

rt and
o., 292,
of ser-
name
Column,
Butler's
d and
rn to Column
special
sequent
n, 301,
rs, 276,
5, 305;
Khar-
death,
missed
, 290;
l.
fall of 3.
Butler's
u Dom,
r com-
for hot 311;
ccess of
tion by Jandet
action
forces,
and of,
forces,
3, 317,
in, de-
gnored
316-18;
n, fort
age of
Arab
Dervish
moves—
attack
315-20,
ion at,
329;
330-1;
329—
iminary
gnition
ce of—
348;
320;
tion of

INDEX

473

- Soudan Campaign, 1884-5. Rising of the Mahdi—continued.
Wady Halfa frontier—continued.
services, absence of, 319; Moltke's indirect approval, 322; reinforcements and superior officers, arrival, 322; sickness and mortality among troops left at Wady Halfa—absence of means of protection from climate, 332-9; Butler's appeals and their reception, 333-6; Egyptian army—efficiency, fitness to replace English troops on the frontier, 339 note; withdrawal decided on—work of withdrawal, 336-9; sickness at Assouan, causes, etc., 339-40; Butler's illness, 343, 344; ordered home, 344; slave convoy—disposal of female slaves, 341-3; untenable frontier—Butler's view, 339 note.
South African War—
Campaign of calumny—inst Sir W. Butler in London a Cape Town, 450, 456; attitude of official superiors, 389; time's atonement, 390; patriotism of Butler's offer to go out in any capacity after initial disasters of war—offer refused, 456; Boer general's comment, 457; vindication of Sir W. Butler before the War Commission, 456.
Causes—Annexation of the Transvaal, 195; elements of strife introduced in mining centres, 184; Froude's forecast of British policy in South Africa, 440; Jameson Raid, 392, 427, 446; Ladysmith garrison, 384, 427; object lesson in use of artillery, 418-20, 442; unsuitability of position, 416; see also sub-heading Rhodes and the South African League.
Conference at Bloemfontein—Failure, 426, 431-2.
Documents referred to by Sir W. Butler, 390.
Dutch population, 407, 434; loyalty to Queen Victoria in the Transvaal, 435, 446.
Forebodings in 1875, 177.
Johannesburg in 1899, 414-15, 421, 425, 434.
Knowledge of conditions affecting military and political situation,
South African War—continued.
Butler's special knowledge, 176, 380, 383, 417.
Military position during Butler's command as Governor of Cape Colony—Absence of any warning from authorities of coming trouble on appointment, 385-6, 387, 389, 390, 413, 423; authorities, optimism of—absence of preparation combined with encouragement of aggressive policy of South African League, 384, 414, 420; nature of the war as civil conflict, factor ignored in London, 445, 447; reduction of military expenditure ordered, 422, 435, 444; examination of frontier, railway from Durban to Johannesburg, etc., 414-16, 428; High Commissioner and Governor of Natal, action taken by, without reference to G.O.C., 442-3; schemes for defence and preparation for hostilities—War Office instructions, etc.—Butler's plan, 418, 420-1, 435-6; contradictory orders, 423; Sir R. Buller's statement, 424; Milner's, Sir A., views, 436, 437, 438, 439; 'Ring' theory, 417, 421, 438, 443, 444, 445, 454; Sampson's, Mr., suggested employment against the Dutch, 437, 438, 441; transport mules, etc., purchase ordered, 449, 452-3; observations of Sir W. Butler, reception by Sir A. Milner and home authorities, 449, 450; Tuli raid proposals, 440, 441, 443-4.
Milner, Sir A., relations with—Interviews, etc., 425, 426, 427, 436, 444; Milner's statement of occasions on which Butler had hindered his designs, 451; parting interview, 454.
Native difficulty, 447.
Position early in 1899—Contemporary account, 427; letters from Mr. Schreiner and R. W. Murray, 432, 434; storm signals, 422, 447.
Resignation of Sir W. Butler, 450, 451, 453; departure from South Africa—War Office dread of demonstration by Dutch community, 454-5.