"God of the hving, ..." Unveiled the whole creation lies. All couls are thine; we must not say That those are dead who pass away. From this our world of fiesh set free, We know them dying unto thee." The dedicatory prayer was next Dr. C. A. divines inter the set in the trenches, and who gave their lives for the flag. "And why are we erecting our monuments of stone throughout this land To make people, and particu-larly the young people ask questions. To inspire in the minds and hearts

The dedicatory prayer was next offered by Mr. Lench. Dr. C. A. Forbes then proceeded to unveil the of the coming generations the spirit Forfies then proceeded to unveit the monument. This was done in one brief emphatic sentence. He said: "In memory of those who fell and with respect and admiration for those who having gone, did better than the best, we unveil this monument." Next followed the announcement of the names of the fallen herces, as they appear upon the three sides of the monument: of courage and chivalry. monuments are educational institutions, that will inspire in the youth that are coming up, the grit they will require if Britain should get into trouble again. "Is not ancient history written in stone People don't want their great deeds to be forgotten. Hence the deeds to be forgotten. Hence the Pyramids, and the Sphinx. Samuel erected a stone and called it Eben-ezer—'Hitherto hath the Lord helped us.' Moses erected a stone to com-memorate the defeat of the Amalek-ites, and called it Jehovah-Nissi And Gideon erected a stone and called it Jehovah-Shalom—'The Lord send peace.' The most interesting of all were the twelve stones pitched in Gilgal. The Israelites crossed over Jordan dry-shod. Twelve representa-tives came up out of Jordan, each bearing a stone upon his shoulder. Why take the stones cut of the river bed and pitch them in Gilgal? To make it the medium of interrogation. to make the children ask questions.

tion of unveiling and dedicating the maxument. The site, overlooking the town, is probably the best that could be made. At the request of the committee of management, Dr. C. A. Forbes and Rev. Charles Lench, Grand Lodge officers, were requested to visit Trinity for the purpose of unveiling and dedicating the monn-ment. It was a splendid day for the occasion, and the deputation, which was a little late, was taken, in quick time by Mr. Ericksen's auto which was in waiting at the station. The men who had been, and seen, and conquered, and had returned, were in good form, and presented a splendid appearance, and had not forgotten their drill and military decorum. tures of the nation's life; the self-sacrifice and self-denial of the middle ages; the repositories of the dust of the good and great; the monuments, statues, tablets, and medallions that tell of the men who built up the Em-pire. Step into St. Paul's. There is the monumental statue of Admiral Bodney, the Newfoundland fisher-men's friend; there stands Admiral Nelson, the hero of Trafalgar; and there is Wellington the warrior of Waterloo; and yonder is the 'monu-ment of General Gordon. His ashes are not there but his monument is, and every day a grateful people lay wreaths upon it. Britain in the city squares, in the prominent places of her towns and villages, honors in stone her great men, but never for-gats her soldiers and sallors. Her epoch-making kings, her statesmen. scientists, explorers, inventors, and divines minst not crowd out the lads that fought and died in the trenches, and who gave their lives for the flag.

Tonic

Health and Happiness

The condition of the mind depends on the condition of the body, and the condition of the latter depends on the kind and quality of the medicine used. Brick's Tasteless is far superior to any other tonic for increasing weight and restoring one back to perfect health. Try a bottle,

a bottle

When you feel "draggy", "listless", "lazy", not really sick, but far from well-what you need is a new supply of rich-red blood. Brick's Tasteless helps the system and aids nature. It is a safe medicine that makes good blood, sound digestion and builds up the system.

Don't blame him, he can't help it;

he's had a headache for a week. But we could fix him right away. Brick's

Tasteless has cured thousands of cases. It has never yet failed. Try
