D WEDDING BELLS

SIMMS-SULLIVAN

At 8 o'clock Tuesday evening a very pretty and most interesting wedding took place at St. Patrick's Church, when Louise, the youngest daughter of Nora and the late John M. Sullivan of King's Cove, was united in Hymen's Miss Theresa Sullivan of Grand Falls. The Wanderers put up a fine fight wedding party returned to the residup was:dence of the bride's mother, 78 Springdale Street, where a reception wa held and where a very pleasant ev ening was spent, the relatives and friends of bride and groom being especially gifted as musicians. The bride and groom received many valuable and pretty presents, including several cheques and a handsome sew ing machine from the Martin Hard ware Co., where the bride was former ly employed. The groom's presen to the bride was a cheque and to the bridesmaids gold brooches. In the flecitations extended by the many friends of the bride and groom the

His Work is His Monument

Coaker Has Accomplished Wonders in Spite of all Opposition -No Labor Leader Ever Surmounted as Many Obstacles as Has the Leader of the F.P.U.

(To the Editor.)

Sir,-The wonderful work accomplished by . Mr. Coaker since the inception of The Fishermen's Union places him on a pedestral of honour attained only by arduous labour, assisted of course by natural ability, possessed unfortunately by few men. Like Labour Leaders in general who, give their time and their talents to the uplifting of the masses, he has to fight against great odds, and, in his case it is doubtful if any Labour Leader in the past in any country has had such an array of obtacles to surmount. Even his friends harbored doubts of the ultimate success of his undertakings at the start, and though they wished him and his big undertaking every success, still, because of the influence weilded by the "Big Men" of the country against him, his friends felt pessimistic, as to results. And, not alone had he the so-called "Big Men" against hime but he also had and has a coterie of "small men" But Mr. Coaker heeded them not.

He had faith in his mission, and by his energy and ability, by his straightforward dealings and the great interest displayed in the Fisher Folk he has entwined himself as it were round the hearts of not only the members of the Union but also every fairminded man in the country.

No words of mine are necessary in sounding his praises, were I to attempt to do so it would be superflu-Mrs. S. Rodgers of this city had ous, for, the grand results of his work stand out as a monument, testifving to the marvelous achievements of his career as a Leader among men. My object in penning those lines is not for the purpose of praising Mr. Coaker and his work, but rather to awaken more vividly the dorman: section of our community to a realization of that which lies in their power, if they will be up and doing. We have too long listened to the flimsy politician as he or they poured manifactured speeches into our ears, and just as often spurned honest men be cause they did not have the cloak of the Big Politician wrapped around them. We allowed ourselves to be swayed by a certain clique who had no policy to offer us, of if they did offer us one it was unworkable or destined to launch us in more boisterous waters than before. . Now the scales are dropping from our eyes. No one, two or three familles will ever again hold a mortgauge on the Government of our country. Coaker has charged the scene, and stripped this class of that 'alse importance with which they almost made us feel that the country could not be run successfully without

I say that that hoodwinking period in the history of political life in our hand has passed, and it is now our The high grade work of Umpire ment stalls did a thriving trade, duty to look about us and select men Chesman was greatly appreciated by and the proceeds amounted to of Mr. Coaker's stamp to represent us at the next election.

If Coaker never did anything more in his life than to accomplish this awakening of the masses, then I say his life has been indeed well spent. But he is to accomplish far more. He is, with our aid, to make this our beloved country a country worthy of the great race of men who are proud to call it their native land.

Already he has caused the most successful business men to 'gape with wonder' at the marvelous success of his enterprises. More than all trat, he has defied all the Money Bags in thec ountry and smiled at their op-

Now that we have such a Leader let us act wisely and not dishearten im by our ingratitude, but on the concrery let every toiler in the country rally round him and thereby give him encouragement in his big fight. By so doing we will do justice to him, to ourselves and to our country. Yours, etc.,

Late Fish News From Labrador

Fishery Shows a Little Improvement Since Last Reports-Much GRAND FALLS, Aug 16.—3.000 Ice is on the Coast Which Pre- game a draw—two goals each—good vents Fishermen Using Their exhibition. Traps-Majority of Schooners Have Gone North

The Minister of Marine and Fisheries had very good news to-day from the Labrador. Apart from the cheering fishery news, there is the unique thing of noting the presence of ice. Surely never before was ice found to be so late on the coast. But there is an axiom applicable to this particular fishery, "Where there's ice there's fish,," and we are glad to see it so clearly demonstrated.

The messages in to the Marine and Fisheries Department today are: Makovik.-Good sign of fish, but ice prevents the fishermen from using their traps.

Rowsel's Hr.—Good sign of fish. About six schooners here; traps not out on account of ice.

Bear Gut.-Good sign of fish; no trapping can be done on account of the ice. Lots of fish to be seen on the bottom. Fishermen say if a man fell overboard he would not sink through the fish.

Sedlik Bay.-Lots of fish seen on the bottom. Good fishing with jiggers; traps not doing much on account of
