The plaintiffs are the owners of a claim described as the hillside, lett limit, opposite No. 3 Monte Cristo.

The defendant is the owner of the hillside, left limit, opposite the lower half of No. 29 below discovery on Bonanza; this claim is commonly known as the Dickey hillside.

The rear portions of the plaintiffs' Monte Cristo property and the defendant's Bonanza claim conflict with each other. The plantiffs contend that their hillside extends 1000 feet in length, and that it includes a part of the hill side claim which the defendant staked off the left limit of Bonanza.

The particular piece of ground in litigation is known to be quite rich, and a suit concerning it was decided some time ago. Nellie Cashman alleged that Miss McDonald, of American gulch is the property was included in a bench claim, which had been recorded by her; but Dr. Thompson succeeded in securing a judgment adverse to the contention of Miss Cashman.

Now, he is defending his title against the projects of the plaintiffs. The testimony of the several wire less will not be concluded for several day
