Building a Child's Character

Some interesting contrasts are being drawn between the parent's method and the school teacher's method of making a child good in a series of interviews with an expert teacher, now running in the New Idea Woman's Magazine. In the April number the subject of the interview is "The Insolent Child" and Miss Farrill, the teacher who is the Superintendent of Education among backward and unmanageable children in New York City, gave it as her opinion that insolence in a child arose as a rule from imitation. She brought out a nice point, however, in regard to rousing a child to disrespect and anger as follows:

"But may there not be cases where so-called insolence arises from exasperation or bad temper on the child?
A mother might say, 'You must not do this,' and the child retort, 'I will, I will, I don't care what you say.'"

"Yes, but if the teacher knew that child, if she knew it would make that answer, she would not give it an opportunity to retort. The teacher avoids that whole side of his nature.
She does not command. She requests.
That is where many parents would differ from a teacher; and teachers of a past generation would differ from the teachers of today. They would command, not ask. The teacher, however, by asking instead of commanding, gets the thing she wants, while the child is not liable to irritation."

"But is it good for the child to be taunted so?"

"Well, there many people who say it is not. 'You are just avoiding the problem,' they say. But it builds up the habit of compliance, and this is what we want. And if we believe that life is a matter of habits, we are willing to build them up the best way we can. Habit is a tremendously strong thing. It is the habit of replying courteously, the habit of doing good things, that counts. I think it is all habit myself."

Life Guards

The Life Guards are two regiments of cavalry forming a part of the British household troops. They are gallant soldiers, and every loyal British heart is proud of them. Not only the King's household, but yours, ours, everybody's should have its life guards.
The need of them is especially great when the greatest foes of life, diseases, find allies in the very elements as colds, influenza, catarrh, the grip, and pneumonia do in the stormy month of March. The best way that we know of to guard against these diseases is to strengthen the system with Hood's Sarsaparilla—the greatest of all life guards. It removes the conditions in which these diseases make their most successful attack, gives vigor and tone to all the vital organs and functions, and imparts a genial warmth to the blood. Remember—the weaker the system the greater the exposure to disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla makes the system strong.

White Ants.

The white ants of Ceylon are very industrious. Their hillocks are about the size of a coconut and contain sponge-like nests, each inhabited by thousands of ants. Pinhead nodules of white fungus are cultivated in these nests as food.

The "Rote of the Waves."

It is a favorite theory with the fishing and seafaring people on the northeast of Scotland that in a storm three-waves are strong and violent, while the fourth is comparatively weak and less dangerous. This succession they call a "rote of waves." Fishermen returning from their fishing ground often prove by experience the truth of their theory and hang back as they come near the shore to take advantage of the lull that follows, say, pretty regularly after three big breakers.

Happiness in Marriage.

It all comes around to one of two things. With all married couples who differ in habit, in taste, in opinion, in mode of life, if there is to be any happiness somebody has to learn to give up or give up minding that there is a difference. Either way is as good as the other. It is surprising how many things are not of any importance if one can only think they are not.—Harper's Bazar.

Hopeless.

"Do you expect to make a business man out of your son?" asked an old friend.

"No, he's hopeless!" exclaimed the father. "I gave him a $1,000 bill the other day, and the first thing he did was to put it under a microscope to see what kind of germs it had on it!"

"Bells of Shandon."

In one of the dormitories of the Irish college at Rome there is a space on the wall left unpainted and unpainted, whatever repairs the rest of the room may undergo, for there, carelessly scribbled, is the first rough draft of Father Prout's "Bells of Shandon."

Studies teach not their own use—it is a wisdom without them we are them won by observation.—Ba-

TO IMPROVE OUR ROADS

In order to start a movement to improve the condition of earth roads in Ontario, "The Farmers Advocate," in co-operation with the Public Works Department of the Ontario Government, is offering $100 in prizes for the best results from a season's use of the inexpensive implement called the split-log drag. There are two sets of prizes, one for the Eastern and one for the Western part of the Province.
The first prize in each case is $25, second prize $15, and third prize $10.
There is no fee to enter, and the conditions are very simple. The judging will be done by Mr. A. W. Campbell, Good Roads Commissioner, Fuller particulars may be obtained by dropping a card to "The Farmer's Advocate," London, Ont. We might add that the entries for this exceedingly interesting and practical competition will be on March 27th.

Cows Poisoned

Dr. Higginson, Dominion Veterinary Inspector, recently investigated an alleged outbreak of disease among cattle near Olessa. In company with local veterinarians he visited the place, and one of the local doctors on questioning a farmer found that he had been rubbing some poisonous powder into the animal's skin. The poison went through the system of the cattle owing to their licking and some of them died.

prevents its development by using Psychine. Here is a sample of thousands of voluntary and unsolicited statements from all over Canada:

Dr. T. A. Slocum, Limited: Gentlemen,—I feel it my duty to advise you of the remarkable cure effected by your Psychine and Oxomulsion, which have come under my personal observation. I have well known to me, Albert Townsend, Hazel Hipson and John McKay, all of Shelburne County, were pronounced by the best medical men to be consumption, and to be incurable and beyond the reach of medical aid. They used Psychine and Oxomulsion and they are now in good health.
I feel it a duty to state these facts for the benefit of other sufferers from this terrible disease.
Yours very truly,
