OUR LAST ENEMY SHALL BE DESTROYED-DEATH."

Thos art gone to the grave! but we will not deplore thee,
Though sorrows and darkness encompass the tomb:
Thy Saviour has passed through its portals before thee,
And the lamp of his love is thy guide through the gloom!

Thou art gone to the grave; we no longer behold thee, Nor trend the rough paths of the world by thy side; But the wide arms of mercy are spread to enfold thee, And sinners may die, for the sinless has died!

Thou art gone to the grave! and its mansion forsaking, Perhaps thy weak spirit in fear lingered long; But the wild rays of Paradise beamed on thee waking, And the sound which thou heard'st was the scraphim's song!

Then art gone to the grave! but we will not deplore thee,
Whose GoD was still with thee, thy guardian and guide;
He gave thee, he took thee, and he will restore thee,
And death has no sting, for the Saviour has died!

A FEMALE CAPTAIN.—A late number of the Glasgow Post give the following account of a feminine ship Captain who has for many years commanded one of her father's ships sailing for many years commanded one of her father's ships sailing from, the Clyde:-

"A fleet of ships was lately wind-bound in Lambrash Bay, and among them." says the Post "was the good Cloctus, of Saltcoats, which for more than 20 years has been commanded by a heroic and ciever young lady, Miss Betsy Miller, daughter of that town. He was concerned with several vessels in both the American and coasting trade. Miss Betsy, before she went to sea, acted as "ship husband" to her father, and secing how the captains in many cases behaved, her romantic and adventurous spirit impelled her go to sea herself. Her father gratified her caprice, and gave her the command of the Cloctus, which she ho ds to the precent day, and she has weathered the storms of the deep, when many commanders of the other sex have been driven to pieces on the rocks. Her position and attitudes on the quarter deck in a gale are often spoken of, and would do credit to an Admiral. We must not omit to state that during the long period of this singular young lady's dewould do credit to an Admiral. We must not omit to state that during the long period of this singular young lady's deversified voyaging, no seaman of her crew, or officer under her command, could spack otherwise of her than with the greatest respect. The Clocius is well known in the ports of Belfast, Dublin, Cork, &c. She has often been driven into this loch, and is familiarly known by the rude Highland boatmen as the chip with the "ahe captain."

THE REWARD OF DILIGENCE.—"Seest thou a man diligent THE REWARD OF DILIGENCE.—"Seest thou a man diligent in his business?" says Solomon, "he shall stand before kings." We have a striking illustration of his aphforism in the life of Dr. Franklin, who, quoting the sentence himself, adds, "This is true; I have stood in the presence of five kings, and once had the honour of dining with one." All in consequence of his having been "diligent in business" from his earliest years. What a lesson is this for our youth, and for us all!

"I hold it to be a fact," says Paschal, "that if all persons thew what they said of each other, there would not be four friends in the world.—This is evident from the disputes to which indirect remarks, passing from one to another, give

A devotee to mammon once received a lesson from an humble follower, who did not seem to pay to him, the possessor of the purse, sufficient homsge, and said, "De you know, Sir, that I am worth a hundred thousand pounds?" 'Yes.' said the irritated, but not broken-spirited respondent, "I de; and I know that it is all that you are worth.

THE YOUNG WOMAN'S INFLUENCE.—The character of the young men of a community depends much on that of the young women. If the later are cuitivated, intelligent, accomplished, the young men will feel the requirement that they themselves should be apright, and gentlemanly, and refined; but if their female friends are frivolous and silly, the young men will be found dissipated and worthless. But remember, always, that a sister is but the guardian of a brother's integrity. She is the surest inculcator of faith in female purity and worth. As a daughter, she is the true light of home. The pride of the father oftenest centres in his sons, but his affection is expended on his daughters. She should, therefore, be the sun and centre of all.

Copy of a Letter from Mr. R. W. Kirkus, Chemist, 7 Prescot Street, Liverpool, dated 6th June, 1851. Street, Liverpool, dated 6th June, 1851.

To Professor Holloway;
Sir,—Your Pills and Oliment have stood the highest on our sale list of Proprietary Medicines for some years. A customer, to whom I can refer for any enquiries, desires me to let you know the particulars of her case. She had been troubled for years with a disordered liver, and had digestion. On the last occasion, however, the virulence of the attack was so naturning, and the inflammation set in so serverly, that doubts were entertained of her not I ving table to bear up under it; fortunately she was induced to try your Pills, and she informs me that after the first, and each surceeding dose, she had great relief She continued to take them, and although she used only three Boxes, she is now in the enjoyment of perfect health. I could have gent you minum more cases, but the above, from the severity of the attack, and the speedy cure, I think, speaks much in favor of your astonishing Pills.

From Messrs. Thee & Son, Proprietors of the Lynn Advertiser, who can rouch for the following statement.—August 2, 1851.

To Professor Holloway.

Sir,—I desire to hear testimony to the good effects of Holloway's Pills. For some years I suffered severely from a pain and tightness in the stomach, which was also accompanied by a abortness of herath, that prevented me from walking about. I am 84 years of age, and motwith-standing my advanced state of life, these Pills have ro telieved me, that I am desirous that others should be made acquainted with their virtues. I am now rendered, by their means, comparatively active, and can take exercise without inconvenience or pain, which I could not do before.
