DISAPPEARED.

John Ross is Supposed to Have Taken His own Life.

Yesterday afternoon it was reported to the police that John Ross, an old man who has been working at Joe Levy's restaurant on Government street, was missing, and since then, although a most thorough search has been, made, no trace of his wheleabouts has been dis- the Dominion government, through the ion that he has committed suicide, as he has threatened to do so quite frequently of late. For some time past he has been very erratic and despondent; in fact he was under the impression-judging from remarks he dropped while working in the restaurant that he was a burden to his friends. He worked at the restaurant during the and toat in consequence of the restricnight. He lived in a room above the restaurant, and although the room has the season of 1896 was 55,677 skins, as been ransacked thoroughly nothing has compared with 73,614 in 1895, and 94, been discovered that will throw any light on the subject. About two weeks ago he was heard to remark that he had a loaded revolver in his room, and he would use it on himself soon, and quite and all concerned. The two best months frequently he has told his frends that to catch the seals on their way north "would make a hole in the water." No notice was paid to these remarks. He was last seen on Thursday morning, when he left the restaurant about nine o'clock and was seen shortly afterwards on John street, Rock Bay, going towards Point Ellice bridge. He has gone over this route very often lately, although he is not known to have any friends in that district. The police and his friends think that the old man has committed suicide.

Ross, who was an old man of 70 years of age and about 5 feet 6 or 7 inches in height, was, when last seen, wearing a hard hat, a blue coat and light striped He had a fair complexion with gray hair and whaskers. He has been the Sound and in Victoria for the past thirty years, and for a time he was steward on the old George E. THE SEALING INDUSTRY.

In compliance with a resolution of the legislature. Hon. Col. Baker yesteruay presented a return relating to the seaiing dimcuity. It consisted of a certified copy of a report of a committee of the executive council approved by the Lieut.-Governor. It is dated February 3, 10.7, and states as follows: "On himemo. from the attorney-general, dated January 18, 1897, referring to the uncertain conditions of the sealing industry, so far as relates to British Columbia, which are the result of restrictions imposed under the award of the Paris Triminal of Arbitration; and cauling attention to the danger which exists of further and more strangent regulations being adopted:

"The committee of council the outcome of an agreement between His friends are of the opin- government of ther Majesty, and the government of the United States, would practically destroy the sealing industry in this province, and jeopardize the financial position of a large number of persons whose interests are involved.

"The committee call attention to the seriously anected the sealing industry, tions imposed thereunder, the catch of 474 in 1894. This falling off, coupled with the low prices prevailing in the London markets, has resulted in great loss to the owners of sealing schooners Free Trade England Continues to Enthose of May and June, are closed by the law, and the month of July, which is one of the best in Behring Sea, is also part of the closed season. These and other restrictions are ostensibly for the purpose of allowing the seals to breed, precautions, however, which, even if necessary in the interests of seal life, are useless so long as the present de structive methods are permitted at the breeding places on the islands. The committee point out that present regulations are in many particulars arbitrary and excessively severe, and that, instead of increasing the restrictions, any negotiations on the part of Her Majesty's government should be, in the opinion of the committee, in the direction of their modification and for provision against the hardship and loss of the fleet arising out of the seizures on merely suspicious circumstances or for technical violations of the law."

The committee go on to give the example of the Aurora as a case of hardship, and submit that in cases of such technical violation the officers in charge of the British ship in Alaskan waters should be notified and a preliminary investigation take place, and instead of or lering the schooner to Victoria immediately order her to report at a date after the sealing season, thus obviating the der the present regulations. The committee then gives details of the number of schooners employed and the amount of money they represent to their owners in Victoria, and conclude "The committee recommends that the inadvisability of agreeing to further restrictive regulations be strongly urged upon the Dominion government, and also that any further negotiations on be half of Canada should be in the direction of their material modification, whereby the sealing industry of British Columbia may be placed upon a more secure basis. The committee recommend that a copy of this minute be, if ap-proved, forwarded to the secretary of state for Canada."
