

ES OF THE MEN ON LAKES

Franks—Wreckage Identification of Vessels Stern Warning Issued.

In order was issued last night warning... that the penalty is three months imprisonment. Those who have been guilty are given until Friday noon to make restitution, the notice published at Theford. Later steamship men went to Sarnia, where the police were notified and asked to protect the coast.

Probably Four or Five Boats Sunk

Nothing definite has been found out here yet as to the unidentified boat, with perhaps a crew of five men dead in her cabin, it was reported at midnight that the Reid's established its identity as the Charles S. Price. This, however, is absolutely certain, and in fact it said that some of those who have been working on the hysteria believe in the lost Caruthers. Whatever the case, there is no doubt but that four of the Caruthers, the Charles S. Price, the Regina and the Wexford, possibly another unknown boat, were sunk within a radius of fifty miles.

How Lions Behaved When They Escaped From Cage

Diverting Story of How Police Pursued and Recaptured Three.

Lions Take Possession of Hotel and Motor Bus.

Leipzig was on Monday morning the scene of a battle, in its way as unique as that which, 100 years ago, decided the fate of Europe. For there surely is no precedent for eight lions and a tiger being at large in the very heart of a big European city like the Saxon capital. Considering the forces engaged the consumption of ammunition was enormous," says the Berlin correspondent of the London Daily Telegraph. "It was on the stroke of midnight when a carman drew up his horse opposite a tavern in Berliner Strasse in the immediate neighborhood of the largest railway station in the world." He was driving the travelling home of a happy feline family, consisting of eight lions and lionesses and a tiger. It was a foggy autumn night, and the carter was probably very thirsty. These, at any rate are the only things to explain why he left the rear end of the van projecting slightly over the tramline. The haziness of the atmosphere was obviously the reason why the next car that came that way bumped into the cage in such a manner as to fling open its grated door.

ONE MORE ADDED TO THE LONG LIST

Of Women Who Own Their Health to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Mrs. John Cabot Recommends Dodd's Kidney Pills to All Who Suffer From Backache, Headache and Nervousness.

WHITE HEAD PERGE, Que., Nov. 10.—(Special)—As a remedy for women Dodd's Kidney Pills hold an enviable place in the estimation of the people of Quebec, and Mrs. John Cabot, a highly-respected lady living here, adds her name to the long list of those who stand ready to tell of the good work they are doing.

"My trouble," Mrs. Cabot states, "started from a cold, and I suffered for six years. I was already tired and nervous. I was greatly troubled with my back, and at times wore on neuralgia, rheumatism and Bright's disease, added to my pains.

"I had dark circles under my eyes; I perspired freely with the slightest exertion, and my perspiration had an unpleasant odor.

"I could find nothing to relieve me till I started to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. I can heartily recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to all who suffer from headache, and nervousness.

"Nearly all women's troubles are caused by diseased or disordered kidneys. Dodd's Kidney Pills bring back youth to women by curing their kidneys.

been informed that his charges had broken loose. He rushed from the parlor to find that in its frenzied terror a lion had jumped on to the back of one of his horses. With commendable pluck he flung his arms around the beast, and dragged it off by main force. The terrified lion, looking round for some other means of escape, espied a motor bus and hurriedly scrambled on to the front platform, where it took possession of the driver's seat. Not seeming to find this position at all one from the point of view of security, it explored the interior of the vehicle, and eventually descended by the steps into the street.

"But here it was confronted by a line of police herding their approach with flashes of fire and alarming detonations, so it hastily climbed up to the driver's seat where it was soon stretched dead by a rain of revolver bullets.

"Another of the lions jumped over a fence into a garden where it was followed by the police, who ridled it with lead.

The Lion Tamer's Appeal.

The chase now concentrated itself on three of the escaped animals, which had held together. But at this point an element of real tragedy enters into the fantastic comedy of the Leipzig lion hunt. For the tamer came running up in a state of great distress, and implored the police to spare her cherished pets. She assured them that if she was left to deal with the lions by kindness and persuasion she would soon have them all safely secured in their cage. As words were unavailing, she tried to overpower her own body between the deadly bullets and her four-footed friends. But if the lions were amenable to reason that was more than could be said of the police. Their blood was up, and they were deaf to her entreaties. Dragging the wretched woman to the rear, they kept on in a mad and relentless rain of projectiles, and three more lions were added to their bag.

"Six of the runaway lions had now been accounted for, one having been recaptured and five slain. The police had discharged between a hundred and fifty and two hundred bullets, and their skins, their victims were perforated like sieves. The adventures of the two animals which yet remained at large were the saddest feature of the whole incident. As they were gazing round for the hospitable harbor of refuge, their eyes fell on the Blücher Hotel. The door was open and the place looked bright and inviting, so they walked in.

They Go Upstairs.

"Perhaps it was a sound instinct which then prompted the lions to go upstairs. Presently a lady who wanted to put her boots on, and she cleaned opened the door of her bedroom. She heard soft and stealthy footsteps, and looking down the corridor saw to her horror a large animal, which she probably had not the presence of mind to recognize, stalking towards her. With a bloodcurdling shriek she slammed the door to, and then she relieved her feelings with a fit of hysterics.

"Along another corridor a Frenchman was roused from his slumbers by a knocking or scratching at his door. Thinking that perhaps some urgent message had come for him, he dragged his sleepy limbs out of bed, and rubbing his eyes with one hand, opened the door with the other.

"It is highly favorable testimony to the courage of the lions through the whole affair, that on their last mission, he at first sight thought that the animal which he found standing on the mat outside was a cat. But even a cat is enough to make the sleepiest man stare when it comes knocking at his bedroom door at midnight in a city as large as Leipzig. The lion opened his eyes very wide, and then he realized that the intruder was the very reverse of a ruminant, and he, too, lost no time in shutting the door.

The Last Two Netted.

"The lions seem to have been discouraged by the reception accorded them upstairs, for they returned to the ground floor, which they were permitted to investigate at their leisure.

Why Do Women Suffer

When They Could Be Well?

It is so easy to be well and strong and able to enjoy life, that it is surprising how many women drag themselves through the day suffering tortures from lame back due to kidney trouble. Mrs. Wilcox found the way to cure herself and gladly writes that she would be glad to share her experience with those who may be induced to use the same remedy.

The new class D league, it is said, has been framed by the circulation manager of the London Free Press.

Eric will not get Guelph franchise until the New Year. Columbus has not decided on whether Brantford's franchise goes to Salem or some other town in Ohio.

It is none of our business what President Nelson wants for the Brantford franchise if he intends to dispose of it, but we would prefer to see franchise offered to local people at the same price as that for which it is to go out of town.

Knotty Lee is said to be after Brantford's class D franchise. He will then proceed to St. George, Paris and Drumbo to round out the league.

They say they play politics in baseball, and it has all the experience of the Wall Street crowd.

In order to keep the Federal club of Toronto, class G baseball is to be kept out of Brantford. A year ago, Canadian League magistrates were on their knees to Mr. McAffery to get into Toronto, and were refused point blank. The invasion of the Federal into organized territory has changed the complexion of things.

PLAYERS' DEMANDS ARE COMMANDING ATTENTION

Columbus Convention of National Association Have The Matter in Hand.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 14.—Five committees were announced by President Sexton of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues during yesterday's session. One committee was assigned the problem of devising a way whereby a uniform style of contract can be prepared for players of the five different classes of leagues affiliated with the organization, and is headed by President Leavitt of the Oakland club of the Pacific Coast League.

In a communication of the convention, the National Commission made the suggestion of uniformity. The greatest obstacle how apparent, baseball men say, is the possible insertion of a clause requiring a player to be given notice of release ten days prior to the time of release can be made effective. It is understood that Class A Leagues are willing to work under this plan, but those in Classes B, C and D do not favor the idea of having to carry a useless player ten days on pay.

Secretary Farrell read to the convention yesterday the list of requests from the Players' Fraternity. No action was taken, it being left to the committee on contracts to formulate a course of procedure to be submitted to the convention for ratification. No objection to sending a committee into conference with the National Commission and representatives of the players will be made.

Request Not Unreasonable.

New York Herald editorial: Five hundred members of the Baseball Players' Fraternity have signed a written request to the National Commission to make seven changes in the contractual relations which now exist between player and club. These requests are not hysterical. They are not threats to organize a rival league, as was the case with the launching of the Brotherhood in 1899.

One of the grievances of the player is that he is never sure of receiving the salary for which his contract calls. Another is that, although he may be unconditionally released by a club, he is not free to contract for the future. Still another grievance is that when a player signs a contract he really gives himself for life to a club.

Baseball has progressed rapidly in recent years. A better class of young men are coming into the game. They deserve to be treated fairly and justly. The National Commission may be expected to uphold the dignity of the game, as it has tried to do in the past, by granting such requests of the players as may appear fair and just.

Another big power plant at Niagara Falls is planned by a New York promoter.
