THE CHINESE REBELLION-

> GREAT SLAUGHTER. The city of Kuang Yang, in Honan province, has been captured and its inhabitants massacred by a band formin Southern China.

On Aug. 27 the rebels scaled the walls of Kuang Yang with the intention of capturing the provincial prison and releasing three of their members, there imprisoned. One band tore down the murderers, thieves and imprisoned debtors. Another gang attacked the central part of the city, first murdering the magistrate, who had sent three bandits to prison. His entire family, numbering 32, including servants, were killed. The entire night was spent in slaying and plundering. All mandarins ry was in a cigar box, which at one time contained Flore de Aosta cigars, killed and injured exceeded 14,000. The and every civil and military officer in insurgents numbered 15,000 men, half of them armed. Their avowed object is to destroy the existing government in Southern China. The government is greatly alarmed, but has no adequate means of suppressing the insurrection.

> But it doesn't make very much difference whether Mr. Warman wrote "Sweet Marie" or not, and the general public at this writing wouldn't feel very grateful towards him, anyway, if did. The fact remains, nevertheless, that Cy Warman is the most interesting character of all the strangers who are in Buffalo now attending the railroad men's convention. Very few persons in Buffalo ever had the pleasure of seeing Mr. Warman until vesterday, and it is doubtful whether anyone would have picked him out as the Engineer Poet. Boiled Over a Fire Made With Money That Would Have Brought $7.500.

Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph. "When Burnside made his mud march on to Fredericksburg we men in the advance had some gay times," remarked a veteran of the civil war. "It was a long while before the Johnnies would let us cross the river, but ing part of a rebel army which is devastating Honan and Kuang provinces, fellows who had been shooting at us for the past three hours get right up and dust for safer quarters. The infantry soon followed us and took up their position along the river toward Falmouth, while we skirmished through the town. When we came to prison, setting free several hundred the Planters' Hotel, we just walked in and took possession. Everybody had deserted the place, and we did just as we pleased. In going through one of the rooms I came across three bundles of Confederate notes. Each bundle was labeled to contain $5,000, and as I held them aloft. I shouted to the rest of the men that we now had money to burn. They laughed, and I thrust the notes into my pocket. The Johnnies had taken or destroyed everything to eat, and as for liquor, there wasn't

"After satisfying ourselves that there was nothing further to be had in the Planters' Hotel, we sallied forth, and walked up towards the home of the mother of our country-George Washington's mother. We had had no breakfast yet, and now it was close on to noon. One of my companions had some coffee in his haversack, so I thought we might have a little coffee, if nothing else. Well, we got the coffee out, and then discovered that we had no firewood. There was some tall swearing just at that time, for the Johnnies hadn't left so much as a match behind them. "I've got it," I cried, and I handed out the three bundles of notes I had found in the Planters' Hotel. My expression was greeted by a shout from my companions, and—we had money to burn. We soon had the fire going and the coffee gooked. Need I say to and the coffee cooked.
