizes 14 and 16. Price, $6.75.

J. However hot the weather, in a cool, fresh-looking dress like this you'd feel fully equipped to meet it. The slip of white voile, made in smart semi-Princess style, has a sleeveless jumper in the on-moore extremely fashionable Japanese crepe. This can be had in a delightful shade of pale green or gold. Buster Brown collar and cuffs and buttons match this jumper, the bow is of black silk, and the buckles on the narrow girdle of steel. Price, $9.25.

Plates! Plates! Plates!

One of the most remarkable bargains in the China Department for many a long day, for the plates are all beautiful china, hand-decorated—in fact, they include specimens of some of the very finest china made by some of the foremost English manufacturers. Moreover, the variety is immense, so consider the opportunity that is afforded you of starting a new dessert or tea service at little cost, or even of adding to your old one, for it is more than likely that the design can be matched among this huge collection. It is a splendid chance, too, for lovers of harlequin sets, or for those who need extra cake or bread and butter plates. There are beautiful plates with deep blue, apple green or rose bands and etched borders; plates with colored borders with tiny gold damask designs; plates with raised white decorations in classic festoon style on grey or stone grounds; with wide cobalt blue or green borders broken by hand-painted floral medallions, sometimes also with floral centres; plates with pheasant and floral medallion centres; Frenchy-looking scroll and rosebud designs, and others too numerous to mention. There are some sets of 1 dozen and ½ dozen; others are sold singly, and if you're puzzled about wedding presents, here is a very happy solution. Reg. $1.00 to $6.50 each. Today, 50c to $3.25.

(For this item we cannot take phone or mail orders, owing to the assortment of decoration.)

Dainty Dresses for Tiny Tots and Babies

There's nothing that looks quite so nice on that dear baby of yours as a hand-embroidered frock. And think of the money you can save if you embroider it yourself—to say nothing of the interesting work with which such a task will provide you for summer days on the verandah!

There are so many designs in the Fancy Work Department that it's hard to know which to choose for description, but here are a few which may give you an idea of the assortment:

A little cotton repp dress, in sizes for 2, 4 and 6 years, made in simple kimono style, with slots marked for ribbon at the waistline, shallow yoke with a spray of flowers and scalloped neck and sleeves. Priced, according to size, at 80c, 90c and $1.25. It can be had already embroidered in 4-year size at $5.00.

A sweet little frock of fine white batiste, prettily embroidered down the panel front, trimmed with ribbon, neck, sleeves and hem edged with lace; can be had in 6-month size, already embroidered, at $5.00, and with design stamped to work at 75c.

For the quite new baby is a long dress of fine nainsook, very prettily fashioned with wee tucks at the top, blue rosettes and sprays of roses down the front, having scalloped edges finished with lace. Price, $7.00. The same design stamped for work is 90c.

Another long dress—a rather quaint design in nainsook, shows kimono shoulders, little tucks on either side the front, wee embroidered sprays between them and larger ones at the hem, the neck and sleeves being scalloped. This completed is $7.50, or stamped for embroidery, 98c.

R. A pretty little frock of white pique, with kimono shoulders, the scalloped edges and the festoon embroidery in pale blue. The girdle is of wide black velvet ribbon. Size 4 years. Price, $6.50. Stamped for embroidery, in sizes 2, 4 and 6, priced respectively at 80c, 90c and $1.00.
