A well known veterinary surgeon and sportsman has just died at Montreal. He was the possessor of several valuable horses, and in his will he stipulated that three of his best horses should be put to death in the most painless manner possible by declaring that he could not bear to think of his steeds surviving him and suffering ill treatment at the hands of strangers. It is stated that one horse was so broken hearted over the death of its master that it stoutly refused to eat anything from the time he missed the features which he loved so well.

Superintendent Mooney's Class Call. Brockville, May 17.—Tuesday afternoon Superintendent James Mooney, of the B. & W. railway, figured in most exciting runaway, and his escape from death or serious injury was miraculous. He was driving a high-spirited horse at the west end of King street when the big breaker, Mr. Mooney, immediately lost control of the animal and it started off at a furious gallop. The buggy swayed from one side of the road to the other. The horse succeeded in working its way through the large number of vehicles on the street without a collision, and sped on outside of town limits down the Prescott road. After running five miles the buggy collided with a telegraph pole. The horse broke loose, leaving Mr. Mooney sitting in the buggy. The horse was going slowly when the collision took place, and the force was not sufficient to throw him over. He is about seventy-five years of age, and is suffering greatly from the shock.

A peripatetic philosopher, who was recently based while visiting Athens, writes to a Brockville paper as follows: Happening to be in Athens recently, we noticed a few rowdies who make themselves conspicuous by insulting pedestrians on the street. A Sunday School convention for Leeds county will be held in the Methodist church, Lyndhurst, next Saturday and Sunday. A large delegation from the Athens Baptist, Methodist and Presbyterian churches will probably attend the sessions of Saturday afternoon and evening. At the evening session Mr. D. Chief Phillips, in the course of his travels around the village, has been impressed with the alarming extent to which burdock and other noxious weeds are allowed to grow and flourish upon private lands, and he has requested us to draw attention to the law regarding the removal of such weeds. Section 2 of the Act of 1870, R. S. O. declares that Canada thistles, ox-eye daisy, wild oat, rag weeds, and burdock, growing upon land, occupied or unoccupied, must be cut so often each and every year as to prevent the seed from ripening in their seed. After receiving notice from the Chief to do so, any owner or occupant of land must within ten days cut down or destroy all such noxious weeds as may be growing upon his property, or consent to comply with the order of the Chief, he is directed to enter upon the said land and destroy the weed at the expense of the owner, or he may lay an information against the party and be proceeded against by the law given the penalty at not more than $5 nor more than $20.

Let us spray. After a careful inspection of the ravages being wrought by the caterpillars upon the shade trees that adorn the streets of Athens, the members of the village council with one accord passed a resolution to employ a date laker, erected in connection with one of our departmental stores. We expected at one stage of the game to have for manager one of Lyndhurst's prominent young men, Wm. Charlton, but the sight of three days' rain, and the fact that the caterpillars were more than the poor boy could stand, so he suddenly recalled some interests in the East which demanded his immediate attention, and took the first train going home.

Seeding operations this season have been about two weeks later than usual, owing to wet weather. What is all sown and the acreage is about 1 1/2 larger than last year. We must confess that it is suggested that the spring has been unusually wet and cold, but we hope for a change for the better at no distant date.

I read with interest a description of your house boat, but feel sorry for the circumstances, which induce the building of it. If a summer's outing in it does not have the desired effect, we would earnestly recommend you to spend a summer in the prairie provinces and especially that part known as Southern Manitoba. Had a friend of mine, one of the former Athenians, Joseph Gallagher. He is in the furniture business and reports trade brisk.

In conclusion, I might say I was pleased to hear of the new arrivals at E. W. Young's. I understand it is twin boys—Christened Nip and Tuck. It is likely Arthur got to mention.

MANITOBA LETTER.

CRYSTAL CITY, Manitoba, May 18, '99.

Editor Reporter.—Dear Sir:—Noticing in your issue of the 10th inst. that the Seely's Bay correspondent expresses a desire to hear from Crystal City, and having a few leisure minutes at my disposal, I will endeavor to accede to his wishes in the response to his letter.

I might state I had a pleasant trip out by Chicago and St. Paul, enjoying a few days visit in each. Thence to Winnipeg, where my visit was prolonged for ten days. While there I met Mr. J. M. Dowley of Brockville, W. W. Coleman, who at present is practicing law at Stonewall, and certainly has no cause to regret looting in his Western home.

What with immigrants arriving and departing for different parts of the west, Winnipeg presented a lively and animated appearance, and as our western papers say, "has a great future before it." From there I went to Brandon and spent a few days with the family of Mr. J. M. Dowley, who is a Boissevain—looked up the 8 B people and found them all doing well. From there back to Crystal City where I finally decided to pitch my tent for the summer, and am now to be found doing business at the old stand, F. A. Young & Co.

Our town is going ahead by leaps and bounds, and a conservative estimate places the amount to be spent in building this summer at $75,000. The circus is going to stay in town with us this summer and not move to the next town.

Our local board of health has, with its usual energy, just issued a new song, written by a young fellow who has his eye on the prize of a job. It is in the form of a "What is the use of working, while father has his health." He is quite a musical genius, I fancy—posted in the bars. Among the many additions to our business enterprises is the establishment of a large and up-to-date bakery, erected in connection with one of our departmental stores. We expected at one stage of the game to have for manager one of Lyndhurst's prominent young men, Wm.
