

CONSTANT PAIN AFTER EATING

The Tortures of Dyspepsia
Corrected by "Fruit-a-lives"

ST. MARTIN'S, N.B.
"For two years, I suffered tortures from Severe Dyspepsia. I had constant pains after eating; pains down the sides and back; and horrible bitter stuff often came up in my mouth.
I tried doctors, but they did not help me. But as soon as I started taking 'Fruit-a-lives', I began to improve and this medicine, made of fruit juices, relieved me when everything else failed."

said, the mare was a bit short of work for a race. She ran a good race, but—she didn't win. Young Dane turned to me as the number went up. (I was in the box with the party.)

"Rather bad judgment that, eh? Starting her in a sprint?"

"I did it to oblige Miss Leland," I said shortly.

"And she'll win next time, won't she, Mr. Kernan?" asked Miss Leland.

"I expect her to," I replied.

"And we'll all bet on her," said the girl. "And—I'll not ask you to enter her again—to oblige me."

"Thanks," I said dryly.

United States, the Orient and Australia. There is a wireless telegraph station on Gonzales Hill which can communicate with vessels 250 to 500 miles and over.

Within a short distance around Victoria, including North and South Saanich, there is considerable good land, suitable for poultry raising, dairying, fruit growing and market gardening. On the E. & N. Railway are the famous Cowichan and Comox valleys, where oats, peas, potatoes and hay are profitably cultivated, and hogs, sheep and lambs are raised in considerable quantities.

The B. C. Electric Railway, Limited, has a complete street railway service about 42 miles in extent, connecting up Esquimalt and the naval station on the west, Oak Bay on the east, and also by interurban line (some 22 miles in length), giving rapid service to the municipalities, summer resorts and villages on the Saanich Peninsula.

Thus it will be seen that the greater part of Vancouver Island is directly connected up with the city and port of Victoria as the distributing centre of an island of 16,000 square miles in area, which occupies a most conspicuous position both geographically and strategically on the map of western Canada. This area is one of infinite and undeveloped wealth: its forests, coal mines, mineral deposits and fisheries all accessible from a lengthy coast line, or by rail, open up immense possibilities for enterprise and the investment of capital.

Inquiries are frequently made from harbor commissioners and port authorities from British dominions, European ports and the United States as to the trade of the port and the facilities afforded in the harbor of Victoria for handling vessels and their cargoes. These inquiries have been met by the secretary and copies of recent reports forwarded to inquirers, and about 2,000 copies of the booklet, "The Harbor and City of Victoria," have been circulated in leading ports and shipping centres in the world during the year.
