CONCERT AT ST. PATRICK'S

An audience which crowded the hall to its utmost capacity gathered at St. Patrick's on Monday evening and were treated to an entertainment of vocal and instrumental music interspersed with readings, all of a first class order. Those who took part were Miss Winnie Johnston, Mr. Wm. Finnigan, Mrs. T. Winterbury, Miss Agnes Curran, Mr. T. Corrigan, Miss Evelyn O'Donoghue, Miss Annie McMahon, Master E. Strohmaster and Mr. M. Finnigan. Miss Mollie O'Donoghue and Miss Mary Cleary were the talented accompanists. The affair on the whole was one of the most delightful of the season and must have netted a nice little sum towards the funds of the new church.

EARLS COURT CATHOLIC ASSOCIATION.

A very successful garden party and social were held on Saturday, 10th inst., at Toronto Heights, Dufferin street. Although the weather was not favorable, there was a large attendance from all quarters. A van met the arrival of the cars at the city limits and conveyed ticket-holders to the grounds, which were tastefully laid out. The sports held in the early part of the day were much enjoyed, many handsome prizes being won. A grand concert was given at 7 p.m., presided over by Mr. Hayden, West Toronto, many talented artists taking part.

During an interval in the programme the prizes for which books were out, were distributed. The committee beg to thank the numerous ladies and gentlemen who contributed and helped to make the affair the success it undoubtedly was. Com.

DEATH OF MR. WILLIAM KELLY.

Commenting on the death of Mr. William Kelly, whose death occurred last week, the Toronto World of October 13th has the following interesting notice:

Many Torontonians will recall with feelings of gratitude the part played by "Citizen" William Kelly in the exciting contest which was waged before Sunday cars were legalized, and of which old timers are reminded by the death of Mr. Kelly.

He was about 70 years of age, and was born in Belfast, Ireland. Married at 17, he came to Toronto at 20 and engaged in the cattle trade, and was one of the first to open a butcher stall in St. Lawrence Market. He also years ago operated a limekiln at King and Parliament streets, and in the seventies purchased the Mansion House on the site of the Palmer House, the opening of which was attended by many notables, Sir John A. Macdonald writing his regrets at inability to attend.

In 1894 he began to cater to the city's needs for Sunday transportation by commencing a bus service, passengers contributing for their fares. He was fined $25 for operating without a license, and while the case was still pending in the courts, the city council held a special meeting to pass a by-law prohibiting the Sunday service. On succeeding Sundays the police were vigilant to enforce the by-law and finally a bus in which was "Citizen" Kelly and half a dozen others was stopped by Police Sergeant Barton. Inspector Archibald also butted in, and Mr. Kelly demanded that an arrest be made. At the station he explained that he and his family were on their way to church. Writs for damages against the city followed. Judge Ferguson non-suited him, but the court of appeal granted a new trial against the police, eliminating the city as a defendant. A verdict was rendered awarding $250 against Archibald and $200 against Barton, with costs. At the next assizes the suits of the other members of the Kelly family were heard, but after Inspector Archibald addressed the jury 45 minutes, the jury gave him the verdict. Mr. Kelly leaves seven children, Hugh, the eldest son; Mrs. Felix Moore, Buffalo; Daniel Kelly, Buffalo; William Kelly, Toronto; Joseph

TORONTO GAELIC LEAGUE.

The Toronto branch of the Gaelic League met on Thursday, as usual, in the assembly room in St. Lawrence Hall, President Hinds presiding. After the various committee reports had been dealt with, the president drew the attention of the meeting to two gentlemen who have proven themselves very active workers in Gaelic affairs in Toronto. One of them, Donald Cameron, Chief of Clan Cameron, and president of the Lochaber Society of Canada, was seen amongst us for the first time; the other, the well-known and genial Dr. J. D. Logan, Editor of the Toronto Sunday World, is a fully fledged member and an ardent student and admirer of the "grand old tongue." Both got a very generous reception. As announced in a previous issue, the "adh direach," or "direct method," of language teaching was put into operation, both classes uniting under Padraig O'Lughaidh. This direct method is based on the same principle as the Berlitz system, and since its adoption by the League in Ireland, has made wonderful progress. The readiness with which the students "took to" the new idea promises fair for its success in Toronto. Mr. Devine, who promises to be one of Toronto's greatest elocutionists, opened the musical section of the programme. His recitation, racy of the old sod, was very well received. Miss Charlebois, who possesses one of the sweetest voices in Canada, created great enthusiasm by her splendid rendering of some of Ireland's prettiest songs. Her song, "Ireland, I Love You, Aushla Machree," got a well-deserved "aris," showing as it did, the wonderful range of her magnificent voice. Miss Charlebois is undoubtedly one of Toronto's best singers, and we hope to see her quite often amongst us. Prof. T. Corrigan, America's champion step-dancer, followed, executing an Irish reel in his usual finished manner. Dr. J. D. Logan then gave a very full report of the recent Gaelic League convention in Dublin, at which the whole business was conducted in Gaelic. Miss Monaghan read, in a very feeling manner, Ethna Carberry's most beautiful poem, "The Exile of the Gael." A hornpipe by Mr. M. Davitt met with a hearty applause. A short talk from Chief Cameron brought the programme to an end. The meeting then adjourned.

"MOONDHARRIG."

NEWTON-MORAN.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized in St. Patrick's church at seven o'clock Tuesday, Oct. 6th, by Rev. E. Mulheran, C.S.S.R., when Miss Agnes Newton was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Frank Moran, Rochester, N.Y.

To the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March the bridal party entered the church, the bride escorted by her cousin, Mr. C. Lavery, who gave her away.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Mae Newton, while Mr. Fred. Elliott supported the groom. A very pleasing feature of the occasion was the many appropriate hymns sung during the Mass by the members of the Sodality, who had previously presented the bride, with a beautifully bound ivory covered prayer book.

Only the immediate relatives of the contracting parties were guests at the wedding breakfast, served at the home of the bride's mother, William street.

On leaving in the afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Moran were accompanied by the best wishes of a large circle of friends.

At seven o'clock in the morning an old gentleman, who happened to be abroad unusually early, came across a little newsboy, from whose small shoulders was suspended a well-filled bag of periodicals. "Little boy," said the old gentleman, "grieving that one so young should bear a load so weighty, 'don't all those papers tire you?' The youngster winked a disrespectful eye. "Bless yer, no sir!" he replied at once. "I never reads 'em!"
