

TEACH SAFETY FIRST SAYS CAPT. ROBBINS

Ex-O.C. of Officers Tells of Safety Campaign in Border Cities.

Capt. Jack Robbins, M. C., a Toronto boy, who for more than two years was one of the most prominent figures at the exhibition demobilization camp, where he held the post of commanding officer in charge of demobilization of officers, is in town for a few days, in connection with the meeting of the Canadian National Safety League Council.

This youthful-appearing young officer now holds the position of secretary to the Border Cities Safety League, an organization which is virtually the first of its kind in Canada. In a word it is a comprehensive scheme outlined with the purpose of cutting down the number of accidents in the big manufacturing plants in the border cities.

"Since this association was formed last July we have succeeded in cutting down the number of fatal accidents 37 1/2 per cent.," he said. "We have five safety schools in operation, where we are conducting an extensive educational campaign in the principles of public safety. We teach traffic laws and give a course in first aid. In the near future we intend putting the system to work in the public schools where the little children will be taught safety as part of the curriculum."

Good Scheme for Toronto I would almost be willing to swear that if such a system were introduced in Toronto, as it is hoped to do, the number of accidents here could be reduced 50 per cent.," he declared. "This council are going to take up the scheme and it is hoped that the police and other authorities will back us up."

Capt. Robbins was born in Toronto, Ontario, and spent nearly a year in hospital. Shortly after that he was given the post of O. C. of demobilizing officers, at the camp, a job which required unlimited tact and diplomacy. Last October he demobilized himself, and went to Windsor, where he took over the position he now holds.

He now has complete charge of safety work in the border cities, where such big manufacturing plants as the Ford Motor Company, the General Motors Co. and the Canadian Salt Co. are situated. He is staying at the King Edward Hotel attending the conference, but will return to take up his duties tomorrow.

PRICE OF MILK HIGH IN TORONTO

No Answer Yet. The distributors were not prepared yesterday to give into the matter of this extra percentage. As one of the largest dairy managers said, "We want a day or so to study the matter out, but the increased percentage is necessary to meet the extra cost of distribution and wages." The managers of the big distributing companies state that their men are demanding a six-day week instead of seven, and are asking the same weekly wage for the lesser time, and that if they are to grant the demand they must get it out of the sale of milk.

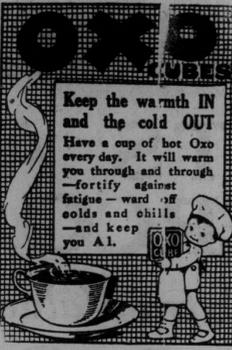

Against this increased summer price and lack of production there is the factor that there is such a large surplus of milk in the United States that the big dairy companies have entered into an arrangement with the health departments of the big cities to sell milk in the poorer districts at 1-2 cents per quart. Such firms as the Sheffield farms, the Borden farms, the Clover farms and many other big producers have such a large surplus that they have undertaken to sell for instance, in the schools of New York, milk at 1-2 cents per quart, and provide and pay the inspectors, and supply the ice for keeping the milk cold.

Why Not Here? The question is being asked in Toronto today to the effect, that if the States have a surplus of milk production, why is it that in Canada, when conditions are almost similar, it is still apparently short? The answer is hard to give, but it is said that the farmers refuse to produce to create a surplus and that if they find that production is likely to lower prices, they simply reduce the number of their producing cows by selling them, and thus avoid any awkward questions being asked.

It is believed that the board of commerce may have something to say to the milk distributors regarding their prices, before they actually come into operation on May 1, and endeavor to ascertain if it should not be possible to obtain for Canada some of the surplus milk from the States, with a view of bringing down prices in the Dominion.

An Educational Campaign. Altho Dr. Hastings, the city medical officer, is absent from his post at the present time, it is understood his department would be only too pleased to start an educational campaign in the schools and in the poorer sections of the city to teach the value of milk as food. This, of course, would be conditional on the fact that the milk is available at a price very low, say 1-2 cents per quart for distribution. But, as a doctor said yesterday, "Where a doctor said yesterday that a child of nine or ten, did some time work with Percy Hisswell during her seasons in Toronto."

STRIKING MINIATURES

Exhibition by English Artist Proves Well Worth a Visit.

Well worth a visit are the miniatures of Joshua Smith, R.B.A., which are being shown at the studios of Messrs. Ashley & Crispin, 61 West Bloor street. The subjects, as presented by Mr. Smith, recently from London, Eng., are among the best that have been shown in Toronto, and should bring the producer into note in his new environment. The fact that Mr. Smith is a portrait painter gives the face and features of his miniatures what may be called in very truth a "speaking likeness" and the workmanship is undeniably outstanding. Mr. Smith's credentials are among the highest.

Among the interesting portraits on display is one of H.M. the King, which was accorded a place of honor at the Royal Academy salon of 1917. Another of the late Lord Roberts, is also a miniature masterpiece. A delightful harmony in pink and purple is the portrait of Miss Doris Keane as costumed for her famous role in "Romance." Several child portraits add a touch of charm to the collection, not only for beautiful coloring but for their manifest fidelity to life.

CLARICE.

While Clarice has its origin in the same root as Clara or Clare, its evolution progressed in a far different manner. The Latin adjective clarus, meaning bright or famous, is, of course, responsible for both names, but where Clara followed the English and French, Clarice is the product of Italy.

The old Latin feminine of words ending in "or" to signify the door, was "clara" in modern Italian this became "clara." Clarice, therefore, was the feminine name so evolved and meant "to make famous." It proved popular through Italy, its famous bearer probably being the wife of Lorenzo Medici.

The France already had a Clarice, she adopted Clarice, giving a soft "s" sound to the "r" in the name. The Clarice which sprang up in England and America given extraordinary vogue by Richardson's novel, where he made Clarissa his heroine. The popularity of this book in France, brought forth Clarice. It is not the first instance of when a language adopts the change made upon one of its own words by another tongue.

Clarice and Clarinda are two other fanciful interpretations of the original Clarice.

The diamond is Clarice's talismanic gem. Its potency is best expressed in the old rhyme: "The Evil Eye shall have no power to harm. Her that shall wear the diamond as No monarch shall attempt to thwart her will. And e'en the gods her wishes shall fulfill."

I.O.D.E. MEMORIAL

Daughters of the Empire Do Spade Work for Scholarships.

In connection with the war memorial of the Daughters of the Empire a meeting was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W.R. Riddell, 109 St. George street, when Mrs. A. E. Gooderham, convener of the special subscription for Toronto, did some practical work in the way of launching the memorial movement. A large number of volunteer collectors were in attendance and to these a number of names were given, the owners of which will be called upon during the coming week to ask their support in what is considered the crowning effort of the war memorial work in Toronto. The objects of which will be, as far as scholarships are concerned, the children of soldiers or sailors who died in the service of their country.

Objects in View.

The plan includes scholarships, post-graduate scholarships, traveling fellowships, a lecture foundation for Canada for the teaching of imperial history and the Canadianizing of foreign-born citizens. The sum to be collected through Canada is $300,000. Toronto having for its objective $75,000.

Dunn, barrister, have signed contracts to appear in "Buddies," as "Marie" and "Bessie" in New York, Chicago and Boston. It may be remembered that Violet Dunn was a child of nine or ten, did some time work with Percy Hisswell during her seasons in Toronto.

Pipe Your Fuel Into Your Home as You Do Your Water

The backyard cistern is no longer a source of water supply for the modern home. The old oaken bucket is a memory. In this twentieth century you get your water through pipes. You turn the faucet and you have all you want. No fuss, no work, no delay.

Why not get your fuel for the kitchen as you get your water—through pipes? Why bother with a coal "cistern" and an old fashioned bucket when you can have gas, which is all fuel and no waste, piped right to the pot, pan or oven?

You regulate gas as you do your water—by turning a valve. You can instantly have as much or as little as you want, for one burner or a half dozen. The volume of heat is also regulated simply by a twist of the wrist.

GOVERNMENT HAS LARGE MAJORITY

Hon. Howard Ferguson thought the bill was an undesirable one and should be withdrawn. He could see no reason for interfering with existing conditions and did not think the municipalities desired the proposed changes.

Mr. McCrae (Sudbury) moved a six months' hoist.

Hon. Geo. S. Henry viewed with alarm any attempt to change the present system of municipal government by such means as the bill proposes. The bill should be allowed to stand.

Mr. W. Ke (Lambton East) favored the bill, while Hon. Thos. Crawford insisted that there was no demand for a change in the law regarding property qualifications for municipal office. The house should guard against men in this province "who are living by their chin music, being too 'gay to work'."

The bill was described as being a measure towards extreme socialism. This was characterized by G. E. Watson (North Victoria) as being nonsense. The bill was a move in the right direction; there was a demand for it that was insistent.

Mr. M. Warren (North Renfrew), J. C. Brown (North Middlesex) both championed the bill as being a "measure of democracy."

Mr. McCrae (Sudbury) then moved for a six months' hoist of the bill, but his amendment was lost and the bill was advanced a stage.

Affairs at Kapuskasing. Mr. Dewar was warmly applauded when he arose. There had not been one word of malice uttered by the Liberal group when discussing the proposition; they were simply actuated by an honest desire to remedy a mistake. There had been three inquiries into the camp and it was from them made that the Liberal venture was ill-advised. Attention had first been directed to the camp at the last session of the legislature when it was learned that very few settlers were being located, while a great deal of money was being spent on the place. It was discovered at the time that the government had spent $50,000 to locate 77 settlers. This was the particular circumstance which resulted in the affairs of the colony being investigated.

It was the government's duty, said Mr. Dewar, to wipe out the soldiers' indebtedness and so allow them to be re-established properly. This was nothing more than what they were entitled to. The province was moral, responsible for the plight they found themselves in and it should see to it that they were generously treated and enabled to re-establish themselves in civil life at the earliest possible moment. The Liberal group in the house would support the government in any efforts they might make on behalf of the returned men.

Premier Drury said. Hon. Howard Ferguson's speech in justification of the establishment of the colony and the method adopted was the best possible one under the circumstances. He denied that the evidence taken during the investigation was slipshod. The contrary was the case. The settlers would be taken into the government's confidence and everything possible would be done for them. The scheme had cost the province about $1,000,000 and for that sum the men could have
