

systems have shown more or less effectiveness, but of the thirty and odd systems experimented with, I may say that the system commonly known as the Rutherford System of Ventilation has proven much superior to any other tried. The superiority of this system is due to various features, the chief being:—

- (1) Ease in installation, in buildings old or new.
- (2) Adaptability to all classes of stables.
- (3) Suitability to variety of weather and climate.
- (4) Facility of operation and control.
- (5) Effectiveness in control of temperature in all parts of stable.
