Mrs. H. Hornbeam After Information

Called on Hon. 1st Minister Yesterday and Asked About That Mysterious Million—Says She Received Little Satisfaction.

"I was in to see the Hon. 1st Minister today," said Mrs. H. Hornbeam. "And I said to him: 'Now, Mr. No. 1, tell me all about that mysterious million that is worrying Hiram so. What do you want it for? How are you going to spend it? Don't be bashful now.'"

"My dear Madam," says he. "I'm delighted to see you. Are you going to vote for me next election?"

"Don't you try to blarney me," said I, haughty-like. "I wouldn't sell my vote for a million. It's too late in the day to become a millionaire; it ain't respectable; everybody's down on millionaires except college presidents, and they're doing their best to save millionaires from the disgrace of dying rich."

"No, sir, I'm not going to sell my vote for a million. It's the first one I ever had, and I reckon women anyway won't sell their votes as cheap as they say men do. Now, young man, don't you try to interrupt me. Now women have got the right to vote, you've got to listen to them. Don't you look at me as if you were saying to yourself, women don't know anything about politics! I've heard a lot of men folk talking about politics, and I reckon you don't have to know much about politics to talk about them. As for voting I should say men folk never knew what they were voting for, or if they did they never got it. There's Hiram. He voted for you, but what good did it do him, I'd like to know. He can't tell me. Neither can you. Don't interrupt! Let me get a word in edgewise. Talk—what have you done but talk? Have you carried out the promises in the St. John platform?"

"Why, here you are getting the people to let you have a million, and not telling them what you want it for! Maybe you're a great business man, but what kind of a housekeeper do you call yourself? How many women could get 80 cents from their husbands and not say whether they wanted to buy a hair ribbon or a gold brick?"

"What we want is a woman's government. Then when they asked for money they'd have to tell what they wanted it for. Now, don't butt in. Why didn't you give us women the right to sit in the legislature and form a government? Don't dare to interrupt me. I know what you want to say; you want to say there's too many old women in your government now. Allow me to say a word, please. Old women don't play fast and loose with promises and programs and money. It's something else, you're thinking of. Your government is light-headed. I'll admit, though it does move in dark and devious ways its binders to put form. Good afternoon. I'm proud to have had so much of your confidence. I'm sure you are a well-meaning young man for a politician, and I know Hiram will be pleased to hear all you've told me. Don't thank me. Good day. When your throat gets sore with talking—but there—what's the use of telling you—I've watched your political career—you know the uses of a red-herring. Good-bye."

SCHOOL TEACHERS WERE ENTERTAINED

Misses Alberta McLeod and Edna C. Tufts Who Shortly Retire Were Guests of Winter Street School Teachers Yesterday Afternoon.

A pleasant function took place yesterday afternoon at the Manor House, Glen Falls, when the teachers of the Winter street school entertained at dinner Miss Alberta McLeod and Miss Edna C. Tufts, who are shortly retiring from the staff of the school. Miss Tufts will be a pupil in an interesting event when the school closes for the summer holidays. After the dinner Principal W. A. Nelson, on behalf of the teaching staff of the school, presented Miss McLeod with a silver brooch and Miss Tufts with a silver salad dish, taking advantage of the occasion to express regret that the school would lose their valuable services, and wishing them success for the future. Miss McLeod and Miss Tufts made suitable responses. Two of the teachers expressed their sentiments in poetry, and other addresses were made in prose. Miss Margaret Haywood, a former teacher of the school and now in charge of the Domestic Science Department of a school in a large city of the west, who happened to be in St. John, was also a guest.

COMMON COUNCIL MET IN COMMITTEE

Informal Discussion Yesterday of Proposed Electrical By-laws—Other Business Transacted.

An informal discussion of the proposed electrical by-laws took place yesterday morning at the meeting of the city council but owing to the absence of Commissioner Thornton no action was taken. A delegation from the Electrical Workers' Union protested against the clause restricting access to the main fuse boxes to employees of the Power Company and the giving of privileges to master electricians not enjoyed by the journeymen.

On the recommendation of Commissioner Bullock it was decided to sell the "Butler" house on Milford Road to Michael Butler for $400 cash. It was decided to take up the matter of increases to civic employees on Tuesday.

Police Court Cases Yesterday

Ralph Corning Charged With Obtaining Money Under False Pretences—Henry Barry May Receive a Whipping.

Ralph Corning, who is charged with obtaining money from L. R. Anthony under false pretences and with stealing a carriage from John Glynn, was before the police magistrate yesterday afternoon. Some evidence was taken and the defendant was remanded for three days. The accused pleaded not guilty to both charges.

Mr. Anthony in his evidence said that Corning had told him he had a cow for sale and he went to see it and paid $15 in cash and a barrel of potatoes and was to pay the balance of $50 later. When he sent for the cow he did not get it. Mr. Anthony went to see Corning and was told that he was buying a farm from Thomas Graham but that negotiations were not completed and the cow could not be delivered but that his money would be returned. Up to the present the cow had not been delivered neither had the money been returned.

Thomas Graham, for whom the accused worked, gave evidence that the cow in question belonged to him and not to Corning and that he had not given Corning permission to sell it. Witness had intended to sell the cow, which was an Ayrshire and worth $100. He thought that accused had offered to sell the cow for him to Mr. Anthony for $100 but he was not sure.

The next charge of stealing a buggy from the barn of John Glynn was heard and Mr. Glynn told of the vehicle being stored in his barn in the Red Head district and that it disappeared from that place. The wagon was worth $40 or $50.

The case against Matthew Friers, charged with not giving a proper account of himself was further set over till Wednesday.

In the morning court Henry Barry, charged with using insulting language to two women, was adjourned guilty. The prisoner was remanded and the magistrate said if it were possible he would have him whipped.

George Winchester was charged with assaulting George Young, a Chinaman, in the latter's laundry. Joseph Brady, who was with Winchester at the time, is charged with a similar offence. Winchester pleaded guilty and was remanded until Brady is taken into custody.

Some evidence was taken in the case against Charles Savage, who is charged with a serious offence. He was remanded for further hearing.

ARE ASKING FOR POLICE PROTECTION

People in Parish of Simonds Considering Holding of Public Meeting to Discuss Matter.

The people of the Parish of Simonds are asking for police protection and it is understood are considering the holding of a public meeting to discuss the matter.

For some years the municipal council voted the money for police protection in the Parish of Lancaster and the Parish of Simonds, within certain limits, the assessment falling on all the parishes. Last January at the meeting of the council this vote was eliminated and it was left to the parishes desiring police protection to make a special assessment for that purpose. The Parish of Lancaster did so and appointed their own officers.

The people of Simonds, however, did not make any provision for a police officer and J. H. Saunders, who had for a number of years policed this section of the municipality very efficiently, was offered and accepted a position on the detective staff of the city force, since which time East St. John and Brookville have been without police protection.
