

fish you ever saw. It's above the bridge. I can't wait for you."

She came out as he hurried on. He caught up to the fish about a quarter of a mile up stream, where it was trying to ascend one of the rapids. Rushing into the water he struck it a stinging blow on the head, stunning it and causing it to turn over on its side. He proudly threw the spear on the bank and said to Dora, who had come up at that moment, "Isn't it a fine specimen? Watch me take possession of my prize."

He grasped it firmly by the tail with both hands to pull it to the shore, but to his surprise the fish was not as dead as it appeared. His grip caused it in a measure to revive. It gave one flop and he was sent tumbling into the water.

"You had it by the wrong end, Harry, but a bath will be good for you," shouted Dora and she thoroughly enjoyed the comical situation.

He soon recovered himself and hastening

Canadian Candy and Chocolate

In recent years, it has been demonstrated to the world that in most lines of manufacture the Canadian product is equal to, and in many, superior to foreign-made goods.

In the manufacture of candy and chocolate, Canada is at the top. The Pure Food Laws guarantee a wholesome product, while skill in manufacture has produced a quality and deliciousness unequalled in any country.

Within the last few months a tremendous demand for Canadian candy and chocolate has grown up in England and Europe. The large supplies sent to our men overseas during the war gave to many Europeans their first opportunity of appreciating the high qualities which the Canadian product possesses. European merchants and candy lovers are now clamoring for Canadian candies.

There may be some Canadians who do not realize that the most wholesome and delicious candy and chocolate are made here at home—but this is true.

You can eat Canadian-made candy and chocolate with assurance of their high quality and wholesomeness.
