He also proved to the satisfaction of all that such acts of criminality were made possible - in fact were directly traceable to the misgovormment of Ireland. This misgovernment was, said he, a cloud which had for long rested on the bli-tory of the noble Irish race-and one which has dimmed the glory of the mighty British em-ptre. Russell's addresson this occasion created a profound impression so much so that. Lord Reseberry, the presiding judge, offered him his hearty felcitations. ST. JOSEPH'S HOSPITAL, LONDON. A GRAND INSTITUTION.

London Advertiser, April 23,

Courtesy of London Advertiser]

Just what can be accomplished in the way of hospital growth and ad-vancement, through strict attention to the claims of those who are sick, is the way of hospital growth and ad-vancement, through strict attention to the claims of those who are sick, is forcibly illustrated by a glance at the history of St. Joseph's Hospital in this city. Fifteen short years ago Mother Superior Aloysia, of the Sisters of St. Joseph, conceived the idea of a hos-pital for London, to be conducted sole-ly by the Sisters, but for the care and welfare of suffering humanity, irre-spective of racial or sectarian lines. The idea was a noble one, and though force of circumstances saw the birth of the hospital in very humble quar-ters, merit since then has been stead-ily rewarded until today the city of London can boast that in St. Joseph's Hospital, according to its accommoda-tion, no finer similar institution in Canada exists. BIRTH OF THE HOSPITAL.

BIRTH OF THE HOSPITAL.

BIRTH OF THE HOSPITAL. When the hospital first sprung into life it was conduced in the former residence of Judge Street, on its pres-ent site, corner of Richmond and Gros-venor streets. The building was small and ill-fitted for a hospital, but the tender care of the Sisters of St. Jo-seph, more than made up for what the building lacked, and soon the hos-ital was taxed to its utmost to care the building lacked, and soon the nos-pital was taxed to its utmost to care for those who sought ease from Ills within its sheltering walls. Three years later, in 1892, it was found absolutely impossible to care for the patients, who were begging for ad-mission, with the existing accommo-dation and a handsome new building, The part of the existing accommo-dation, and a handsome new building, spacious and modern in all its ap-pointments, was erected. Until some-thing over a year ago, the hospital au-thorities found it possible to get along with this building, but at that time the demand for accommodation in the hospital was so great, and the requests of the physicians, not only of London, but of the entire district, so persistent that Mother Aloysia determined to build the large addition to the instituthat Mother Aloysia determined to build the large addition to the institu-tion, which now stands to the east of what is termed the old section of the hospital. When the addition was built, patients were housed everywhere it was possible to place them in the in-stitution.

and in their furnishings are nothing short of luxurious. At the figures charged the rooms are never empty. But if the hospital has been more or less an exclusively private institution, it can be stated with authority that no patient, no matter how poor, ever ask-ed for admission to St. Joseph's and was refused. Neither is it a sectarian hospital, for though conducted by a Roman Catholic order, it is open to all, Protestants and Catholics alike. Its staff is not composed of any one re-ligion, for at present, of the 25 nurses, fully one-half are Protestants. And of the 140 patients, probably not over one-half are Catholics. one-half are Catholics. THE OPERATING-ROOM. The operating-room in St. Joseph's Hospital is splendidly laid out and ap-position called tarrazo, a mixture of granite, which cost the neat sum of $580 alone. The operating-table is the latest Ball improved, made of glass and steel, and with all the ketest devices for the comfort and handling of the subject. On either side are archways. opening into rooms, where are kept all the necessary articles for use in the operations. In one of these rooms are three sterilizers, which cost a small fortune, and which are of the King-Scherer variety. There is a dressing-rom on either side—one for the doctors and one for the nurses, with bath and toilet rooms, and there is also a room in which the annesthetics are adminisi-tered to the patient, and a recovery-room on either side—one for the doctors the operation. The entire roof of the operating-room is of glass, and on either side are galleries to accommo-date the students of the Medical Col-lege when clinics are held. The galler-ies and walls are enameled I white, and the entire place is fitted with a view to sanitary and antiseptic pre-cautions. The students are not allow-ed on the foor of the room, so that they do not even pass through the room to take their places. NO (OMPLAINT ABOUT STUDENTS. But there is ne compalint as remendent

to take their places. NO (QMPLAINT ABOUT STUDENTS. But there is no complaint as regards the students, The management say they find the young men thorough gentle-men and worthy of the calling for which they are being trained. At the operations they are quiet and decorous, and wherever they may be found in the long ward, there is no complaint from patients, This is a point the Authori-ties of St. Joseph's Hospital especially emphasize. Since last May the students have been allowed the privileges of St. Joseph's Hospital, in the public ward, and these record of the students ince that time. The nursing staff of the hospital is an especially efficient one, and is un-der the superlutendency of Sister Jus-tima. On each floor a Sister I St. Jos-eph is placed in charge and she is held accountable for the care of all the pa-tients in that section of the building, all the nurses being answerable to her. In this way the nursing of patients 's reduced to a science, and system pre-valls in every particular. The head nurse in the operating-room is Miss Loughnane, and she enjoys the com-plete confidence of the surgeons of London. The training school for nurses in connection with the hospital is a very thorough and exacting one. All the physicians and surgeons of the city visit St, Joseph's and lectures are given by these doctors, as well as by those on the staff of the bospital. The subjects treated include surgery, med-icine, physiology, anatomy, hygiene, materia medica, midwifery, gynecol-ogy, dietetics, disenses of children, etc. Some of the graduate nurses of the hospital hold important positions in this city, as well as all over Canada, and the United States. THE HOUSE STAFF. Dr. W. J. Fischer is at present head NO COMPLAINT ABOUT STUDENTS.

FAITH IN ST. JOSEPH'S.

stitution. FAITH IN ST. JOSEPH'S. Doctors were satisfied to leave pa-tients in the hospital behind screens and the patients were ready to pay any money for this privilege, when rooms were unavailable, so great was the faith in the institution. To give an idea of how the hospital was crowded before the new addition was hult, it need only be stated that the hospital has now accommodation for about 120 paying patients, and about 20 poor patients, and that the number of patients in the hospital today, though every room and cot is filled, does not greatly exceed the number of patients taken care of in the build-ing which was erected in 1892. The to-stat cost of St. Joseph's Hospital was $0,000, and the building and grounds cover four acres. Tisting physicians from all over America declare St. Joseph's Hospital to be a model in its appointments, equipment, and service. There may be is patients is intensely pleasing to Mother Aloysia, and her capable staff, as well as to the physicians of the city. Truly the mother superior is a remarkable woman, With a zeal which increases as the years time them-selves out, she clings to her hospital tito, and the confidence it enjoys on all sides. It is to this Sister of St. Jos-esh that the entire credit for the suc-cess of St. Joseph's is to be traced. Quiet, unassuming, dignified, she man-ages the institution from basement to sthorough and proper is evidenced by thorough and proper is evidenced by ent. effort

Dr. Fischer, whose home is in Waterloo, is now in his sec-ond year at the hospital. It is custom-ary for the house surgeon to stay but one year, but owing to the opening of the new wing Dr. Fischer was pre-valled upon to put in an extra year. He is known as a physician of splen-did ability, and is also a writer of merit. Not long since he had publish-ed a neat book of verse entitled "Songs by the Wayside," which includes some beautiful houghts expressed in very beautiful now and his prose and verse are appreciated and are in demand. Dr. Drummond, being a bro-ther-physician, takes a keen interest in Dr. Fischer, and while here last week, St. Joseph's Hospital. The heal of the hospital hang large handsomely framed portraits of Lord and Lady Minito, mementoes of the visit of the vice-regal party to this city a year ago. The pictures were presented to the institution by Lord and Lady Minto.
