ANGLO-CANADIAN ROMANCE

A war marriage of Canadian interest took place recently at Felixstowe, Suffolk, Eng., when Lieut. Eustace E. H. Hamilton-Jackson was wedded to Miss Constance Pinney, daughter of the Canadian artist, John C. Pinney, R. C. A. of Wolfenden, Hudson Heights, and of Mrs. Pinney, formerly Miss Milley Rhynas of Montreal. The marriage was celebrated quietly, owing to the death of the bride's brother, H. Eardley Pinney, 2nd Lieutenant in the Duke of Cornwall's Light Infantry, recently killed near Ypres. Lieut. Hamilton-Jackson was invalided home some time since, after three months at the front, and is with the 3rd Suffolk regiment stationed at Felixstowe, where he and Mrs. Hamilton-Jackson will reside.

AVIATORS SAVED BY QUICK WITS

Gave Slip to German; Back Again With Apology

DISGUISED AS PEASANT

How One Airman Who Fell Behind Enemy's Lines Escaped—Tales of Daring Exploits

Paris, June 25.—From Northern France a British war correspondent recently has sent an interesting account of his experiences among the military aviators, whose operations he has been especially assigned to observe.

"It is only in the evening," he says, "that you have an opportunity for a talk with the fliers after they have returned to camp from their perilous excursions in the death-filled air. They are for the matter, two to a tentative, had the good fortune of taking dinner with a group of them the other night."

"All of these present were young men of good families and had received their training in England. I had met one of the fliers a few years ago in Mexico where he served as aviator scout on the staff of Orozco the revolutionary leader. All the other ones were comparatively new in the profession which they had adopted only after the outbreak of the war."

"Our dinner was somewhat delayed because we were waiting for the arrival of a comrade who had not yet reached camp. Now and then we gazed anxiously upward in the direction where we expected him to appear. Finally his aeroplane hove in sight and in a few minutes he had joined us."

"Sometimes, however, it happens that such waiting is all in vain, but cheerful hope is a thing that clings to those brave young men to the last. The night here at the table among us we had a flier who failed to come back in due time one evening some time ago. We waited for him until late at night. When we set signals to show him the exact location of the camp. The following morning he was still absent, and we commenced to have doubt about ever seeing him again."

"One morning ten days later, we spied a strange aeroplane on the horizon. It was evidently coming from England, and we expected soon to see a new recruit for our corps. Most of the British fliers when ordered to report at a camp in France proceed to their destination in their own machines instead of choosing the more comfortable means of transportation offered by Channel boat and train. Escapes From German Lines

"Presently the aeroplane landed, and who should jump out of it but our missing friend. He had a pretty strange story to tell about his adventures. On the day of his disappearance he had been forced to descend right behind the German lines. Through some fortunate circumstance nobody seems to have observed his descent at least not in the immediate neighborhood. Still, he realized that he might be discovered and caught so he left the aeroplane to its fate, and ran with all possible speed to the nearest peasant cottage; he could find."

"As he could speak French fluently it did not take him long to explain the situation to the good people in the cottage, who supplied him with some old clothes enabling him to pose as a native farm laborer. As soon as our friend felt that he no longer needed to fear pursuit, he planned to get away and rejoin us. This was more difficult because he had no ready money an absolute necessary requisite under the circumstances."

"But he had a check book on a London bank and through the intervention of his newly-made peasant friends a local storekeeper was prevailed upon to cash a check for a modest amount. He then set out on foot for the nearest town not occupied by the enemy and gradually he made his way to the coast where he took passage to England. A new aeroplane was readily procured and the young man returned dutifully to his post, with us.

Apologizes To Germans

"The German marksmanship has been developed to a remarkable degree of accuracy, according to the unanimous opinion of the aviators, every one of them confessed to unpleasant feelings when finding himself in the midst of a shrapnel rain. From the innocent-looking white clouds pieces of the three-inch bombs are scattered around in a radius of a hundred feet. Some of these fragments may drop on an aeroplane and put it out of commission. Often the flier himself is hit and killed in his seat and no less frequently a hot shell splinter strikes the flier's head, causing it to explode and wreck the aeroplane completely. Aside from this the smoke from the exploding bombs is extremely nauseating."

"There is an odd aviation story circulating through the British forces in France at present. One of the most daring fliers made a miscalculation one day in descending and landed among the Germans who made him a prisoner. He was left in charge of an officer whose observance of military etiquette was most scrupulous. After a while the Britisher contrived to escape and when he again safely among his own he sat down and wrote a letter to his late captor, apologizing in a very formal manner for his rudeness in taking leave so unceremoniously."

"Next day he flew over the camp where he knew the German officer to be and dropped the weighted letter down among the barracks. Just as he shot the missile he saw his captor appear and to get out of order and began to fall. It had almost come within range of the camp sentries before the flier finally regained control and betook himself to more secure surroundings."

YESTERDAY AFTERNOON AND LAST EVENING WITH CONGREGATIONALISTS

Officers of Union Elected and Interesting Addresses Are Heard

Effects of the war on the Congregational Church of Canada were described by Rev. W. T. Gunn, D.D., of Toronto, general secretary, in an admirable address at the session of the N. B. and N. S. union yesterday afternoon.

"Our president, Rev. Mr. Crate, has sent his son," he said, "and at the recent conference in Ottawa seven or eight ministers had sons at the front. Our host, Mr. Horsey is going to the front as chaplain and from his church alone there are going twenty-five young men, eight of them professing Christians. Another church in Montreal has sent fifty and of twenty students at our college in Montreal five have gone or are going."

"As regards missionary work, I am glad to be able to report that an arrangement had been made by which our Canadian missionaries in Turkey have been recognized by the Turkish government as employed by the American board and as such, treated as American citizens. They have refused to come home but are assisting with relief work particularly in the Caucasus at Sevas and at Van where the cables tell us, the suffering is very great."

Speaking of financial problems, Rev. Dr. Gunn reported that the best year in the union's history had been surpassed last year owing to the fear of the officers that the war would cause a deficit and their consequent extra effort. Looking ahead, he could see where farmers and some men in other occupations could afford to greatly increase their earnings and would do so. This would offset greatly the loss from men whose incomes were greatly reduced.

"It is a time like this," said Rev. Dr.

Gunn, "that the fountains of self are broken up and men find it in their heart to give. The church's greatest opportunity for spiritual blessing and for aggressive work for the Master is before us."

In dealing with home missions, Rev. Dr. Gunn made a spirited appeal for larger salaries for the rural preacher. "The man who kept his family and a horse on $800 thirty years ago," he said, "simply cannot do it today."

Rev. Dr. Gunn also reported on church union negotiations which he regarded as practically complete. One indication of co-operation was the exchange of ministers already being effected. The Presbyterians were taking some of the best Congregationalists.

Rev. Dr. Gunn's address was preceded at the afternoon session by a helpful talk by Rev. A. E. Mann on "Pastoral Visitation," and the report of the nominating committee.

Choice of officers and representatives was confirmed as follows:

Rev. W. J. Bevis, president; Rev. E. Thompson, secretary; Rev. J. H. Sutton, assistant secretary; C. E. MacMichael, treasurer; J. W. Flewelling, statistical secretary.

Representatives, C. C. M. S. Rev. W. J. D. Gibson.

Representative, Foreign Mission Society, Rev. J. W. Cox.

College committee, Rev. C. C. Claris. It is their heartiest wish that Rev. R. J. Haughton.

Union committee—Rev. Gibson, Sutton, Claris, Haughton, Mann, Wright, and Messrs. Miller, O'Brien, Barker, Davidson, Butler and Packard.

Evening Session

The evening session was a lengthy one, but most of the time was taken up with addresses. It opened with praise service conducted by Rev. W. J. Bevis, following which Rev. J. W. Cox, B.A., delivered a strong address on "The Church and the Good News of Humanity's Regeneration." He reviewed the lives and works of distinguished evangelists—emphasizing Luther and Wesley, and he said that if the church of today wishes to continue toward its ideal it must cause regeneration among its people.

Rev. C. C. Claris also delivered a powerful address on "The Challenge of the Church," which followed along the line of the position of the church in public affairs.

A Beauty Hint

To rouse a sluggish skin

If your skin has become dull, sallow and lifeless looking, it needs stimulating. The following treatment is the most effective you can use.

Use this treatment once a day—preferably just before retiring. Wash your face and neck with plenty of Woodbury's Facial Soap and hot water. If your skin has been badly neglected, rub a generous lather into the pores very thoroughly with an upward and outward motion, until the skin feels somewhat sensitive. After this, rinse well in warm, then cold water—the colder the better. Then, rub your skin for five minutes with a lump of ice and dry thoroughly.

Woodbury's Facial Soap is the work of an authority on the skin and its needs. This treatment with it cleanses the pores, brings the blood to the face and stimulates the fine muscular fibres of the skin. You can feel the difference the first time you use it—a promise of that lovelier complexion which the steady use of Woodbury's always brings.

A 25c cake of Woodbury's Facial Soap is sufficient for a month or six weeks of this treatment. Get a cake today. It is made in Canada and is for sale by Canadian druggists from coast to coast.
