GENTLEMEN.—Our shelves are now replete with the choicest goods that the West of England can produce. All parts of Old England are famed for the excellence of their goods, but more especially the West, and, as regards that undecidable "thing" called style we know how, and can give full expression to that elusive quality. We please both young and old. You can have your choice of either English or American cut. Personal supervision given each order. Give us a trial and we have a customer. Thirty years experience in the tailoring line.

The Evening Chit-Chat
 By RUTH CAMERON

Does your daily work exhaust you? Do you feel absolutely worn out, mind and body, and maybe soul, when you crawl into bed at night? Do you wonder how you can hold out to the end of the week and when Sunday comes wonder if you can get through another week? No, this is not a patent medicine advertisement, however much it may sound that way.

It is simply a suggestion that any woman who is doing more than she normally should and for whom it is impossible to take the big rests that she needs—and it's terrible how many come under that category—should make sure that she is taking all the little rests along the way that she possibly can.

What do I mean? Well, for one thing, how do you act in a train or car? Do you sit strenuously upright with every nerve aquiver, and every muscle tense, and every brain cell intent on the tasks that you are about to do or have just been doing, or do you try to relax your mind and body as much as possible and get all the rest you can out of these unoccupied moments?

For another thing, when you get home from your work at night, before you take up the activities of the evening, do you lie down and completely relax for a few moments? You ought to, you know. And, if possible, before you eat.

Absolutely nothing is so bad for the stomach as eating when tired. If every business man and woman who came home tired out would lie down and rest for fifteen or twenty minutes before eating, half the indigestion specialists in the country would have to go out of business.

For another thing, do you make full use of the soothing, restful effect of hot water? It is really marvelous how much of the tiredness and nervousness of the day, along with its grime, can be bathed away by five or ten minutes spent in having one's face in steaming hot water.

And do you also realize how much invigoration, how much strength to face the duties of the day, can be squeezed out of a few spongesful of cold water? To take a sponge bath you must steal perhaps ten minutes from your sleeping hours. It has been my experience, and that of every one else whom I ever knew who had the sponge bath habit, that if you had to steal five times that amount it would still be worth while in added strength and energy.

I do not believe that every one has the vitality necessary to benefit from a cold plunge, but I do think any one is the better for at least a cool sponge bath every morning.

And now, when the warm weather is coming on, is such a splendid time to begin.

Gypsy Smith, the great evangelist, once said:

"A fence on the edge of a precipice is better than a hospital at the bottom."

It is foolish, of course, to live so near this precipice of overwork or breakdown, but since there are so many of us who somehow seem to have to, isn't it better on the whole to build the fence of little rests and little helps, than to make use of the "hospital at the bottom"?

STOMACH LIVER LUNGS

Each of the chief organs of the body is a link in the Chain of Life. A chain is no stronger than its weakest link, the body no stronger than its weakest organ. If there is weakness of stomach, liver or lungs, there is a weak link in the chain of life which may snap at any time. Often this so-called "weakness" is caused by lack of nutrition, the result of weakness or disease of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. Diseases and weaknesses of the stomach and its allied organs are cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. When the weak or diseased stomach is cured, diseases of other organs which seem remote from the stomach but which have their origin in a diseased condition of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, are cured also.

The strong man has a strong stomach. Take the above recommended "Discovery" and you may have a strong stomach and a strong body.

Given away.—Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Advice, new revised Edition, is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 50 stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

HOUSEHOLD NOTES.

Ammonia and water will remove red ink stains.

One cake of compressed yeast is equal to a cupful of liquid yeast.

Borax wet with peroxide of hydrogen will often remove black ink stains.

Nickle may be kept bright by being rubbed with wool saturated in ammonia.

A few shreds of candied orange peel will give a delicious flavor to a bread pudding.

Sweet pickles chopped and spread between sliced bread makes appetizing sandwiches.

All lard to fry fritters and doughnuts must be sizzling hot before putting in the batter.

A few drops of lemon juice added to eggs when they are being scrambled improves the dish.

Alcohol and whiting makes a good silver polish, excellent also for polishing plate glass mirrors.

Black lead mixed with vinegar will be found to give a specially good polish to the kitchen stove.

A piece of flannel dampened with spirits of camphor will remove stains from mirrors or window glass.

A weak solution of turpentine poured down the water pipe once a week will drive the water bugs away.

A clean flour sack spread on the table and well floured is an excellent substitute for a bread board.

There is nothing better to use under carpets than old newspapers, as moths do not like printers' ink.

Blood stains can generally be removed by soaking in cold water and salt. Follow with soap and water.

A large round bottle will serve very well as a rolling pin and is more hygienic than the wooden pin.

A good vegetable grater can be made from a tin pail by driving many holes through it with a nail.

If corn meal mush does not brown nicely when it is fried, try brushing over each slice with the white of an egg.

To remove a fresh mildew stain, wet in strong suds, cover with a paste of salt and soap, and put in the sun.

It is wiser both for economy and comfort to wear alternately two pairs of shoes instead of one pair every day.

Rub over new tinware with lard and thoroughly heat it in the oven before using it, and thus protect it from rust.

An easily made sandwich is composed of finely chopped sardines covered with salad leaves and moistened with the box oil.

Mr. Lloyd-George is famous of course, for his brilliant repartee and biting sarcasm. "I am here—" he remarked once at a political meeting, but before he had time to finish the sentence, a noisy interrupter had chimed in: "And so am I!"

But the retort was so quick as it was overwhelming. "Yes—but you are not all there!"

"What do our opponents really want?" he inquired in a recent speech. In the momentary pause that followed the question there came a voice husky from the effects of alcohol. "What I want is a change of Government."

"No, no," was the ready reply, "what you really want is a change of drink."—M. A. P.

Publish My Letter The World Over

The Words of Harold P. Bushby Who Was Premantly Cured of Chronic Lumbago by "Nerviline."

"Three years ago I discovered that a man subject to lumbago might just as well be dead as a live." These words open the sincere, straightforward letter of H. P. Bushby, a well-known man in the plumbing and tin-smithing business in Portland.

"One attack came after another, and lumbago got to be a chronic thing with me. I could scarcely get in a day's work before that knifing, cruel pain would attack my back. I used a gallon of liniments; not one of them seemed penetrating enough to get at the core of the pain. I read in The Montreal Witness about Nerviline, and got five bottles. It is a wonderful medicine—I could feel its soothing pain-relieving action every time it was applied. When I got the disease under control with Nerviline, I built up my strength and fortified my blood by taking Ferruzone at meals. This treatment cured me permanently, and I urge everyone to give up the thick, white, oily liniments they are using, and try an up-to-date, penetrating, pain-destroyer like Nerviline.

"Please publish my letter the world over. I want all to hear of Nerviline."

Don't be cajoled into receiving anything from your dealer but "Nerviline." Large bottles 25c.; five for $1.00. Sold everywhere or The Carrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

Plans for beautifying Montreal involve an outlay of $11,000,000.

Professor E. Metchnikoff, of Paris, has announced the discovery of a vaccine for typhoid.

The advance reservation of seats for the Johnson-Jeffries fight had reached $160,000 on the 27th March.

The whaler Sebastian reached British Columbia on March 23, after a passage of ninety-five days from St. John's.

The Pension Bill of the United States was passed on March 24. It carries appropriations aggregating $156,000,000.

"The Lord looks after children, drunken men and the United States," said President Taft at the University dinner in New York recently.

Thirty-five hundred dollars was taken recently from the safe of the United States gunboat Castine. Wonder they hadn't taken the gunboat.

Halley's comet appears to be still attracting considerable attention. There are records of it having been observed at twenty-nine different periods. It is mentioned in Chinese history as far back as 240 B.C.

The story of the deluge written on a tablet of clay and in a language that no tongue has spoken for three thousand years, is the discovery of a Pennsylvania Professor. He also states that his discovery tallies with the Bible story even in its minutest details.

A hen owned by a party in Toronto, Ontario, on March 26th laid an egg weighing a quarter of a pound. The egg was six and a half inches round and was eight inches the other. This was something like an egg, and the hen must have had a good conception of its duties (the day being Easter Saturday).

Great Britain still leads the world in commerce. According to a statement recently made by Mr. Lloyd-George in reply to some strictures by the Rt. Hon. Austen Chamberlain, the Chancellor said: "Our export of manufactured goods were 83,000,000 above Germany's; we are 296,000,000 above France; we are 118,000,000 above the United States; 156,000,000, so that our exports are greater than France and the United States put together."

Mrs. Russell Sage some time ago made an offer to the American Bible Society to donate $500,000 to its funds if it could raise an equal amount, and a short time ago the officials were able to announce that they had accomplished their task, and that subscriptions to the amount required to win Mrs. Sage's half million had been received, so that they were able to make the million dollar fund an Easter offering to the world.
