Yearly Marriage Mart In Belgian VIIlage Crowded With Suitors. Two thousand bachelors from all parts of Belgium, many from France and some from Germany, swept down on the village of Ecaussines-Lalaing the other day to find brides. It was the fourth yearly marriage mart as established by the maids of Ecaussines, and as there are only intervene marriageable young ladles.

Ecaussines, and as there are only ninety-seven marriageable young ladies in the quaint little place, the supply of matrimonial partners fell deplorably short of the demand. All the same, the proceedings were a great success.

The men began to arrive early in the morning, but it was toward noon before trainloads of them appeared. There were all sorts and conditions of men. One man of 72 had traveled all the way from Luxemburg to find a wife, to whom he promised a dowry

Gay banners of welcome, triumphal arches with mottoes of encouragement for prospective husbands, figures of Cupid and hearts pierced by arrow were to be seen everywhere; but the local authority had not accepted the young ladies' proposal to name the main streets "Place des Fiancailles," "Place Conjugale" and "Place de la

All marched to the "Grande Place," where there was an open-air concert. The bands played nothing but nuptial marches and love songs. At the close an adjournment was made to the town an adjournment was made to the town hall, where the young ladies took their places at tables on which stood bowls of pink roses with such mottoes as "Hope On," "Love," "Be Trusting" and "Have Faith."

Securing Partners.

A vacant chair was left beside each girl, and at a given signal the men with matrimonial intent made a rush to se-cure the seats. Then coffee and a sweet cake were served, followed by a bon-bon tasting of licorice. When this was over the lady president made a speech on "The art of pleasing man," which was wildly applauded. "Remember Butler."

Anecdotes respecting several of our generals are retold in an article in the army cartoons of "Vanity Fair," in the Windsor magazine. When organising the Red River Expedition, Lord Welsethe Red River Expedition, Lord Weiseley received from home the following cable: "Remember Butler, 69th Regiment." He thought no more about it. One day, some weeks later, Lieut. Butler (now Lieut.-General Sir William Butler) walked into Wolseley's head-quarters and mentioned the telegram. He asked for a job. "I'm afraid there are no billets left." said Wolseley. "All Canada and the army wanted to get on this expedition." "There is one billet," said Butler. "What is that?" "You will want to know what is happening among He asked for a job. I'm anter the are no billets left," said Wolseley. "All Canada and the army wanted to get on this expedition." "There is one billet," said Butler. "What is that?" "You will want to know what is happening among the Indians on your flank during the advance." "By Jove, you're right!" said Wolseley, and the billet was his. Moreover, the general was so impressed by his forethought that he conceived the idea of keeping a record of the names of soldiers who think things and do things. Butler's was the first name on that list, which was afterward known as the famous Wolseley ring. fish hook, pipe or other similar article when he happened along and wanted them and was forty miles or more from wn as the famous Wolseley ring .-Dundee Advertiser.

Dolls' Mothers' Meeting. iBt by bit the scientists are making havor of children's play. The latest educational theory is that girls should be taught "the art and science of motherhood" by means of their dolls. Don't think that Bu-Ju is not effective because it does not "tearthings loose." The man, who talks most, does least kidney remedies that purge—and over-stimulate the kidneys—upset the stomach—are going to do you mighty little good. The dolls are to be brought to school—they are to be properly bathed and clothed, and object lessons are to be given to the children as to various hygienic devices by which the health of the dolls should be thoroughly safeof the dolls should be thoroughly safe-guarded. The preparation of the food for the dolls is also to be taught, though it is not said who is to eat the food after the various experiments in preparation. Perhaps the neophyte in motherhood is to be punished for her failures by having to eat them. The in mothernood is to be pulsarie to the failures by having to eat them. The lessons are graded according to the presumed ages of the dolls, and at the proper period the imaginary teeth will be expected. Now, the question is ges about curing you gently, mildly, correctly. You never know you are taking medicine—excect that you begin to get better and keep on getting hetter. Bu-Ju heals inflammation in the kidneys—takes away that sharp pain in the back and the dull ache through the hips—stops excessive urination—and enables the diseased portions of the kidneys to heal and strengthen.

THE PARLOR.

It Is Rapidly Becoming an Apartment of the Past.

The American parlor is a thing of the past, according to architects, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer. No more will there be a room reserved for state oceasions, such as the receiving of formal calls, the visit of the minister and for weddings and for funerals. We never take the parlor into consideration any more," said a Cleveland architect recently. "The parlor is merged into the living room. The good old fashioned parlor, which was held in so much reverence in the old days, has no place in modern architecture. "The demand is for a large living room in a small house, together with a dining room and kitchen. In a larger house there is usually a large living room, library, 'den,' dining room and kitchen

"I had a client yesterday who desired to have a reception room or parlor not connected with the living room. He decided later to have a sort of re tion room in connection with the hall

"When the parlor idea began to lose ground we did not make a radical change, but reduced the parlor to a small reception room, isolated from the others, where formal calls could be received. Now we make no provision for the parlor.

"In these days the reception rooms do not have to be closed only to be opened on the occasion of the visit of the family minister or the physician."

There may be many who will regret the passing of the old fashloned country parlor, with all its memories of vis itors, courtship and occasions which left impressions which have not been eradicated by the strenuous age of to day.

TRIAL BY ORDEAL. The Queer System That Exists In the Sinai Peninsula.

In the Sinai peninsula trial by ordeal is still practiced. In all criminal cases where no witnesses are forthcoming the judge, "el mabashaa," tests the suspected person by fire, by water or by dream. In the first the judge places an iron pan in the fire until it is redhot and gives it to the accused to touch three times with his tongue, If marks of burning are shown on the tongue the accused is pronounced guilty. The theory apparently is that if he is not guilty the moisture on the tongue prevents it from being burnt; if guilty his tongue would dry up from fear of being discovered. The test by water is described as follows: "The 'mabashaa' sits with the accused and the spectators in a circle with a copper jug full of water placed in the center. This jug is then made to appear to move round the circle by neans of witchcraft or hypnotism. If the jug returns back to the judge the accused is pronounced not guilty, but if the jug stops opposite the accused he is pronounced guilty."

This description is rather wanting in detail, and it is difficult to know how a jug which only appears to move can be a trustworthy index. In the test by dream the "mabashaa" sleeps and sees in a dream if the accused is guilty or
