New Publicity Commissioner Pays Visit to

Calgary

Joseph T. Tracy, the new publicity commissioner of Lethbridge, arrived in Calgary for the first time since his appointment yesterday. Mr. Tracey, who is at the King George, said last evening that he was simply here to look around, get into touch with the mayor and members of the council and officials of the Canadian Pacific failway. Though barely a month in Lethbridge, Mr. Tracy is already making things hum in the southern city, and reports that all things are looking bright there. He comes from Saganaw, Mich, where he had a great record for publicity work. He is quite new to Alberta, though he has been in the other western provinces before; but he says that the problems and the development here are just the same as essence.

The $4 did not come, however. So four days later Mr. Rygh visited Callagary, and looking at the address given him by the chauffeur, went to the offices of Mr. Lent.

"The man represented himself as Mr. Lent, and had a woman in the car with him," said Rygh, in explanation.

The rapid development of Lethbridge he states, is only a matter of time and with the great increase in mixed farming, the district is sure to prosper greatly. This year the increase in acreage under cultivation is greatly increased, and the amount of land in which alfalfa is being grown is increased by 100 ner cent over last year. In which alfalfa is being grown is assed by 100 per cent over last year. In the fine qualities of Lethbridge its nourishing powers, it is expectiat good results will accrue in the lest degree from the actions of the ple of the district of Lethbridge. Tracy will return immediately, is merely here for the purpose of the country and getting introduced to the city of Calgary.

T'S A GREAT tale of economy we have to tell today and news of more than ordinary importance to ladies in every corner of the city—and beyond its boundaries—for it involves almost our entire stock of ladies', misses' and juniors' fashionable cloth coats at from $29.00 to $47.50.

Individuality and exclusiveness of style are apparent in these fashionable garments, each and every model being a reproduction of some noted designer, from abroad, modified by the foremost New York makers. Prevailing lengths are seven-eighths, full and three-quarter length Johnny coats, many shown in unusually attractive fabrics and colors which are the reigning fashion this season. In trimmings, many have wonderful hand embroideries in Oriental shades, while a great many are lined and have lapels faced with beautiful Royal or far eastern colorings, in rich silk or satin, that is absolutely novel for the new season's wear.

There are 75 garments involved in this sale, including a choice of styles and fabrics to satisfy the most diversified tastes. Space forbids individual description here. See them early today; all sizes in women's, misses' and juniors'. Regular $29.00 to $47.50. Sale price
