

Liberal Leader Given Rousing Reception in N. S.

A rousing welcome was extended Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, the Liberal leader, all along the line on Saturday on his way to Sydney, N. S., where he will this evening open his maritime campaign. At Truro especially was Mr. King given a warm reception.

"There is no question but that the whole country is solidly behind the Liberals," declared Mr. King during his short stay between trains in St. John. Mr. King appeared very optimistic in regard to the result of the coming election and declared the people wanted a change at Ottawa. An outstanding feature of the coming campaign, he said, was the number of prominent people offering to run under the Liberal banner. He said that he was receiving telegrams every few hours telling of new candidates in the field. In fact, he said, there were so many offering in Ontario that the party would have an opportunity to choose the best material possible. In regard to British Columbia, he predicted that that province would send to Ottawa a solid Liberal contingent.

When asked for his opinion of the recently formed Meighen cabinet, Hon. Mr. King said its members had been placed in the position of "honorary pallbearers."

"There is no justification for delay in announcing dissolution," Hon. Mr. King declared with reference to despatches from Ottawa saying the prime minister would not likely announce dissolution until after he had returned from the west. "The people," Mr. King declared, "have a right to know the date the prime minister has decided on for the election. Mr. Meighen has apparently made the decision but refuses to take the country into his confidence to that extent until he is perfectly ready to do so. It is but another example of the autocratic manner in which Mr. Meighen and his colleagues are conducting the business of this country."

Five Children Have Appendicitis
Entire Family is Stricken With Appendicitis

James Mullen, a Minnesota farmer according to reports published in a local newspaper, has five members of his family operated upon for appendicitis within the past year. His wife's father died of appendicitis.

A Treacherous Disease
Appendicitis attacks at any moment even persons seemingly in good health. Usually, however, it is preceded by so-called stomach trouble, constipation or similar disturbances. Often when there is a warning feeling of uneasiness in the abdomen, appendicitis can be guarded against in exactly the same manner in which one guards against spread of throat infection, because that is just what appendicitis is—an infection in the intestines spreading to the appendix. When one has a sore throat, one can often prevent further trouble and the development of influenza or grippe, by using an antiseptic wash or gargle to fight the germs and a laxative to carry off the poisons from the body. Just exactly the same procedure is necessary to fight the intestinal germs and guard against appendicitis. But instead of an antiseptic wash for the throat, an INTESTINAL antiseptic is necessary.

Intestinal Antiseptic
There are now offered to the public a preparation having the DOUBLE action of an intestinal antiseptic and a COMPLETE system cleanser. This preparation, known as Adlerika, acts as follows:

It tends to eliminate or destroy harmful germs and colon bacilli in the intestinal canal, thus guarding against appendicitis and other diseases having their start here.

It is the most complete system cleanser ever offered to the public, acting on

NO MORE CODDLING FOR STATE CONVICTS

Prison Commission Adopts a Report Calling for More Vigorous Control.

Albany, Sept. 26.—The State Prison Commission adopted the report of Commissioner Mial H. Pierce, which recommends that the coddling of convicts in prisons be stopped.

"Prisoners should be treated like human beings," he says "but the coddling of the man inside the walls will not be condoned by the people. They expect the officials to see that the men are fairly treated and well cared for, but they believe the prisoners should work at least as hard as the man outside and earn their keep. This cannot be done if the rules for governing the prisons are made, even in part, by the inmates."

Mr. Pierce recommends that the prisoners, who now work nearly six hours a day, should work eight. He finds that about half of the population of the prisons are employed in the industries and that many are used in "maintenance." He says that the men work only thirty-four hours a week and that too many interruptions are permitted in the shops, adding that "the matter of self-government" has been allowed to interfere with the production of the industries."

He urges the Superintendent of State Prisons establish rules that make ing and shoving shall not interfere with shop work and that the rules be carried out uniformly by all wardens.

Objects to Transfers
The practice of transferring and re-transferring prisoners from one prison to another should be discouraged, Mr. Pierce says, and he would have the prisons so graded that each will house a different class of prisoners.

Standardization of manufactured articles is urged, with fewer styles of each article. Special recommendations made for speeding up the industries in the prisons are also made as follows:

"Auburn—Keep the cloth shop running to full capacity; purchase machinery and equipment; give the auto plate industry more room and have less self-government and more work for the prisoners."

"Clinton—Abolish the tinware industry; transfer the tinware industry to Sing Sing; enlarge the clothing industry; enlarge the cotton shop; if practicable rearrange the looms in the weave shop; stop cooling and eating in the shops during working hours."

Great Meadow—Build a wall around the prison; construct shop buildings so that inmates may be employed when institution is filled to capacity."

Sing Sing—Enlarge the sheet metal industry so that the can industry from Clinton Prison may be included; establish a larger printing plant, provided that the present law abolished relative to printing; stop inmates from eating in the shop buildings; place officers in the shops during working hours."

He finds that since 1914 the production of prison industries has fallen off considerably. Auburn prison shows a falling off of 10 per cent in the shoe industry. In the basket and broom departments the fall is 23 per cent. In woodworking, not including furniture, it is about 58 per cent.

Figures on Production Decline
In Clinton Prison the yarn and cloth industry and the shirt and clothing industry has declined 43 per cent, and the tinware department about 9 per cent. At Sing Sing the shoe industry fell off 10 per cent.

One of the reasons for shortening the hours of work is that with the number of guards now allowed the men cannot have the usual recreation and work in eight hours a day. The guards cannot leave until the men are locked up for the night. Shop foremen should get better pay, according to the report.

"Too much attention has been paid to the welfare of the inmates in the prisons in recent years, and too little to the welfare of the public."

DOG BANGLES FOR CEMETARY TRYING TO TAG AUTO
Lynn, Sept. 26.—Many animals and birds have done stunts which have attracted world-wide attention, but none of them has anything on a small black dog, comfortably seated in a large touring car in Central square this night.

The automobile had been standing in the square much too long, thought a traffic officer. After making sure that the parking time of the automobile was much overdue, the policeman went to the steering wheel and was about to tag it when the dog was seized by the dog. The policeman did not give up easily. He tried again and again, but each time he was rebuffed by the sharp teeth and growl of the little dog.

Finally he decided to throw the tag on the seat, where the driver would see it. No sooner had the law's tag landed on the seat, however, than the dog noticed the violation of the parking law was received by the driver until the policeman notified him vocally.
