ARRANGING FOR EARLY VISIT OF LIBERAL LEADER

Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King and Other Prominent Speakers to be Heard Here
—Members of Party Will Discuss Organization Plans

A meeting of Liberals, under the chairmanship of A. B. Copp, member of parliament for Westmorland, was held here yesterday to consider plans in reference to a public meeting to be addressed by Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King and other well known speakers in this city next week. The theatre has been engaged for the entire evening and it is expected that leading Liberals from various parts of the province will come to the city to hear the national leader of the party.

It was arranged that Hon. W. E. Foster, premier of the province, who was present at yesterday's meeting, will be chairman of the evening, but it is not known yet what other speakers will address the assembly. It is presumed that one, or possibly two speakers, including Ernest Lapointe, M. P. for Quebec East, Sir Wilfrid Laurier's old seat, will accompany Hon. Mr. King. Mr. Lapointe, who was formerly member for Kamouraska, is a well known parliamentary debater.

It is proposed to take advantage of the presence of many prominent Liberals of the province in the city to hold a meeting the day following Hon. Mr. King's address for the purpose of discussing provincial Liberal organization.

ST. JOHN'S LODGE, F. & A. M.

The new officers of St. John's Lodge, No. 2, F. & A. M., were installed last night by Most Worshipful Grand Master D. C. Clark, assisted by George D. Ellis, grand director of ceremonies. At the close of the meeting about 150 of the members and visitors sat down to a turkey supper at Bond's. The officers installed were: Roy L. Sippell, worshipful master; A. H. Stanton, immediate past master; C. D. Strong, senior warden; S. J. Parkhill, junior warden; Dr. H. S. Bridges, chaplain; W. H. Smith, treasurer; Reverdy Steeves, secretary; W. Fred Smith, senior deacon; S. Guy Smith, junior deacon; J. Henderson, senior steward; C. E. Cameron, junior steward; J. C. Earle, director of ceremonies; Wm. Tansley, inner guard; T. C. Cochrane, organist; Robert Clarke, tyler.

UNIFORMITY OF
TEXT BOOKS WILL BE DISCUSSED

For the purpose of consulting with the Nova Scotian authorities on the subject of uniform text books, Dr. W. S. Carter and Dr. H. S. Bridges are leaving for Halifax, where they will discuss the possibility of agreeing on certain standard books which might be used in common by the various provinces, and thus greatly reduce the cost. The text book committee of the New Brunswick Board of Education has decided that several of the books in use in this province should give place to better works but has not yet recommended any in their place. The movement towards greater uniformity is gaining ground steadily and already an agreement has been reached by the province of Manitoba, Alberta, Saskatchewan and British Columbia. The recent war has made the need for new text books, in such subjects as history and geography, more pressing, but there would be difficulty in securing immediately works which might be expected to stand the test of time. At a recent meeting of the executive of the provincial school teachers it was decided that the next meeting of the teachers' institute should be held next year in Fredericton on the last three teaching days in June. The committee appointed to report to the legislature on the subject of teachers' salaries will be ready to submit their findings when the next session of the legislature is held.

L. A. Moore, recently appointed school inspector for Carleton and Victoria counties, catered upon his new duties at the first of this week. "Well, the doctor says I must have a little change," "Sorry, dear, but I need it all for car fare."—Baltimore American.

SHOULD MARRIED MEN BE MADE TO WEAR RINGS?

Chicago, Jan. 7.—Should married men wear wedding rings as a sort of signal like semaphores on railways to indicate to unmarried females that, as far as they are concerned, there is danger ahead? This is a question being widely discussed in the United States as the result of a demand by the chief of women police of London that a law be passed in England requiring all married men to wear on the third finger of their left hand an advertisement of their condition. "Such a law properly enforced," said the London woman chief, "would act as a great protection to glibble females of all ages who are easily deceived by the attentions of the married masquerader." "Such a law," said a Chicago minister, "would be a wholesome stabilizing moral influence. Women are inclined to follow the dictates of their heart rather than their reason, and many tragic occurrences and triangular affairs, with which the papers are constantly filled, would be averted if men were forced to wear wedding rings." "There are," said a settlement worker, "about as many he-avamps at large as vamps of the other sex. Of the two, the male of the species is more dangerous than the female. I would favor such a law on the off chance that it might serve to curb the man who is constantly looking for an opportunity to flirt."

"Such a law wouldn't do any good," said a club woman. "Men will continue to be men, law or no law. Moreover, the law could not be enforced. What would prevent the married flirt from putting the ring in his pocket when he set out on a conquest?" "The law would be a good thing for the jewellers," said one of that trade. "Otherwise I doubt if it would be much good. If men had to wear wedding rings, you could be sure the styles would change and the wedding rings of the future would not be just plain gold bands but would be set with precious stones. It is masculine habit to wear rings with some sort of ornate setting." Wedding rings for men are not new. Men wear them in many European nations. But in those countries the ring is a custom, not a law.

ON WHOM WAS THE JOKE
(The Outlook.)

Booth Tarkington is said to tell with gusto this story concerning himself and another popular author: "I was struggling around an artist's Red Cross fair when two pretty 'flappers' of sixteen or so came up and asked me for my autograph. 'I haven't got a fountain pen,' I said, much flattered. 'Will a pencil do?' 'Yes,' said the other 'flapper,' and so I took out my pencil and signed my name in the morocco-bound book that she had given me. The flapper studied the signature with a frown. Then she looked up and said: 'Aren't you Robert W. Chambers?' 'No,' said I. 'I'm Booth Tarkington.' The flapper turned to her friend with a shrug of disgust. 'Lend me your rubber, May,' she said."
